LOAN ANNOUNCED, BUT MATURITY AND AMOUNT WITHHELD

Expected That About $6,000,000,000 Will Be Called For, Payable in 15 or 20 Years.

INTEREST AT 4¼ PER CENT.

Subscriptions Payable in Five Installments, Last One, 30 Per Cent., on Jan. 30.

TO FEATURE $50 BONDS

Big Demand from Small Investors Expected—Bond Income Bill Sent to the President.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—All terms of the Fourth Liberty Loan except the size and the maturity were announced today by the Treasury. The amount, probably near $6,000,000,000, was decided on, but announcement was withheld.

The interest rate will be 4¼ per cent., the same as that of the Third Loan. Bonds will be dated Oct. 24, five days after the close of the subscription period, and the first interest payment will be made next April 15 and will be for the 173 days intervening. Thereafter semi-annual payments will be made Oct. 15 and April 15. On $50 bonds the first interest coupon will be worth $1.01, on $100, $2.02, and higher multiples accordingly.

Both coupon and registered bonds will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000. The $50,000 and $100,000 bonds will be registered only.

Since the latest maturity periods of the First, Second, and Third Loans were thirty, twenty-five, and ten years respectively, it was considered probable that the maturity of the Fourth Loan would be either fifteen or twenty years.

Ten per cent. of the subscription will be required as the initial payment on the Fourth Loan. Twenty per cent. will be due as installments on Nov. 21, Dec. 19, and Jan. 16, and 30 per cent. Jan. 30.

First 400,000 Bonds Printed.

Terms of the loan were communicated today to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and within a few hours 400,000 finished bonds were ready for shipment. An equal number, or even more, will be turned out daily hereafter. The bureau plans to print about 35,000,000 separate bonds for the Fourth Loan, with a larger proportion of "baby bonds" of the $50 denomination than in previous issues, in anticipation of a multitude of subscriptions from persons of small means.

This is the first time more than three installments have been arranged in addition to the payment on application for any Liberty loan. The initial payment was increased as a means of discouraging the practice of some persons in the past of subscribing without carrying out the installments.

The setting of the last installment of 30 per cent as late as January 30 was interpreted as assurance that the Fifth Liberty Loan would not be floated before late in February or possibly March.

The initial payment, although due at the time of pledging, need not be paid until October 19, the end of the subscription period and loan campaign.

The installment dates will not interfere with the practice by which many subscribers have bought bonds through banks or other agencies and paid 10 per cent. a month for approximately ten months. That arrangement, officials explained, is a transaction between the banks and its customers and the Treasury is not involved.

Secretary McAdoo will make his first Liberty Loan address tomorrow night at Carnegie Hall, New York, before a Liberty Loan rally arranged by the New York Loan Organization.

Bond Bill Sent to President.

Congress tonight completed and sent to the President the Administration bill designed to stimulate the sale of Liberty bonds by exempting from income surtax and war excess profits taxes the interest on such bonds held by individuals and corporations in amounts not in excess of $30,000 of the fourth issue and $45,000 of the first, second, and third issues. The measure also provides for regulation of foreign exchange, and authorizes an increase in the issue of War Savings Stamps from $2,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000.

A compromise today between Senate and House conferees on the question of empowering the President to prohibit any and all transactions in Government securities paved the way for final action on the measure. The President is expected to sign it tomorrow so that it will become effective before the opening of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign Saturday.

Senate and House conferees today changed the clause authorizing the President to prohibit in his discretion all transactions in Liberty bonds so that these bonds may be sold by the holders

Describes Germans as Crushed and Acting Like Automatons

PARIS, Sept. 23.—A neutral diplomat who has just passed through Germany, where he stayed a few days, declared to the Matin that the food situation in Berlin was so bad that foreign diplomats subsisted exclusively on provisions sent to them from outside the country.

The German people, crushed by recent events, seem like automatons, responding unconsciously to suggestions received, all spirit of initiative and free criticism being completely absent.

He concluded the summing up of his impressions with the following:

"Everybody wants to group together, just as before great disasters."

PROHIBITION WINS IN HOUSE, 171 TO 34

Amendment for Imports of Wine Until May 1 Beaten Despite Lansing's Plea.

'DRY' LEADERS FEAR VETO

Violation of Favored Nation Treaty Alleged in Action Taken at Kahn's Insistence.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The House today accepted the Senate prohibition amendment to the Food Stimulation bill by a vote of 171 to 34, and the nation will become dry on June 30 next and remain so during the war and until the termination of demolization if the action of Congress is approved by the President.

The Senate passed this measure containing wartime prohibition some months ago, and amended the bill extentively. All Senate amendments except prohibition were rejected today by the House, which consumed four hours' bitter debate in which all the arguments for and against prohibition were produced. Legislative action on prohibition was completed and only rejected amendments remain to be acted upon by both Houses.

Representative Julius Kahn of California led the opposition to the acceptance of prohibition and succeeded after the bill reached the House from the Committee of the Whole in defeating a committee amendment to the prohibition section which permitted the importation of wines until May next. This amendment, sponsored by the Agriculture Committee, was accepted by the Committee of the Whole because Representative Lever said that Secretary of State Lansing had requested it to comply with the favored nation treaty.

The prohibition amendment provides that the manufacture of beer, wine, &c., shall cease on May 1, and originally stipulated that the importation of stimulants should end with the approval of the act.

Treaty Violation Alleged.

It was declared that unless Spain, Portugal, France, and Italy were placed on the same basis as the United States the favored nation treaty would be violated. In the committee of the whole the House adopted the amendment to permit the importation of wines until May 1.

After the bill was reported to the House, Representative Kahn made an impassioned plea for the protection of American wine producers, saying that if they were forced to dispose of their wines in competition with foreign wines they could not do it between May 1 and June 30. The House, by a vote of 131 to 59, rejected the committee amendment.

Prohibition leaders are much distressed by this action, as they say tonight the President may veto the entire bill if it goes to him without the section demanded by Secretary Lansing to uphold the favored nation treaty.

The prohibition amendment as finally accepted by the House in the exact form passed by the Senate, reads:

After May 1, 1919, until the conclusion of the present war and thereafter until the termination of demobilization, the date of which shall be determined and proclaimed by the President of the United States, no grains, cereals, fruit or other food product shall be used in the manufacture or production of beer, wine, or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquor for beverage purposes.

After June 30, 1919, until the conclusion of the present war and thereafter until the termination of demobilization, the date of which shall be determined and proclaimed by the President of the United States, no beer, wine, or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquor shall be sold for beverage purposes except for export.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue is hereby authorized and directed to prescribe rules and regulations, subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, in regard to the manufacture and sale of distilled spirits and removal of distilled spirits held in bond after June 30, 1919, until this act shall cease to operate, for other than beverage purposes; also in regard

GERMANS GIVE UP VENDEUIL

RIVER A BIG ALLIED ASSET

Possession of West Bank Insures Against Counterattack to Relieve La Fere.

BRITISH FIGHT FORWARD

Conquer Strong Positions Northwest of St. Quentin Despite Desperate German Resistance

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY, Sept. 23, (Associated Press.)—The French now hold the west bank of the Oise for more than half the distance from La Fère to Moy. [Moy is about six miles north of La Fère.]

General Debeney's troops captured the woods north of Ly-Fontaine last evening, and his patrols went through Vendeuil to the Oise.

The Germans had evacuated Vendeuil under menace of being cornered there with their backs to the river by the French advancing toward the river in the region of Ly-Fontaine.

The French about the same time reached the quarries just north of Travecy, [two miles north of La Fère,] which completed the conquest of the west bank of the Oise in that region.

General Debeney's forces have reached the low marshy country of the valley of the Oise, which would present enormous difficulties to any troops that might attempt a crossing north of La Fère.

Debeney's troops continued to advance toward the La Fère Road, south of St. Quentin, all day yesterday. They reached the Lanbay, Capponne, and Moulin farms, and the Vendeuil forest, which is only 1,000 yards from the road and about a mile from the Oise River.

As the French draw nearer the Hindenburg line around St. Quentin, the Germans multiply their efforts to keep them from it. North of the Somme they appear to be organizing a defensive system on the line of heights which runs parallel to the Hindenburg positions from east of Holnon to Hill 123, south of Holnon, and thence through Hill 138, east of Savy Wood, to Dallon Height, on the road from Ham to St. Quentin. This line is being feverishly fortified against tanks with mine fields.

South of the Somme the French have advanced into a defense line parallel to the Hindenburg position by reaching a height northeast of Castres and the line of ridges connecting Urvillers and Cerizy and the spur that dominates Mayot from the west.

Airmen Bomb Constantinople and Drop Leaflets to Turks

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Constantinople was bombed by the British Royal Air Force Friday and Saturday, according to a bulletin issued by the Admiralty tonight. The communication reads:

"The Greeks co-operated in the bombing of Constantinople on Sept. 20 and 21 and dropped thousands of leaflets into Stamboul.

"A balloon, shot down in flames in the European operations set fire to three hangars, which were burned out."

JAPANESE CAPTURE CAPITAL OF AMUR

Blagoviestchensk and Alexievsk Taken in Converging Movement of Cavalry.

2,000 TEUTON PRISONERS

Austro-Germans Lay Down Their Arms at Kokka—Others Retreat Up the Zoya River.

LONDON, Sept. 23, (Associated Press.)—Blagoviestchensk, capital of the Siberian province of Amur, and Alexievsk have been occupied by Japanese cavalry, according to information received by the Japanese Embassy. Two thousand Austro-Germans were taken prisoner. They laid down their arms at Kokka.

The information, which was given out by the Japanese Military Attaché, is to the effect that Blagoviestchensk and Alexievsk were occupied by Japanese cavalry converging from Khabarovsk and Tsitsihar Sept. 18. Troops moving up the Amur River reached Blagoviestchensk the following day.

Kokka, where the Austro-Germans laid down their arms, is on the right bank of the Amur opposite Blagoviestchensk.

Another enemy formation has retreated to the upper reaches of the Zoya River.

TOKIO, Sept. 20, (Associated Press.)—Order has been restored in the City of Khabarovsk, according to an official statement issued at the War Office, which adds that General Yamada's detachment left that city for the west by rail on Sept. 12, to attack the enemy on the Amur River.

American and Chinese forces participated in the capture of gunboats from the Bolsheviki recently, the statement says, and are co-operating with the Japanese.

Japanese cavalry entered the City of Nerchinsk, east of Chita, on Sept. 10, it is announced.

HARBIN, Sept. 19, (Associated Press.)—A proclamation has been issued by the Japanese saying that only because of its friendly feeling for Russia and not a desire to gain Japan wishes to help restore order here. The proclamation lays emphasis on the assertion that any one, regardless of nationality, causing disorders will be severely punished.

It is believed that the proclamation was issued because the population declined to accept notes carried by Japanese troops instead of Russian money.

HARA IN LINE FOR PREMIER.

Washington Observers Think Japanese Will Remain in Siberia.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The fall of the Japanese Cabinet is not expected to affect the plans of the United States and Japan regarding the dispatch of the American and Japanese expeditionary forces to Siberia. While high officials would not comment on the political situation in Japan, it was made clear that developments there were not expected to affect the Siberian campaign.

The two leading candidates for the Japanese Premiership in succession to Count Terauchi, whose Ministry has fallen, are K. Hara, leader of the Seiyuki, or majority political party, and Viscount Hirata, who represents the so-called bureaucratic faction.

Hara is looked upon here as the logical candidate for the post by reason of his control of the majority in the Diet, but it was pointed out today that the Japanese Government, unlike that of several Occidental powers, was not responsible to Parliament and that it was in contradiction to the demands of the political reformers of the nation that the Emperor appointed Terauchi Premier several years ago after the resignation of Premier Okuma.

The Seiyuki Party has been strongly opposed to intervention by Japan in Siberia. Some of the military leaders favored extensive operations in Siberia, but the Diet opposed any intervention and the undertaking did not have popular support in Japan.

Foes Again Try to Kill Soviet Leaders and New Massacres Are Threatened

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 23.—Renewed attempts have been made to assassinate members of the Soviet Government in Russia.

As a result there will be fresh measures in reprisal, says a Moscow dispatch, which tells of the attempt.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Quickly on the heels of this Government's appeal to the allied and neutral nations to take some action in condemnation of the massed terrorism prevailing in Bolshevist parts of Russia, the State Department has received additional information showing that conditions there are appalling.

"All persons coming out of Russia," said the department in an authorized statement today, based on this information, "report the existence of appalling conditions.

"Slaughter of representative people and former officers is taking place. These are shot without trial, and the only charge offered is that of being 'dangerous to the Soviet.' One detail is that officers are shot at night in the cellars, guns being muffled by silencers."

The latest reports to the State Department indicate that the British and French Consuls-General in Moscow are held under arrest in their houses. The American Consul General Poole is at large, however, and permitted to visit his colleagues, in whose behalf he had been trying to intercede.

Mr. Poole is being generally praised for his courageous and vigorous action in remaining behind in face of the dangers of the situation.

25,000 TAKEN BY ALLENBY

COUNTRY LOST TO MOSLEMS

British and Indian Forces Are Busily Chasing the Scattered Foe.

HAIFA MAY BE NEW BASE

Whole Railroad System in Southern Syria Will Be Under Allied Control.

LONDON, Sept. 23, (Associated Press.)—Twenty-five thousand Turkish prisoners and 260 guns had been counted up to last evening by General Allenby's forces pushing northward through Palestine, according to an official statement issued today by the War Office.

Unofficial reports from the Palestine front this afternoon indicate that none of the Turkish force of at least 40,000 men trapped through the seizure of the last of the passages of the Jordan can possibly get away. Virtually the entire Turkish force is, or will be, accounted for in killed, wounded, and prisoners. Hundreds of stragglers are being found wandering about in the mountainous country aimlessly, without a leader or a purpose.

The Seventh and Eighth Turkish Armies have virtually ceased to exist. The entire transport of these two armies was captured.

Appended is the official statement:

Having seized the passages of the Jordan at Jisred-Dameer on the morning of Sept. 22, the last avenue of escape open to the enemy west of the river was closed by our troops.

The Seventh and Eighth Turkish Armies have virtually ceased to exist. Their entire transport is in our hands.

By 8 P. M. on the 22nd 25,000 prisoners and 260 guns had been counted. Many prisoners and much material remain to be enumerated.

The Turks had seven divisions south of Nazareth and west of the Jordan, but the exact total cannot be determined owing to the weakness of some of the Turkish divisions, the totals of the different units varying. The total of 25,000 prisoners reported, however, is believed to be far less than the final count will show, as at last reports prisoners were still being brought in.

The clean-up effected by General Allenby, which is pointed to here as the quickest and most complete of the entire war, is counted as having definitely deprived the Turks of Palestine. In addition, besides the personnel of their army, the defeat has cost them an immense amount of war material.

So far as is known, the Turks on this front had only four airplanes, and these four have been captured.

The victory is hailed here as a model in conception and execution, General Allenby's consummate use of cavalry being especially praised by the military critics. It is expected that he will establish a base at Haifa, whence the railway runs to Beisan and Damascus. Thus the whole Turkish railway system in Southern Syria is controlled by the Anglo-French forces in Palestine.

The Turkish disaster, it is pointed out, is bound to have the most profound reaction in Constantinople and Sofia and likewise to compromise the situation of the Turks in Mesopotamia. It seems probable also that it will terminate the Turkish adventures in Persia and the Caucasus.

The Daily Telegraph, which declares the existence of the Ottoman Empire is imperilled by one of the masterstrokes of the war, points out that General Allenby struck unexpectedly early, and has all the campaigning season still before him. The Morning Post urges that a diplomatic effort be made to detach Turkey from the Central Powers.

TO CELEBRATE TURK DEFEAT.

Daniels May Speak at Demonstration at Carnegie Hall.

The liberation of Palestine by the British forces will be celebrated in New York by a demonstration at Carnegie Hall next Sunday night, at which Secretary of the Navy Daniels is expected to speak, it was announced yesterday by the Zionist Council of Greater New York.

Significance is added to the celebration, the council says, by the fact that the Jewish legion, probably including the American contingent, is actively participating in the Palestine drive, which so far has liberated all of Samaria and parts of lower Galilee. The capture of Efar Saba has brought relief to 3,000 starving Jewish refugees who fled before the advancing Turks to that place.

British gains of fifteen miles further north will result in the liberation of all the Jewish colonies in Palestine with the exception of the Galilee east of Lake Kinneareth, the statement adds.

Bulgaria, Replying to Austria, Accepts Wilson's Views on Settlement of Balkan Conflicts

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 23.—Bulgaria's reply to the Austrian peace note says among other things:

"This initiative corresponds entirely with the aspirations of the Bulgarian Government and people.

"The Bulgarian Government hasten to express their readiness to send delegates to such a conference.

"We seek neither conquests nor the establishment of hegemony over our neighbors."

The note concludes with anexpression of sympathy with President Wilson's views on the settlement of Balkan conflicts in accordance with the rights of nationalities.

Refusal "Justified," As Teuton Weakness Is Known, Says Essen Organ.

GENEVA, Sept. 23.—Deploring the failure of the Austrian peace proposals, the Rhenish Westphalian Gazette of Essen says:

"The motives for the note from Austria are multiple, but the refusal is unanimous. The allied war cry is not oneof boasting or bluff, but comes from the heart. We must recognize this fact, and also that it is justified, as the enemy must know our serious position while all offers of peace come from us."

GEN. VON SANDERS ABANDONED ARMY

German Generalissimo in Palestine Fled from Nazareth as British Approached.

GREAT FEATS BY CAVALRY

By W. T. MASSEY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN PALESTINE, Sept. 22.—General Allenby has crushed the Turkish 7th and 8th Armies. His cavalry closed every exit except one, which cannot be reached by many of the enemy, and in a wide encircling movement horsemen brilliantly broke down all attempts to put up delaying rearguard fights.

The cavalry captured Nazareth, Nablus, Beisan, and Jenin, had one charge on the Plain of Armageddon and another at Jenin, have secured an enormous quantity of valuable booty, and we have not heard the last of their efforts. Once the infantry had broken through the southern defenses, the cavalry had great opportunities. While the infantry has continued to display superb skill and endurance in driving the enemy from the hills between the Plain of Sharon and the Judean plateau, the cavalry movements, perfectly timed, have been a masterly success. Their unfailing regularity in fulfilling the plans laid down by the staff suggests that they were regulated by a clock.

British Yeomanry, Australian Light Horse, and Indian cavalry, all in magnificent condition and in a high state of training, have performed a feat almost without parallel in this war. Critics who declared that the day of the cavalry was over must hide their heads. The utter defeat of the Turkish Palestine army would not have been possible but for Allenby's bold use of cavalry.

The whole country I have passed through is littered with abandoned and bombed transports, ammunition depots, motors, lorries, and a large amount of rolling stock. Nablus, the Chechem of the Bible, was taken this afternoon by Australian Light Horse and French mounted troops. The latter passed into the town first. We had previously occupied Messudies and Samaria by the infantry, who also are now in Nablus.

Irish, Welsh, and Indian troops operating in appallingly difficult country between the Nablus road and Jordan Valley are harassing the remnant of the enemy's forces, striving to get away by the Jisr-ed-Daneer Ford to the east of the Jordan road, there to be incessantly bombed. Nearly ten tons have been dropped from low altitudes and 56,000 rounds have been fired from machine guns. The condition of the road tells of the effectiveness of the air work.

Cavalry Dash Up the Coast.

Directly Londoners and Indian infantry had carried three lines of trenches on the seacoast early on Thursday, the yeomanry and Indian cavalry moved up the shore at a gallop, crossed Nahr Falik, swept north, and got over the Nahr Iskanderan, collecting 750 prisoners on the way. After sundown they advanced north-

BURIAN FORECASTS NEW PEACE MOVE

Rejection of Recent Note Will Not Prevent Another Effort Soon, He Says.

EXPECTED INITIAL FAILURE

Speaks of His First Offer as Clearing the Way, and Says He Will Take Further Steps.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 23, (Associated Press.)—In an interview with Theodor Wolff in the Berlin Tageblatt, Baron Burian, Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, said he was not surprised at the reception of his peace note; naturally he did not suppose that the Entente would straightway declare readiness to enter into peace negotiations.

"In a situation like the present," continued the Minister, "it is sometimes necessary to clarify things by means of reagents. The note was such a reagent. It has already produced remarkable phenomena, and will do so still more in the near future.

"Very extraordinary, for instance, was the remarkable rapidity of President Wilson's reply. Clearly President Wilson wanted to anticipate the other Entente Governments. He always had the ambition to be a world arbiter, and has not abandoned that ambition."

Baron Burian said President Wilson had entertained that ambition since the United States entered the war as a result of the U-boat warfare; hence he had set out his fourteen points, and, in addition, twice four; that is, altogether, twenty-two, which were to be authoritative for the new arrangement of the world.

"I don't suggest that he is insincere," said the Foreign Minister, "but one could instance many cases where America herself has offended against the principles he formulates, for example, the treatment of Colombia and the seizure of Texas. But, after all, large regions were thereby opened to civilization. I will only say that it does not do to be always contrasting our actions with the views expressed by President Wilson's points."

Baron Burian attributed President Wilson's haste in replying to his desire to prevent an agreement between Great Britain and France, and declared that it would serve no purpose to reply to speeches like Mr. Balfour's and Premier Clemenceau's.

With regard to the date of dispatching the note he said:

"There was complete agreement between us and Germany. There were certain divergences of opinion, but they did not concern the date of dispatch. We do not want to reproach ourselves later with having neglected anything. The note has had the subsidiary effect of dragging into the light of day the situation in the opposition camp, and its non-success will not prevent me from further following the road entered soon. We shall take the next step when the time seems suitable, and always in the fullest accord with our allies."

ENEMY ARMIES SUNDERED

German Division Is Cut Off and Retreats—Prilep-Gradsko Railway Cut.

LONDON, Sept. 23. — Advancing northward on a front of more than ninety miles, the allied armies in Macedonia, overcoming all resistance, notwithstanding the reinforcements of Germans and Bulgars rushed down in a frantic effort to check them, have broken through the mountain zone that was called impregnable by the German-Bulgar General Staff and are moving swiftly forward on the plains, where is spread the vital railroad system of Southern Serbia.

On the left wing or western extremity of the line engaged the Italians are advancing on the enemy base of Prilep, north of Monastir, and news dispatches say that the 1st Bulgarian Army in this region has been cut off from communication with the 2d Army in the Doiran section.

Serbian, French, and Greek forces in the centre have crossed the Drenska mountain range and cut the German-built railroad from Prilep to Gradsko, where it joins the main line from Saloniki to Uskub. This was the principal line of communication on this front of the German-Bulgar forces, and the 11th German Division is reported to have been cut off from the main Bulgarian army and to be retreating in disorder. The possibility of the capture of large masses of enemy troops in this region is considered good.

In this area the enemy is retreating in great haste, and the Allies have reached the Vardar from Grodsko to Demirkapu. Some elements have crossed the river.

Entente allied cavalry yesterday was three miles from the Bulgarian frontier in the neighborhood of Strumitza station, [not to be confounded with the fortress of Strumitza, in Bulgaria proper.]

Under pressure of the British and Greek forces operating on the right in the region of Lake Doiran, and imperiled by the advance of the allied forces on the northwest, the enemy has evacuated the whole line from Doiran to the Vardar.

The Evening Standard today says that it learns that the Serbians have captured between 9,000 and 10,000 prisoners and 120 guns.

Aviators Chase Fleeing Foe.

Tonight's bulletin of the French War Office describes the northward rush of the Allies. It says, under date of yesterday:

The success achieved by the Allies in Macedonia is taking the character of a great victory. The French and Serbian armies are making rapid progress in the centre toward the middle Vardar Valley, and are advancing on the whole front of 130 kilometers between Monastir and Lake Doiran. The enemy is in precipitate retreat and is being pursued vigorously by all the allied contingents.

Northeast of Monastir the line of Mogila, Kanatlartsi, and Kalyani has been reached. Further north Serbian troops are marching toward Prilep and have reached the Vardar from Gradsko to Demirkapu. They have thrown some elements across the river to the left bank.

In the lower Vardar Valley allied forces have passed the line of Koynako and Zurinchet, on the right bank of the river they have also taken Guevguell and all of the first enemy positions as far as Lake Doiran.

Enemy rear guards are being relentlessly pursued upon the roads in the region of Monastir, Kichevo, and Prilep. Enemy columns are retreating in indescribable disorder and are bombarded without respite by allied aviators. A number of villages and depots are in flames.

Prisoners, cannon, and an enormous quantity of material, which it is impossible to estimate, has fallen into our hands. We have in particular captured on the Vardar Valley Railroad, locomotives, three complete trains, and two pieces of long-range artillery, mounted on trucks.

In many places demoralized Bulgarian units have thrown away their arms.

Our progress continues over the whole front of attack.

An account of the operations issued Saturday said:

Eastern Theatre, Sept. 21.—During the day of Sept. 21 the French and Serbian armies have broken across the massif of Drachevishko. Serious resistance is being offered by Bulgarian rearguards reinforced by German troops.

Allied troops have progressed to the north of Vezarci and Kavadar, and reached the Vardar in the direction of Negotin and Demirkapu.

The enemy has destroyed much property near Gradsko and in the region of the Vardar and Lake Doiran, where he has burned railway stations, depots, munition parks, and aviation supplies. The number of prisoners and cannon captured has been augmented. Serbian troops have taken one group of mountain artillery complete, and one battery of 105s.

Aviation forces continue to harass the retreating columns of the enemy.

On the western side of the Cerna bend region the enemy has begun to retire, and allied troops have taken Chaniste and Orle.

In the region north and northeast of the Dzena massif French and Greek troops continue to progress with the Serbian armies.

Enemy Burning Stores as He Flees.

The following communication was issued by the British War Office this evening:

As the result of attacks and continual heavy pressure by British and Greek troops, in conjunction with the French and Serbian advance further west, the enemy has evacuated his whole line from Doiran to the west of the Vardar. He has set on fire the Hudova station and the Cestovoo, Tike and Tatarli dumps, and his troops and transports are crowding along the road northward, heavily bombed and machine gunned by the Royal Air Force.

We have reached the line Kara Oghlular-Hamzali, one kilometer south of Bogdance, and west of the Vardar are advancing on Mrzentsi in touch with the Greeks at Gaurinchet.

The latest Serbian official statement received here, dated Sunday, reads:

Serbian troops, in a victorious advance, are forcing the German and Bulgarian reinforcements to retreat. The Serbian troops this morning [Sunday] reached the River Vardar and cut the main railway line between Uskub and Saloniki.

Our troops have crossed the Crnreka [the Dreneka mountain range?] and have cut the railway between Gradsko [southeast of Uskub] and Prilep, which is the main line of communication of the German Army.

All the surrounding enemy sectors are feeling the consequences of having their lines of communication cut. Our advance from Sept. 15 up to today amounts to a total of 65 kilometers, [40 miles.]

Infantry units have now reached the highest part of the very mountainous regions and advanced 40 kilometers [25 miles] in one day. The number of prisoners and the volume of war material are increasing continually.

Rapid Advance by Italians.

ROME, Sept. 23.—The Italian troops in Macedonia have advanced an average of more than seven miles in pursuit of the Germans and Bulgarians and have taken sixteen villages, says the report from the War Office today. The statement reads:

In Macedonia we are overcoming the resistance of covering parties and the difficulties of the terrain.

On Saturday night we continued the pursuit of the enemy, who is in retreat. At dawn, after an average advance of about twelve kilometers and the capture of sixteen villages, we reached with the left wing and the centre the line of Chairli-Dobrushovo-Musa Oba and carried at the right the strong position of Mount Bobishte.

We took numerous prisoners.

Bulgars Say They Repulsed Attacks.

SOFIA, Sept. 21, (via London, Sept. 23.)—Bitter fighting is taking place between the Cerna and the Vardar, while near Doiran the activity has diminished, according to an official statement from the Bulgarian War Office today. The statement reads:

In the defile between the Cerna and the Vardar bitter fighting is continuing. Since the Anglo-Greek attacks of the last few days against our positions near Doiran were repulsed with losses by our valiant troops, the fighting activity on this front has diminished in intensity. In the valley of the Struma patrol engagements took place in No Man's Land.

BULGARS FACE BIG DISASTER.

London Papers Amazed by the Balkan Achievement.

LONDON, Tuesday, Sept. 24.—The newspapers this morning comment on the Balkan advance as an astonishing achievement.

"The whole line is in rapid movement on a front of 100 miles," says The Daily Telegraph, "while the wedge separating the two Bulgar armies threatens their destruction."

The Daily Graphic assumes that one aim is the capture of Uskub, the main avenue for an invasion of Bulgaria, and that it will be difficult for the Bulgarian Army, with its base at Prilep, to escape a big disaster.

"The Serbians have performed one of the most wonderful feats in military history, a deed comparable to the breaking of the Wotan line," says The Daily Mail.

ROUTED GERMAN SCOUTS.

Americans Dispersed a Strong Party and Made Three Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Defeat of an enemy combat party sent out to locate American front lines southeast of Champ-Fontaine Farm on Sept. 20 is described by General Pershing in a communiqué today supplementing earlier details of the encounter. The enemy was scattered with casualties, while the only American casualty was one officer wounded.

The dispatch, which is Section B of the communiqué for Sunday, follows:

Section B—The following details have been reported of repulse of one of the enemy raids reported in the communique of Sept. 20:

At 5 o'clock in the morning, Sept. 20, an enemy combat party of two officers and 100 men, armed with six heavy and two light machine guns, and preceded by fifteen minutes' artillery preparation, came from Dampvitoux to the cross-roads southeast of Champ-Fontaine Farm to establish an outpost, locate our front line, and identify our troops. Our artillery barrage, quickly regulated to a concentration fire, scattered the enemy and inflicted casualties. Our infantry captured three prisoners and one heavy machine gun. Our only casualty was one officer wounded.

Bolsheviki a Menace to Her—Turkey Defying German Dictation in the Caucasus.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—While not losing sight of he fact that intensely interesting developments may be expected at any moment on this front, the principal attention of Paris is directed to the influence which the allied victories in Macedonia and Palestine may have on the immediate future of the war. It is felt here that these events must inevitably have important political consequences and will tend greatly to modify the whole aspect of the war in the East.

Not only have two smashing blows been delivered against the prestige of the Central Empires, but it is believed that the evidence that has been given in the last few days that neither Germany nor Austria is any longer able to offer effective support to their subordinate accomplices, Turkey and Bulgaria, must have a strong influence on the stability of the Quadruple Alliance.

As Paris sees it, the recent furtive journey of that wily old fox, Ferdinand, to Germany, the complaints he is understood to have addressed to his formerly omnipotent but now sadly discredited war lord, his unheralded return to Bulgaria, followed by the hasty visit paid by the King of Bavaria to Sofia, and the long conferences there between Ferdinand and Dr. Solf, the official emissary of the German Government, are all full of significance.

Menace of Bulgarian Socialists.

All these events took place before the recent crushing defeat of the Bulgarians, and are believed here to be closely connected with the critical internal conditions of Ferdinand's unstable realm. The Bulgarian Socialists, who form a very substantial proportion of the subjects of Ferdinand, are known to have been in close relations with the most advanced parties in the Ukrainian Republic, and also to have sent delegates to Switzerland, where several leaders of the Bulgarian Socialists have been for some time in exile.

The conclusion drawn here from these and other facts is that the Bulgarian Army is already seriously infected with Bolshevism, and that this may very possibly result in the near future in the elimination of Bulgaria as a factor on the German side. The Bulgarian defeat in Macedonia may or may not have been due to this cause, but one thing is certain: the result of that defeat must inevitably contribute enormously to the extension of the demoralization which the Bolsheviki have already brought about in Ferdinand's kingdom.

Fears of the disintegrating effects of an extension of the movement that brought Russia to ruin have been a nightmare in Austria for months past, and to a lesser extent in Germany itself; but from all accounts that have reached Paris, the most serious inroads of this poison have been made in Bulgaria. Conditions there are now such in this respect, indeed, that it is believed that almost anything may happen in the near future. It would be only poetic justice if the same influences which wrecked Russia should bring about the break-up of the forced coalition of the Central Powers and all the blessings for the civilized world that would follow in its train.

Enver's Power in Turkey Waning.

The situation in Turkey, as Paris reads the various factors in being, is now also full of promise for the Allies. Here, however, quite other causes are apparently working toward the same end. Apart from the manner in which the military situation is developing entirely in favor of the Allies, it must not be forgotten that the new Sultan, Mehemet VI., has revealed himself in more than one situation as possessing a much more energetic character than was expected of him. One of his first acts was to call in as one of his principal advisers Said Bey, who was Secretary of Kiamil Pasha, the veteran Ottoman statesman who held for some years the post of Grand Vizier, and as such was the virtual ruler of Turkey.

Kiamil was notoriously Anglophile, and consequently Pro-Entente all his life, and a strenuous opponent of the Young Turks and all their works. Since Said Bey became Mehemet's counselor the influence of Enver Pasha has steadily diminished. Mehemet obviously dare not throw overboard this unscrupulous German agent too suddenly. Moreover, Enver has undoubtedly strong support in Constantinople in the person of the infamous Bernstorff, now German Ambassador to the Porte. Bernstorff, however, is no longer omnipotent in Stamboul, and has characteristically shown his sense of his changed position by indulging in several bitter quarrels with Nazim Pasha, one of the new Ottoman Ministers.

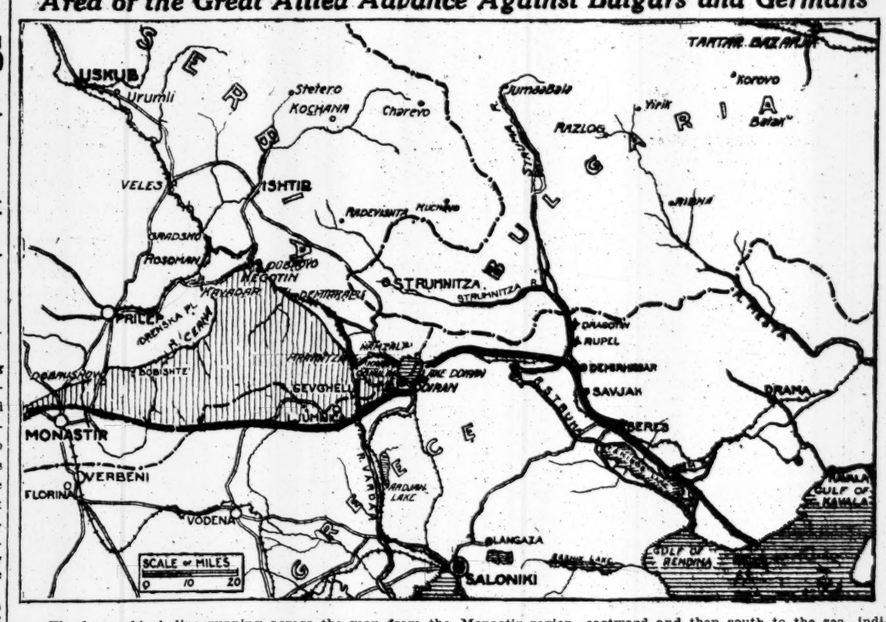
Other evidence of a changed policy in Turkey is found by observers here in the remarkable fact that the present Grand Vizier, Talaat Bey, taking advantage of the elimination of Russia, has persisted in carrying on an independent Turkish military offensive in the Caucasus. Its known here that the Turkish insistence in this daring campaign has met with strong opposition in Germany, where it is, of course, foreseen that in connection with circumstances elsewhere it would probably bar Germany's alternative route into Asia as effectually as the interposition of resurrected Serbia and Rumania would close the road through Asia Minor. It must be admitted that Aalaat's policy has proved successful to the extent that it has enabled the Turks to obtain possession of Baku. Whether they will be allowed to retain it will depend upon many other factors.

Turkey Asserting Her Inepedence.

The fact that this campaign is being pursued at all, however, is regarded here as evidence that Turkey is resolved to resume at least a part of her independence of German control and that she may have decided to relinquish, if only for the time being, the hope of retaining Palestine and content herself with compensatory territorial gains at the expense of moribund Russia. The suggestion opens up quite new perspectives as to the arrangement of the new map of Turkey.

It is significant of the modifications that have evidently occurred in the relations of Germany and Turkey that, after Talaat's visit to Berlin a few days ago, a telegram of an apparently inspired character which reached Paris from Geneva yesterday said that "in anticipation of military events which may lead Germany to disinterest herself in Turkey, or Turkey to seek support apart from Germany, the Ottoman Minister to Berne has come to an agreement with certain Swiss firms in regard to carrying on business in Turkey."

Area of the Great Allied Advance Against Bulgars and Germans



The heavy black line running across the map from the Monastir region, eastward and then south to the sea, indicates the position of the battlefront where the recent offensive was begun by the Allied armies. The shaded section marks the greater part of the territory recovered in the sweep northward and eastward and toward Bulgaria. Early morning advices indicate that the Allies are pushing further northward to Gradsko and are now close to Prilep.

By W. T. MASSEY.

east, left the low ground, got into the hills east of Mount Carmel, rode over the Plain of Esdraelon, and at sunrise yesterday climbed the hill on which Nazareth stands.

There they met with considerable opposition, but surrounded the town, which was taken during the morning with 2,300 prisoners. The Mayor, in surrendering the town, stated that General Liman von Sanders, the German Turkish Generalissimo, had left Nazareth the previous evening, when he heard that cavalry were over the Iskanderan. I saw this batch of prisoners as I came over the plain today. They included many German telegraphists, mechanics, and other technical troops.

The section of cavalry in capturing Nazareth covered over fifty miles in twenty-four hours, with stiff fighting in several places. Another cavalry column passed through the Tabor defenses, and also moved north a few miles from the coast. This was composed of yeomanry and Indian cavalry, their objective being El Afule, where the Haifa Railway joins the line from the south. They marched through Musmus Pass during the night, and captured 400 prisoners on the way. They were opposed at Lejjan, ancient Megiddo, and beat off the enemy before advancing into the plain.

A regiment of Indian Lancers acting as advance guards had an opportunity that all cavalry desire. A Turkish battalion was lightly dug in on a flat about two miles from the entrance to the pass. The Lancers dashed out of a narrow defile, extended, galloped over this plain of Armageddon, and crashed into the infantry and machine gunners with the lance, killing 90, wounding as many more, and taking 410 prisoners. The charge was most brilliantly executed. The cavalry had to gallop over exposed ground against heavy rifle and machine gun fire, but never faltered, each wave of horsemen riding through the enemy. Those not killed threw up their hands.

El Afule Garrison Captured.

The column then moved along the plain to El Afule, which was won in a very short time. The garrison of 1,500 were captured and an immense amount of material was taken. In the station were eight locomotives, two complete trains, forty horses, and a great quantity of stores.

A portion of the column did not remain long at El Afule. Turning eastward they proceeded up the valley of Jezreel to Beisan. Along the route and in the town they added about another 1,000 Turks to their bag. One regiment was detached and took Jisr-es-Dameer, nine miles south of the Sea of Galilee, to prevent any reinforcements coming by that road. Some cavalry of this column marched about 70 miles in two days.

Australian light horse with yeomanry and Indians captured Jenin, almost midway between El Afule and Samaria. They also had a long march and attacked Jenin from the north and west. On the western outskirts a Turkish battalion was intrenched and hotly opposed the light horse brigade. The latter, recently armed with swords, charged the trenches, sabring many and rounding up 1,000 prisoners. There was fighting for Jenin all last night, some resisting strongly, but early this morning the place was entirely ours.

Nearly 7,000 prisoners in all were taken by the cavalry. The story of the cavalry, told thus briefly, was full of incident. All regiments showed great dash and staying power, frequently fighting in difficult country, no task being too heavy for them to undertake.

Turkey's Disaster Complete.

There is still a great deal of clearing up to do, but the first battle is practically over. A few unimportant enemy sectors may have got away in driblets, but the Turkish armies have ceased to exist. As armies they have been killed or captured and have lost almost their entire war material of every description.

If a new army be created for Palestine and Syria, the Turks must provide not only the men, but the mechanism of war. Nearly all their guns on this front, transport, rolling stock, and engineers' stores have fallen into our hands. The infantry alone have taken 270 guns. The cavalry is too busy securing prisoners to count and send reports of their gun captures.

I have been over a large portion of the battlefield, hundreds of square miles in extent, and realize it must be some time before a full statement of the enemy losses is possible. This much is certain, bold strategy, backed by vigorous action of enthusiastic and determined troops, has obtained a victory for the Allies from which the Turks cannot hope to recover.

Today's news is as good as that of the preceding days. In the Jordan Valley we made important captures. It was found that a few of the enemy had come down from Nablus and got across Jisr-ed-Dameer Ferry. New Zealanders at 8 o'clock got across their track, stopped this exit, and rounded up 800 prisoners, including the staff and commander of the Turkish 53d Division. It was apparently unlucky to command this division, for in the first battle of Gaza the Australians caught its commander in a carriage.

The Turks east of the Jordan seemed to know so little of what was going on that they shelled some of our positions east of Jericho. The infantry which had rolled up the enemy from the west had little to do today beyond effecting the surrender of isolated parties, but they increased their captures of guns, including four naval 4s. The Irish, Welsh, and Indian infantry operating about the Nablus road got well north and east of Nablus, adding discomfiture to the retreating enemy. The Irish covered twenty-one miles fighting over mountains in thirty-six hours.

Cavalry North of Nazareth.

Cavalry approached Kafr Kenna and Beffarieh north of Nazareth yesterday. Today yeomanry and Indian cavalry beat off an attack on the Tiberias-Acre road north of Nazareth from the direction of Haifa. Indian Lancers killed 60 and captured 100 others. The yeomanry and Indian horse in Beisan are continuing their remarkable sweep. Six hundred more Turks were taken in small parties last night.

The British and Australian airmen, carrying on as usual, chose a new field today and attacked motor and other transport trying to escape on the Shible-Beisan road and dropped four tons of bombs, inflicting severe damage to men and material. Enemy machines were brought down and driven down at Derat.

In my wanderings I have seen the extraordinary success achieved by the airmen in these operations on Tul Keram-Nablus road. Pilots flew at very low altitudes and dropped bombs where it was impossible to miss. The road for miles was choked with smashed lorries and wheeled transport columns, making it difficult for the men to move.

The airmen returned and machine gunned the troops endeavoring to hide.

What was accomplished in this neighborhood was repeated on the Dameer road and elsewhere. The airmen's total casualties inflicted on the enemy must reach a high figure. All prisoners speak of the dread sound of the aircraft.

One feature of this battle has been magnificent, the dash of the Indian troops. The yeteran soldiers of India were expected to do well and have lived up to their high reputation. The young battalions who replaced white troops sent for service on the western front were an unknown quantity, though in raids and smaller operations they were tried highly, and they proved smart and efficient soldiers in this big battle which has ended so gloriously.

These young Indian battalions came through the ordeal magnificently, fought like seasoned warriors and cheerfully answered any call. The divisional commanders tell me they are delighted with the Indians' valor under all conditions. Forty-seven hours of continuous fighting and marching tested them to the utmost. They behaved superbly, their only fault being too great eagerness to push on. In Thursday's tremendous attack against the coastal defenses the officers had to restrain the men from rushing into our artillery barrage.

Keen to Preserve Division's Record.

These troops who took the place of some Londoners sent to France were tremendously keen to preserve the record of the division of Indians with Londoners who were first in Jerusalem, first over the Jordan and wanted to be first through the coastal defenses. They succeeded, went on, secured the crossing of the Wadi Falik for the cavalry and then advanced northeastward of Tul Keram, covering the astonishing distance of twenty-two miles in twelve and one-half hours, including trench fighting and actions in the open. This wonderful performance is an example of what the young Indian battalions are capable. All are practically of the same quality.

For skill in hill fighting, it is hard to find a parallel to this incident. It was a stern struggle for Beit Lid Hill, 5,000 yards from Messudieh Railway station, near Nablus, on Friday. When it was captured it was decided to take the station, which was commanded on the south by a high, steep hill. A Sikh battalion crept up the irregular slopes in the moonlight, caught the garrison entirely unprepared, rushed the surprised German machine gunners and captured over 200 prisoners, besides killing and wounding others. There was not one single casualty among the Sikhs. The Indians marching over this hilly country had to leave all their artillery except mountain guns behind.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES, Sept. 23.—Several actions of a local kind have taken place on the British front, leading to hard fighting in the trenches and outposts, this mainly in the country about Epehy and Villers-Guislain, where bombing encounters continue.

The balance of events is in the British favor, and the troops during the last twenty-four hours have not only improved their positions, but also have taken quite a number of prisoners. In a minor attack, for instance, south of Villers-Guislain 3 officers and over 100 of other ranks were brought back after a struggle in a sunken road there which was severe on both sides.

Near Berthacourt another of those sunken roads which are common in this country became the scene of sharp fighting last night, at about 7:30, when after heavy shellfire on the British lines the enemy attacked and rushed the road. A counterattack by the British drove him out soon afterward. Further north on this sector of the front there were much bombing and machine gun fighting.

But all this conflict is localized to small objectives, and is not of great importance except to the men engaged.

The weather is still stormy, with heavy rain at intervals between bursts of sunshine, and the ground will soon be difficult for operations on a big scale. The enemy will be glad of that, and no doubt is preparing already to strengthen the Hindenburg defenses for the Winter campaign, during which he hopes to keep the British inactive before that barrier, while the British divisions are resting after their long period of fighting, and while he has restored the strength of his own divisions and trains the latest recruits for defensive warfare in the Spring.

Whether the British armies will give him this chance remains to be seen.

east of Epehy, which had held out against their attacks for three days.

German counterattacks against British positions to the north of this territory were repulsed except at one point, where the enemy obtained lodgment this morning and from which he had not been dislodged at the time of the filing of the night bulletin from the front.

Last night, according to Haig's day bulletin, the British captured a group of German defenses on the ridge northwest of Vendhuille [probably in the same region as that referred to in the night report as northeast of Epehy] and took a strong point just to the south of the ridge.

The Germans suffered heavy casualties in their counterattacks.

Between Arras and Lens the British last night continued their advance in the neighborhood of Gavrelle, making progress on a front of three-quarters of a mile.

British Airmen Bomb Aerodromes and Blast Furnaces Near Metz.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The British official communication dealing with aerial operations on the Western front, issued tonight, says:

Eleven tons of bombs were dropped Sunday night. Eight enemy planes were destroyed. Four of ours are missing.

Sunday night four tons of bombs were dropped on the Valenciennes aerodrome.

Machines of the British Independent Air Force dropped nearly sixteen tons of bombs on German aerodromes and on blast furnaces in the Metz region on Saturday night, it was officially announced today.

The blast furnaces attacked were those at Hagendingen and Rombach. Four enemy aerodromes were bombed by the raiders.

STORMS IMMOBILIZE ARMIES IN LORRAINE

American Raiders Take One Prisoner—Artillery Exchanges Lessen in Violence.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE LORRAINE FRONT, Sept. 23, (Associated Press.)—One little raid, which netted the Americans one prisoner, a half-hearted retaliation by the Germans, and a monotonous exchange of artillery fire characterized the activities on the American front today.

Heavy rains have soaked the region since early Sunday, making the field uninviting for any operation except the necessary patrolling. The conditions have been wholly impossible for the airmen.

Early this morning the raid was carried out after long artillery preparation. The Germans replied, and for a time it appeared probable that they might direct a counter movement under cover of their guns. But evidently the mud, rain, and the known defensive positions of the Americans deterred them.

The German guns throughout the day at intervals which were slightly longer than usual searched the American back areas, but without scoring any valuable hits. The American guns also slowed down somewhat the volume of their fire.

The operations of the aviators came to an early standstill because of the bad weather. The only victorious sortie of the last two days was an action in which Lieutenant Herbert R. Hall of Palo Alto, Cal., downed a German.

INSPECTS DAMAGE AT METZ.

Governor of Alsace-Lorraine Makes a Visit to Bombarded Forts.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The Governor of Alsace-Lorraine visited Metz on Thursday last "to inspect the damage caused by the long-distance bombardment," says a Havas dispatch from Basle today. The Governor's purpose also was to visit the injured in the hospitals, the message stated.

Dispatches from the American front to The Associated Press on Saturday night emphasized the fact that there had been no bombardment of Metz proper, although the forts around it had been under fire, and a shell occasionally had fallen in the vicinity of the city.

DANIELS WILL MARCH INTO BERLIN, HE SAYS

15,000 Hear His Rallying Cry at Eddystone Celebration on Making Million Rifles.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Sept. 23.—Fifteen thousand employes and guests of the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Company, who were gathered at Eddystone today to celebrate the manufacture of 1,000,000 rifles for the overseas forces within a year, heard Secretary Daniels of the Navy sound a new rallying cry of people and Administration, "On to Berlin!"

"On my calendar at Washington," said the Secretary, "is but one engagement, the day I shall march behind the Marine Band, behind Pershing's soldiers into Berlin. I don't know the exact date yet, but it is coming as sure as God is in His Heaven."

Secretary Daniels attacked the slacker, no matter what his station in life, and was especially bitter against the workman or the man with money who does not give everything he has to the cause of the country. He evoked renewed cheers when he said:

"Labor in this war has proved itself to be 100 per cent. efficient and patriotic. When I say 100 per cent. I do not mean that relatively small percentage of traitors and slackers who have betrayed good citizenship and who have degraded the very name of labor. When the boys come back we will have a new America, and we will never go back to the old times. The man who lives in these days will be given the acid test, and he will apply it himself, as every man's conscience will speak to him. And the question you will ask yourself is, 'In the time America called her sons and daughters, what sacrifice did you make for the cause?'

"And unless you can say, 'I gave my money, my time, my labor, and did not prove to be a slacker,' it were better that you had a millstone tied about your neck and were drowned in the bottom of the sea."

The occasion was signalized by the presence of Secretary Daniels, Admiral Fletcher, Rear Admiral Earle, Chief of the Ordnance Bureau of the Navy; Brig. Gen. Thompson of the Ordnance Department, and many other noted military, naval, and civilian guests.

Samuel M. Vauclain, introduced as "armorer of the United States," thanked the employes for their work and loyal co-operation and accredited this remarkable production of a million rifles to their application and fealty.

"The Speaker of the House," continued Mr. Vauclain, "called me down to Congress eighteen months ago and said to me, 'Do we have to wait eighteen months to get rifles?' 'No, Sir,' I told him, 'I'll give you' rifles in four months, quantity production in six months, and 1,000,000 rifles in a year.' He told me to go ahead and here we are showing that this production was not a miss, and you did it, and, Mr. Secretary, you can go back to the President and tell him that nowhere in the United States has he a more loyal army than the 50,000 men and workmen behind the red fence around Eddystone, and also tell him for me that next year we will give him 1,000,000 rifles."

Secretary Daniels inspected the plant before he spoke. He said the marvels of the big guns and the machinery and organization of the plant astounded him.

ERZBERGER PLANS LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Germany Placed on Same Basis as Rest of World in Reichstag Member's Draft.

WOULD POLICE THE EARTH

And Parcel Out Its Raw Materials —London Sees in It Another Peace Manoeuvre.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 23.—A draft of a constitution for a league of nations, worked out in detail by Mathias Erzberger, Clerical Member of the German Reichstag, is published in the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin. It is taken from a book entitled "The League of Nations; the Way to Peace," which Erzberger will publish soon.

The first section of this constitution, dealing with the organization of such a league, says "any sovereign State can enter the league, which shall be considered to have been formed when the following powers are among those who have announced adherence: Germany, Great Britain, France, United States, and Russia."

The Hague would be the seat of the league, and there the International Bureau would conduct its business. Each State, with the approval of its Parliament, would appoint one delegate. The International Bureau would be controlled by a permanent administrative council consisting of the representatives of the federated powers, with the Dutch Foreign Minister as Chairman.

Dealing with fundamental laws, the second section says: "The league shall guarantee the territorial possessions of each federated State, as well as undisturbed possession of colonies." Each State would be independent in the conduct of its internal and foreign affairs within the limits of the league's constitution.

All for One, and One for All.

States whose Governments, with the assent of their Parliaments, declare their permanent neutralization would be recognized by all members of the league as permanently neutral and would enjoy the league's protection. All available means would be used against any State outside of the league which attacked a Federal State or took up arms without having applied to the arbitration court or awaited its judgment, or which took up arms, instead of accepting its judgment.

Members of the league would mutually undertake to cut down and steadily reduce their land, naval and aerial forces, according to a fixed standard to be agreed upon. They would further undertake not to use their forces for any other objects than the maintenance of internal order, defense of their territory against attack and for joint execution of the league's mandates.

Figures showing the annual expenditure for armament, the number of troops under arms, war material in hand and the number of warships in commission would be communicated annually to The Hague bureau, which would publish them. The constitution provides for economic equality and for the principle of the open door, all members of the league granting each other most favored nation treatment.

For the first decade after the foundation of the league each state's surplus of raw materials would be divided between the other federal states, according to a standard to be agreed upon. This would be respective of the imports of the year, the output and the special needs of individual states due to the war.

Members of the league would recognize freedom of the seas. Straits, canals and connecting seas, both banks of which were not in possession of the same federal state, would be internationalized and their fortifications retained, guarded by a command consisting of contingents from all the federated states and commanded in rotation every three years by a delegate of the states.

Right of Blockade Restricted.

Safety of private property on the high seas would be proclaimed, and the naval prize law and blockade law abolished. Exercise of the right of blockade would be reserved to the league, and only to the league, for use against any federal state which violated the league's constitution and against any state not belonging to the league which took up arms against the neutralized state. Ships of the federated states and their cargo would be treated in each state like its own. Overseas cables would be controlled by a commission of the league.

Members of the league would renounce the raising of troops in colonial territories. All states with colonies situated in Africa would be perpetually neutral states.

The third section, dealing with the league's executive department, provides that, in event of offenses, members shall proceed against the violator of the constitution, first by severance of diplomatic relations; second, complete isolation of the offender by closing frontiers to imports, exports, postal and railroad traffic, and, third, in given circumstances by blockade. The same measures would be taken against any hostile menace of a federate state from a non-member. Should the offending state cross its frontiers with hostile intent against one or more members of the league, joint military and marine assistance would be given.

Erzberger invites criticisms of his plan, as well as practical counterproposals.

Another Peace Manoeuvre.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The article by Mathias Erzberger on a league of nations is looked upon here as another move in the enemy's peace offensive.

"Herr Erzberger," says the Westminster Gazette, "is not a man whom we can trust, but his appearance as an official dove sent out from the Prussian Ark is always interesting, if only as an indication of the mood of his masters."

The newspaper recalls that last year this Centrist leader presented himself as the author of the famous Reichstag resolution waiving annexations and indemnities, "which were thrown into the scrap-heap at Brest-Litovsk and their ashes scattered to the winds when the March offensive appeared to be developing favorably."

J.W. DAVIS WAITING IN BERNE

Expects to Return Here Before Going to Embassy in London.

BERNE, Sept. 23.—John W. Davis, the newly appointed American Ambassador ot Great Britain, told The Associated Press today that he was still awaiting orders from Washington regarding the Ambassadorship, but that he hoped to conduct his present negotiations here concerning the transfer of American and German prisoners to a satisfactory conclusion. After that, he added, he probably would return to Washington to consult President Wilson and members of the Government before taking over the Embassy. He was doubtful, however, whether time and circumstances would permit of a journey home.

Concerning the negotiations with Germany for the exchange of prisoners, Mr. Davis said that probably only after they had ended would an official communication to the press be given out, as the negotiations themselves would be kept secret, as was the case in the Franco-German negotiations.

The War Situation

BY THE MILITARY EXPERT OF THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Not less important than interesting is the news concerning the British operations in Palestine. This theatre had been inactive for some time. It was as if the German offensive which began in March either damped the spirits of the British for activities elsewhere or drew from their near eastern armies to such an extent that it was impossible to continue the work which had progressed satisfactorily up to that time. Now, however, that the danger of any German offensive is over, never to occur again, the British are free to operate on any front where it appears there would be a material advantage in so doing.

The successes of the last few days certainly have justified in full measure the British judgment in continuing their forces in what would on the surface appear to be but subsidiary fields. As a matter of fact the British have had but one purpose in the combined Mesopotamian-Palestine operations, the elimination of Turkey from the war. It was pointed out in these columns at the time that these two operations were in full swing, that they were in reality one and the same thing. While the Mesopotamian forces were struggling westward past Bagdad, the Palestine army was pushing northward with the purpose of reaching Aleppo and cutting the Turkish line of communications, thus forcing the retreat or surrender of the Mesopotamian army.

This was a bold scheme, involving great distances and much hard fighting, but the direction of the two attacks forced the conclusion. There was only the alternative of the impossible military situation created by two offensives in the same general theatre against the same enemy, but unconnected, unrelated and disjointed. This, of course, is a military absurdity.

General Allenby has not merely taken territory, he has destroyed armies, which is the practical purpose of all wars. His plan was simple. It was exactly that followed in the Mesopotamian campaigns. It was in essence a widely flung flanking operation, designed to get behind the Turks and either cut or threaten their lines of communication and thus capture their army or force a retreat. Accordingly, operating from Jaffa as a base, he threw a large force of cavalry northward parallel to the coast until they were far to the north and had captured Nazareth, directly in the rear of the main Turkish Army.

This force then turned to the southeast and cut the railroad in the Turkish rear, which road runs from Jerusalem to Nazareth. This eliminated completely one of the only two lines of retreat the Turks had available. At the same time the Arabian forces operating on the east bank of the Jordan River swung around to the northwest and covered the fords of the Jordan, cutting at the same time the Hedjaz Railroad as well as the road to Hippo. Thus every avenue of retreat was closed and the entire Turkish Army trapped. All of its supplies likewise were cut away and must eventually fall into British hands. Up to the present moment more than 25,000 prisoners have been taken, but a great number had still to be enumerated.

The British victory is clear cut and decisive. If the entire Turkish army is not destroyed before the end of this feature of the campaign occurs, its usefulness as a military force has at least been temporarily destroyed, and the Turks are not very far from being forced behind the wall of the Taurus Mountains, giving up Aleppo, and with it all means of communicating with the east.

In looking to this form of strategy for ending the war, supposing that the British are able to beat Turkey into a separate peace, they are but following the lead of the Germans, who cut Russia away from the Entente, and who themselves followed Napoleon. Should this occur, it would be but the beginning of the end. Without doubt Bulgaria would follow Turkey's lead like a rat quitting a sinking ship. And there can be no doubt that the German ship is sinking. Germany may publish official statements of her victorious retreats as long as the supply of ink and paper last, but she is not deceiving her allies. They know that in the west she has suffered disastrous defeats; know that in the end there can be but one conclusion.

It is not at all improbable that in order to hold what they have they will forsake Germany and make peace as soon as they are convinced that Germany cannot possibly win and, therefore, will be unable to give them what she promised when they went into the war. It is simply a case of taking the most profitable bargain, and both the Bulgars and the Turks are actuated by no other motive than the profit involved.

BERNHARD CALLS FOR QUICK REFORM

time in which we find ourselves force us without delay to undertake a change in our whole system of government, and this change must come quickly. Of course, the German Empire could possibly endure six months of further struggling on in the old way, but what will happen after that time no one can tell today."

Thus George Bernhard, political editor of the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin writes in a mournful article on the situation. He thinks that this week will be a vital one in the history of the German Empire, and he utters the warning that it is no use making the situation worse by quarreling about the great change which must come, and come quickly, for "the answer of the Entente Powers to the Austrian note brings forward possibilities which force us to give a broader foundation to the structure of the Imperial Government."

The future Chancellor he says, must have the support of all the great political parties. That is necessary, not only for peace negotiations, but also for the eventuality of the German Empire being forced to gather its full strength for carrying on the war.

"The pillar of support of the next Government, therefore, can only be the political parties," he says.

Bernhard would prefer a "dictator whom the whole people could trust," but as such is not available the people must take their destiny in their own hands and carry out their will through a Chancellor who is in complete accord with the political parties. Their war aims must be made clear and unmistakable, he goes on, and then he makes this interesting admission:

"We can only bring England and her allies to something like a desire for peace if we honestly decide to change thoroughly all those things which are now clearly demonstrated to be serious errors in the German policy. Peace is not peace which has brought us any political advantages; that must be clear to everybody. That the political results of that arrangement have not been improved by the revised treaties is equally beyond doubt. In addition the conviction is beginning to dawn on us that the Bucharest peace is a worthy companion of the Brest-Litovsk treaty."

So Bernhard would have them altered immediately, for, if they have to be brought to the conference table for revision and for bargaining with them, that would be an official German admission that England was the judge of Europe; that would make her the patron of Russia and the frontier States, and so insure her predominating position through all eternity.

Berlin Excitement Grows.

Interest in the political crisis, for no one now denies that it is a crisis of the first magnitude, has increased to intense excitement in Berlin political circles. Today the Centre Party is meeting to come to a momentous decision, whether it shall enable a progressive majority to be formed in the Reichstag by joining its forces to those of the Socialists' and People's Party, or, by adhering to the von Hertling Government, prolong the life of the present administration.

The latter step would, of course, end the crisis, but it would only postpone the evil day when the stern facts must be recognized. Von Hertling, it is reported, will attend these deliberations and do his best, doubtless, to prop up his tottering Government. Tomorrow, according to the Vossische Zeitung, he will speak when the Main Committee of the Reichstag meets.

The Berliner Tageblatt prints an article showing the utter barrenness of von Hertling's year of office. It is true, the indictment says, that he has removed the notorious Paragraph 153 and so freed the workers' organizations from some rusty fetters, but other labor questions, such as franchise reform, censorship, and interference with public meetings, as well as the Eastern policy, have been neglected, played with or mismanaged. Von Hertling's record of office is merely a political desert, the article declares, and it adds that Hintze has been a complete failure, especially in negotiations with Austria regarding Poland.

Most papers anticipate the crisis will reach a climax at an early moment.

EIGHTH "CRISIS" SINCE 1914.

London Sees in German Agitation Only a Peace Farce.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Although reports of a German political crisis arising from the supposed movement for parliamentarization of the Government are printed here and the tuation is watched with mild interest, the whole thing is mostly regarded as merely an integral part of the German peace offensive. Frequently since the war broke out the reassembling of the Reichstag has been preceded by an outbreak of excited talk in German political circles. This has created a temporary "thundery" atmosphere, in which some revolutionary bomb has been predicted, but none has ever fallen.

The Telegraph, discussing the rumors, says that this is the eighth political "crisis" in the course of the war, and adds: "All of them have left things very much as they were before."

The view widely taken is expressed by The Graphic, which describes the discussion now filling German papers as a "stratagem to lure the Allies into making peace by depicting Germany as a democracy." The paper believes that the Emperor is following the example of some of his Hohenzollern predecessors and is gladly playing his part in "the farce which is about to be restaged with the Centrist majority and the Socialists as joint managers."

The inwardness of the move, the paper adds, is that Mathias Erzberger hopes, with the help of Philipp Scheidemann, the Socialist leader, and his followers, to oust Imperial Chancellor von Hertling and secure the centre of the stage as peacemaker for Germany.

"Allied democracies are led to believe it will be quite safe to negotiate with a German parliamentary Government," The Graphic says. "The whole movement is clearly preparing the way for a resuscitation of the notorious Reichstag resolution in revised edition, in the hope that the Allies have forgotten how completely that sham has been exposed."

MINISTER HINTZE TO SPEAK.

But Not Certain Hertling Will Address Reichstag Main Committee.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 23.—It is likely that the Main Committee of the German Reichstag, which meets tomorrow, will sit for a week. It is uncertain, says the Tageblatt of Berlin, whether Chancellor von Hertling will make a speech, but it is certain that Foreign Minister Hintze will do so.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 22.—Vice Chancellor von Payer of Germany received various party leaders on Saturday, according to the Tageblatt of Berlin. The discussions with the leaders, who called separately, were confidential.

ITALY NOT NEGOTIATING.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MILAN, Sept. 23.—The Italian Government states that there is no truth in the rumors, which, according to the Deutsche Zeitung, are current in Germany to the effect that Italy and Austria are privately negotiating a territorial compromise at Berne through the medium of a Swiss diplomat.

PROMISED THE KAISER TO HOLD THEIR LINES

But Rosner Says Germans Facing Americans Have Lost the "Hurrah" Feeling.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 23.—"We will never let Frenchmen or Americans through here," was the promise given Emperor William by his troops when he visited the Alsace-Lorraine front on Sept. 19 and 20, according to Karl Rosner's Sunday dispatch to the Lokal-Anzeiger.

The purpose of the visit was to thank the troops for having bravely held out, and, according to a possibly significant remark by the Emperor's chronicler, "at the same time giving them inspiring words for the fresh fighting on the threshold of which we are perhaps standing on the southwest of the empire."

The Emperor first visited the section between Mülhausen and Colmar, where, "in sight of the Vosges front, on whose heights and slopes the German positions run and within hearing of the dull-roaring cannon fire, Emperor William, conducted by Field Marshal Duke Albrecht of Württemberg, the Commander in Chief of the army group, went from division to division, camp to camp, and hospital to hospital.

"Here his Majesty," says Rosner, "was again told by his Generals, just as by simple musketeers, that they would never let the enemy pass. The Emperor passed along the entire Lorraine front, but instead of visiting staffs, he called on small units, brigades, regiments, and battalions. It is true that the 'hurrah' feeling of the beginning of the war has vanished, but everywhere one meets with the same unshakable and sure calmness which never for a moment doubts of a victorious resistance."

The correspondent reveals the fact that the brigade commanded by Prince Oscar, the Emperor's son, is stationed on this front. He says that Prince Oscar has returned to the field, notwithstanding the after effect of his wounds.

TURNING POINT OF WAR REACHED

Observer with French Armies Believes the Trend Is Definitely Toward Allies

GREAT OBSTACLES AHEAD

Allies Will Now Be Forced to Battle Before Heavily Fortified Zones.

By G. H. PERRIS.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, Sept. 22.—A noteworthy turning point of the war has been reached. It is just six months since the German General Staff launched its last great effort for victory in the west, and two months since the allied command recovered the initiative and began to speed the invasion back. The overturn in this short period is so considerable that we may well be content to regard it and the prospect soberly.

Taken in conjunction with the Austrian defeat on the Piave in June, the slow decline of the submarine menace, a certain recovery in Russia, and news of the victories in Macedonia and Palestine, the last two months' progress in the west does indeed warrant high hopes, but does not warrant an easy, boastful temper. In this time we will have taken some 200,000 prisoners, over 2,000 cannon, and an immense amount of war material. The enemy had taken less in double the time, but not so much less that we can afford to make light of our past misfortunes. We have recovered lost ground, suppressing the only likely opportunities for a German offensive, and reached a front whence the Allies can make a general push.

All these successes have been preliminary to the allied general offensive proper. For that movement fresh forces will come into play, for surprise has lost none of its ancient efficacy on the battlefield, and it is to our interest to extend the front as much as our means will allow, always providing for continuity of pressure. Both positively and relatively those means are now constantly increasing, but the enemy has still wide spaces of French and German soil over which to retreat, shortening his line in the process.

For a time, at least, conditions of war will change. We now are nearly everywhere up against a succession of fortified zones which, to say the least of it, makes an easy triumph not to be expected. It may possibly be a long and wearying struggle. On the other hand, as the German Army and people increasingly recognize that the end is certain, there may be a more or less sudden collapse of their resistance. Already there are signs that the military caste is losing its grip. Two months of unvaried failure seems to have taken effect in the army as well as in domestic affairs.

Its flagrant lying on the subject of poison gas suggests a mind distracted, if not actually deranged. A very amusing instance of the mental disturbance arrives as I write in the shape of a passage from the official German wireless service, issued from Nauen last evening. This bulletin insists that the German troops evacuated the St. Mihiel salient in good order and saved their war material.

"All installations of value, including lighting apparatus, clothing, stores, pianos, and musical instruments, were brought away in good time."

A piano was saved, but 250 square miles of ground were lost and 15,000 prisoners and 111 cannon were left behind. What a boast!

Official Reports of West Front Operations

French

PARIS, Sept. 23.

Night Report.—South of St. Quentin our troops have reached the Oise, between Vandeuil and Travecy. There is nothing to report from the rest of the front.

Day Report.—In the region of St. Quentin the French troops continued their advance yesterday evening and last night. They penetrated the wood north of Ly-Fontaine, captured the fort and village of Vendeuil, and pushed on to the Oise.

French reconnoitring parties took prisoners north of the Aisne and in Champagne, in the direction of the Butte du Mesnil.

German raids north of the Vesle and in the Vosges failed.

LONDON, Sept. 23.

Night Report.—By a successful local operation this morning, northeast of Epehy we captured a German strong point which had been stubbornly defended for the past three days.

North of this locality a hostile counterattack in the morning succeeded in entering our positions at one point, where a party of the enemy is still holding out. Elsewhere the attack was repulsed.

Day Report.—Successful minor operations were carried out by our troops yesterday and during the night at several points. In the afternoon English troops captured a German strong point in the neighborhood of the Ronssoy-Bony road which had held out stubbornly all day, taking eighty prisoners.

Later in the afternoon a hostile counterattack from the direction of Gillemont Farm was repulsed with heavy loss by our rifle and machine gun fire.

During the night other English troops made progress in the direction of Tombois Farm after several hours' hard fighting, and farther north captured a group of strongly held trenches and strong points on the spur northwest of Vendhuille, taking a number of prisoners.

During the night also over 100 prisoners were captured by us in a successful local attack south of Villers-Guislain.

East of Gavrelle, English troops made progress on a front of about three-quarters of a mile, capturing sixty prisoners.

Early last night the enemy attacked Berthaucourt under cover of a heavy artillery barrage and penetrated our line at one point. An immediate counterattack by our troops completely re-established the positions.

German

BERLIN, (via London,) Sept. 23.

Day Report.—We captured prisoners in local raids south of Neuve Chapelle. The artillery activity revived between Ypres and La Bassée, on both sides of the Scarpe and on the canal sector south of Marquion.

On the sectors east and southeast of Epehy, as well as between the Omignon Brook and the Somme, the artillery duels again increased to greater strength in the afternoon. Infantry attacks which the British launched against our lines southeast of Epehy were repulsed.

The Second Guards Infantry Division especially distinguished itself yesterday as it has done during the last few days. Strong firing activity was kept up during the night.

In nocturnal attacks east of Epehy the enemy obtained a footing in sections of our trenches.

There were forefield engagements on the Oise.

The fighting activity died down yesterday between the Ailette and the Aisne.

Reconnoitring engagements have taken place in Champagne.

Between the heights of Lorraine and the Moselle, artillery duels increased temporarily during the early morning. The enemy, who advanced with strong detachments against Haumont and south of Dampvitoux and Rembercourt, frequently felt his way to our positions with reconnoitring detachments, but was repulsed. West of the Moselle we advanced our lines a little.

RELENTLESS PRESSURE ON CHEMIN DES DAMES

French Advance Under Mangin Is Not Spectacular, but of Great Importance.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, Sept. 22.—When the history of the war comes to be written, full justice will be done to the work of General Mangin's army during the month of September, which the more striking operations elsewhere now tend somewhat to obscure.

In fact, so gradual has been the progress and so lacking in sensational incident that were it not for the historic name of the Chemin des Dames to mark the goal of the effort, Mangin's soldiers might fancy that their advance foot by foot, accompanied by some of the most desperate fighting of the whole war, was scarcely noticed by the rest of the world.

Skillful manoeuvre has been the secret of this success. The German position as a whole is being patiently turned from the southwest just as an individual post of defense or a fortified village is outflanked and carried in detail.

It is a parallel of the operation against the equally difficult massif of Thiescourt, where Humbert's men pushed steadily round foward Lassigny, while simultaneously "nibbling" their way forward by "infiltration" (that is a pure infantry manoeuvre, as taught for a century in the war schools) through the heart of the massif. But against Mangin the resistance is stiffened greatly by the fact that the enemy is close to the Hindenburg defenses.

Counterstroke after counterstroke follows every French advance. On the night of the 10th the Prussian Guards attacked six times in a vain attempt to win back the important position of Laffaux. On the night of the 19th another crack division broke five times against the stubborn defense of a French unit that had just won the farm of Moisy.

It is a pitiless struggle, with little quarter on either side, in the ravines and caverns that are features of the country. In this confined space grenades are as mortal as shells, and flamethrowers turn the underground darkness into a hell of agony and fire.

Yet the advance is as constant as it is imperceptible to the outside world. Now the French Army is almost within reach of Malmaison, the true key to the Chemin des Dames position. And, what is hardly less important, it is doing its share in a far greater operation. That consists in "nailing" the enemy to battle along the Hindenburg line from Arras to Rheims.

Despite himself, Ludendorff must use divisions to meet the allied pressure. Every day he grows weaker and sees his chance of constituting an independent mass of reserves (his chief hope for meeting new attacks by superior forces) slipping from his grasp.

Accepts Helfferich's Resignation.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 23.—A dispatch from Berlin says the resignation of Dr. Karl Helfferich as Ambassador to Russia has been accepted. Dr. Helfferich announced his readiness, at the Chancellor's wish, to resume economic preparations for the peace negotiations.

GERMAN DISCIPLINE IS GOING TO PIECES

OFFICERS NOT IN CONTROL

And They in Turn Declare the Men Care Most for Their Stomachs Now.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 23, (Associated Press.)—The replies of prisoners, recently questioned, show that the lack of confidence between the German officers and men is becoming mutual. Officers complain of declining discipline in the ranks. Soldiers, whose loyalty was unquestioned a year ago, they say, are now deaf to patriotic harangues.

"We can no longer have confidence in our men," said one officer. "Patriotic exhortations are now lost on them. They think more of their stomachs than of their country."

On the other hand, the soldiers say that the officers think only of their own safety when the line breaks under pressure of the allied forces; that they leave behind for their own safety rearguards, who during the early phases of the retreat were sacrificed without knowing that they had been deliberately abandoned by the rest of the forces.

In the fierce fighting on the advanced line protecting the Hindenburg position officers remained in the rear, the men say, leaving subalterns to keep those on this line from yielding or surrendering. The resentment caused by the spread of this conviction among the rank and file prisoners is evluenced at the prison camps. German soldiers under protection of French guards stand no longer in awe of their officers, who are prisoners with them.

"The discipline spirit of our men is no longer what it was," said a German officer. "At the first prisoners' camp to which I was taken one of our men appeared before me in a neglectful position and refused to rectify it, saying: 'We have no more use for all that here.'"

An officer captured in front of Laffaux in a quarry cave with a number of men complained that they refused to use their machine guns when the French attacked, saying that it was useless to fight on. When the men filed past the inclosure where the officer was waiting to be sent to the rear, he cried out to them:

"Swine! Swine!"

A Colonel, taken with another group of prisoners, had neither coat nor blanket, while many of his men had both. They all refused to give up anything for his comfort.

There are still many units in the German army that fight with the utmost courage, such as those facing Gen. Mangin's men west of the Chemin des Dames, and there are officers who still stick to their forces to the last minute, as shown by the number taken prisoner recently.

But the proportion of the latter to the former in the front line is evidently smaller, and the evidence of those captured leads the French command to the conviction that on the whole the old iron discipline in the German ranks has been weakened greatly during the retreats in the last two months.

PERSHING INDORSES EDUCATION PLANS

Broad Project for Training Officers and Men Set on Foot by Commander's Orders.

Y.M.C.A. TO DIRECT SCHOOLS

Many Subjects Covered—Selected Officers and Men Can Enter Allies' Universities.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE AMERICAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, Sept. 23, (Associated Press.)—To every officer and enlisted man of the American expeditionary forces is offered instruction under an education system, organized by the Young Men's Christian Association, with the approval of the commander in chief.

The project has been under discussion by the military and Y. M. C. A. authorities for some time ,and details are now completed by general orders, placing in operation a course of preparation. General Pershing has taken a keen personal interest in the matter and has cooperated with and assisted the Y. M. C. A. Army Educational Commission, which originated the idea and will conduct the schools.

The plan contemplates the standardization of educational methods and the establishment of schools at all posts, cantonments, hospital rest camps or in areas having a constant population of 500 or more. The courses are to be uniform throughout the service, in accordance with a system arranged by the Y. M. C. A., comprising, broadly, the subjects, French language, history, character of institutions, French and English peoples, causes of the war and America's participation. Likewise there will be courses in common school subjects and special courses for examination for promotion.

Attendance will be voluntary except where instruction is given in subjects which the commanding officer deems necessary in the interests of the service, or where individuals require special mental or physical education to fit them for their duties as soldiers and citizens.

Students entering the course, however, will be required to complete it. Where military duties interfere they will be given a card containing their scholastic record, which becomes part of the soldiers' service record, and when opportunity offers they resume their interrupted studies.

On satisfactory completion of the course a certificate of proficiency will be issued by the Y. M. C. A. Army Educational Commission, countersigned by the school officer.

The Army Corps, Division, and Regimental Commanders and Post Commanders will each appoint a qualified member of the staff as a school officer, who will be charged with supervision of the educational work within his organization, where practicable using the facilities, material, and equipment furnished by the Y. M. C. A. A system of inspection by the association's agents is also provided for.

The foregoing is the basis of the scheme for constant operation throughout the army, but the general plan will be further extended during the period of demobilization to include courses in English literature, modern history, civics, bookkeeping, accounting, stenography, elementary biology, hygiene, and similar subjects.

Under the same plan arrangements have been made with French and British colleges, universities and technical schools, for the attendance of selected officers and enlisted men from the American Expeditionary Forces at moderate cost, and leaves of absence and furloughs will be granted selected application in the selection of students to pursue the advanced studies. Special consideration will be given to men of good military record who interrupted their education to enter the army.

Industrial schools for the instruction for skilled trades will also be established for soldiers entitled thereto by their military record and special fitness.

The military authorities are enthusiastic over the project and expect that it will prove a valuable aid to the discipline, comfort, and happiness of the men, particularly during the Winter, at the same time fitting hundreds of thousands of young Americans for their eventual return to civil life and the pursuit of livelihood.

2 SHIPS IN FIGHTS WITH SUBMARINES

Attacked 100 Miles Off Cape Sable Vessel Engages in Long-Range Duel.

U-BOAT'S FATE UNCERTAIN

United States Shipping Board Ship Also Reports Encounter with Undersea Craft.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 23.—The officers and crew of a big British freighter which has just arrived in ballast from England were receiving congratulations today from their friends on shore for their lucky escape from a German submarine which attacked their vessel about 800 miles from the American coast on Friday, Sept. 13. After firing a torpedo which missed the freighter by six feet, the U-boat opened a long-range duel that lasted for one hour and twenty minutes. The steamship was only saved from destruction by the skillful manoeuvring of her Captain, which caused the German gunners to shoot wildly, and the good marksmanship of the three British gunners with their four-inch quick-firing stern gun.

Another steamship belonging to the United States Shipping Board, also arrived today with accounts of an encounter with a U-boat on Sept. 19 500 miles off the American coast.

The Britisher was not struck by any of the high explosive shells fired by the U-boat, but her decks were showered with shrapnel. The broken pieces of brass also perforated the lifeboats hanging at the davits ready for lowering, and a dozen or more larger lumps of iron struck the hull on the port side amidships two feet above the water line, but did not pierce the plates. Three of the shells fired from the stern gun struck the U-boat, and the crew of the freighter said today that they hoped the crew were somewhat alarmed by the undersea fighter had been destroyed.

Not one of the crew was injured by the shrapnel, but the Hindus among the constant booming of the gun and the swinging of the ship, which nearly threw them off their feet at times.

Officer Tells of Fight.

One of the senior officers of the British ship gave the following account of the attack upon the steamship:

"At four bells, 10 o'clock, Friday morning, Sept. 13, we were about 100 miles southeast of Cape Sable and steaming along comfortably at ten knots. Without warning a torpedo was fired at the ship and passed from port to starboard, missing the bow by barely six feet. The man in the upper crow's nest could not see anything of a periscope or a U-boat on the horizon. The Captain immediately headed the ship toward the southward, the direction whence the torpedo came, so that when the submarine appeared on the surface four minutes later she was astern and was kept there. The Germans never got a chance to fire a broadside shot. If they had our ship would probably not have reached port.

"The U-boat opened the battle by firing with her two six-inch guns at a range of 3,000 yards, and missed us by fully 800 feet. We replied with the stern gun, our only one, at a range of 5,000 yards, as we had increased the distance by zig-zagging. Our high explosive shells weighed 32 pounds and our range was 13,000 yards, while the U-boat's guns fired a 100-pound shell and had a range of 15,000 yards at least.

"Altogether we fired 70 rounds to his 175 shells, not one hitting us. Shrapnel burst over the deck and the bridge and made holes in the two forward lifeboats on the port side, which were plugged up later by the carpenter in case we had to lower them to abandon the ship. Other pieces fell in front of the officers' quarters and one large, crinkly bit of iron struck the door of the chartroom with such force that it was buried deep in the wood.

U-Boat Hit at 9,000 Yards.

"After our gunners had fired fifty shells they made their first hit at 9,000 yards. The shell dropped right in front of the bow gun on the deck of the U-boat, and a cloud of smoke followed the explosion. When it cleared away the gun was pointing skyward at an angle of thirty degrees, and nothing could be seen of the crew that had been manning it a minute or two previously. After six more shells had been fired our chaps scored another hit on the bow of the U-boat and appeared to knock it endways, but the craft did not sink, and her crew continued firing.

"It was at 11:20 o'clock that the third hit was made by one of our shells striking the stern of the submarine, and that seemed to satisfy her commander that his craft had taken all she could stand. The range by that time had increased to 13,400 yards, and we had only 200 yards more to go before our guns would be ineffective.

"Neither the Captain nor any of us could be sure that we destroyed the German submarine. All we can say is that the U-boat went down slowly on an even keel and appeared to be laboring under great difficulties. We did not see the undersea craft again. I think that we are lucky to be here today."

The officer said that a portion of a shrapnel shell which fell on the deck and was given to the United States naval officers at this port, proved that the guns on the submarine were of at least six-inch, if not seven-inch calibre. He declared the shooting of the German gunners was bad, as the freighter, being high out of the water, formed an excellent target.

The story of the senior officer was confirmed by the Captain and other officers of the steamship, several of whom had pieces of shrapnel they had picked up on deck after the engagement. Although the shrapnel did not pierce the plates of the steamship, which is thirteen years old, one of the plates is cracked.

Attack on American Ship.

The attack on the American steamship was apparently made by the same U-boat that sunk the fishing trawler King Fisher off Halifax on Saturday morning. The attack occurred at 12:45 o'clock in the afternoon of Sept. 19, and lasted forty-five minutes. Thirty-four shots were fired by the gunners on the American vessel, and the last one at a three-mile range was believed by them to have made a hit because the shot was followed by a cloud of smoke from the U-boat.

Directly afterward the submarine, which had first shown her periscope and then appeared on the surface awash, steamed away to the eastward, apparently in a disabled condition. The Captain of the American vessel said:

"When the lookout man sighted the enemy craft first she was on our starboard quarter and was manoeuvring to get into a position to launch a torpedo. I ordered full steam ahead and swung the bow over so as to charge right at the position where I supposed the submarine to be. At the same time I opened fire with our bow guns, but the range was too far and I altered the course so as to get the stern guns to bear on her. The second shell fired from the stern was the one the gunners feel confident made a hit, and they cheered and yelled, 'We got him dead centre sure.'

"At that time we had only seen the periscope and directly after the shot was fired the U-boat rose to the surface and was plainly in distress."

The Captain added that even if it did not penetrate the hull of the submarine the shot had certainly burst one or more of its ballast tanks.

BRITISH AWARD D. S. O. TO AMERICAN FLIER

Lieut. A. F. Bonnalie Saves Fellow-Aviator and Returns After His Own Plane Is Crippled.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—General Pershing today informed the War Department that Lieutenant A. F. Bonnalie of 2,521 Mission Street, San Francisco, an American attached to the Royal Air Force, had received the British Distinguished Service Order for heroism in an air fight Aug. 13, in which he saved another machine from destruction, and later, by great ingenuity, brought his own riddled plane safely within the British lines.

"This officer," said General Pershing's report, "led two other machines on a long photographic reconnoissance. In spite of the presence of numerous enemy aircraft they were able to take all photographs required, but were attacked by six Fokker biplanes.

"During the combat Lieutenant Bonnalie saw that one of his accompanying machines was in difficulty and that an enemy airplane was nearly on its tail. He at once broke off combat with the enemy with whom he was engaged and dived to the assistance of the machine in trouble. He drove off the enemy plane, regardless of the bullets which were ripping up his own machine.

"Eventually, however, his tail planes and his elevator wires were shot away and his machine began to fall in side slips. Lieutenant Bonnalie managed to keep his machine facing toward the British lines by means of the rudder control, while his observers and third machine drove off the enemy aircraft which was still attacking.

"In its damaged condition Lieutenant Bonnalie's machine was tail-heavy, and he therefore had his observer leave his cockpit and lie out along the cowl in front of the pilot. In this manner he recrossed the British trenches at a low altitude, and righted his machine sufficiently to avoid a fatal crash.

"Had it not been for the gallantry of Lieutenant Bonnalie, the injured machine to whose assistance he went would have fallen into enemy territory, as its pilot had been wounded and its observer killed. Lieutenant Bonnalie's own machine was riddled with bullets, and it was a marvelous performance to bring it safely to the ground."

ANOTHER FUNERAL FOR CZAR

Troops of the "People's Army" Hold Ceremonies Over Exhumed Body.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 23.—Solemn ceremonies over the body of Nicholas Romanoff, former Emperor of Russia, have been held at Yekaterinburg by troops of the "People's Army," according to Izvestia of Moscow. The body had been buried in a wood near where the Emperor was executed, and was located through information provided by persons acquainted with the circumstances of the execution.

The work of exhumation was done in the presence of many representatives of the supreme ecclesiastical authorities of Western Siberia, as well as delegates of the "People's Army," Cossacks, and Czechoslovaks. The body was placed in a zinc coffin, encased in Siberian cedar and placed in the cathedral at Yekaterinburg under a guard of honor, composed of commanders of the "People's Army." It will be buried in a special sarcophagus at Omsk.

This is the second time that funeral services over the body of Nicholas Romanoff have been reported. A telegram from Stockholm on Aug. 22 stated that, by order of the Czechoslovak authorities, the body of the former Emperor, which had been buried in a suicide cemetery, had been exhumed and reinterred in consecrated ground. For a long time after the execution of the former Emperor the disposition made of his body was a mystery.

Farmers' Prices Up Only 3 1-2%.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Prices paid to farmers for foodstuffs have not increased 35 per cent. this year, as compared to 1817 prices. The Food Administration explained today that the announcement in its statement last night reviewing food costs that such an increase was being received by the farmers was due to an error in typewriting. The increase, it said, has been only 3½ per cent.

SOUTH WALES STRIKE DISTURBS TRAFFIC

Railway Men, Dissatisfied with Settlement of Dispute, Defy Their Leaders.

THOUSANDS ARE MADE IDLE

Complete Disorganization of Industries Threatened by Stoppage of Coal Mining.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—A sectional strike of railway men in South Wales, who are dissatisfied with the settlement of the dispute arrived at last Thursday, began Sunday in defiance of the union leaders and spread to a serious extent Monday, dislocating traffic over a large area and compelling the idleness of thousands of miners and metal workers and seriously delaying the output and distribution of coal. The trouble was extended tonight and threatens the complete disorganization of the South Wales industries.

James Henry Thomas, General Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, has gone to Wales to try to effect a settlement of the strike. He told the newspapermen that the situation was very serious, and that the leaders of the National Union, whose authority had been flouted, were gravely concerned.

The Board of Trade issued a statement late tonight describing the action of the strikers as "a direct challenge to all ordered government" and saying that the strike would not only endanger the essential needs of the civilian population by interfering with the transportation of foodstuffs and fuel, but, must seriously prejudice the successful conduct of the war by interfering with the essential supplies of men and munitions to the allied armies and navies, and also interfere with the transport arrangements for the comfort and safety of the wounded.

The statement concludes by thanking the large body of railway men who are abiding by last Thursday's agreement.

CITES ENGINEER ON TIMES SQUARE SUBWAY

Broadway Association in Sharp Retort Attacks Attitude of Transit Commission.

Reasons advanced by a member of the Public Service Commission why the suggestions made by the Broadway Association for improving the Times Square subway station could not be adopted brought a sharp retort last night from E. W. Estes, the association's Executive Secretary. Mr. Estes said that if the member of the Commission had been quoted correctly, then it was a "further proof of the incompetent way in which propositions for the improvement of the subway service are handled." The accuracy of the published remarks had already been vouched for by the Public Service Commissioner, who was quoted on Sunday last.

Mr. Estes's statement last night, after agreeing that the committee of the association appreciated it would be unprofitable at this time to discuss the possibility of raising the grade of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit line at Times Square, continued as follows:

"That 'subway' will continue on its present grade to the end of time in all probability, and the millions of people who are forced to use it will continue to ascend and descend twenty feet more than is necessary. At the time we made this suggestion, however, it was possible to have the grade raised. The plans for this improvement were drawn by an engineer who has been in charge of the construction of the B. R. T. line at Forty-second Street, where one of the most difficult pieces of construction of the whole subway system has been successfully done. George H. Clark is the engineer in question.

"The plans which he formulated have been examined by one of the engineers in charge of the building of the Grand Central Terminal, by Menden & Davies, engineers of the B. R. T.; by Mr. Pegram, engineer of the Interborough Company; by Mr. Molitor, an engineer connected with the Merchants's Association; by several engineers of the Public Service Commission; by Major Hodge, the engineer member of the Commission, and by the engineers of The Engineering News Record, which published a commendatory article upon the plan, and not one of these gentlemen made the criticism reported as coming from a member of the Public Service Commission.

"It is not true that if the B. R. T. subway had been raised on a level with the Seventh Avenue line the terminal of the Queensboro subway would necessarily have been placed to the eastward on Forty-second Street. Our plan was that that same subway should come across Forty-second Street and occupy the space now used by the B. R. T. and continue westward under the Seventh Avenue line, making the shortest possible walk between the systems.

"It is no answer to say that all these suggestions should have been made seven years ago, when the dual system was under consideration; but, as a matter of fact, practically the same plans were proposed at that time by Mr. Harwood of the New York Central. As a matter of fact, there have been constant changes going on at many points since the original plans were adopted, and this was to have been expected. Is this narrow passage in Seventh Avenue from Forty-first to Forty-second Street, about which many are complaining at the present time, something that was adopted seven years ago? Not at all. It is a new piece of patchwork, utterly inadequate for the service that it is designed to serve, which has been thought of since the catastrophe of Aug. 1 to 3 last."

In conclusion, Mr. Estes asked if the quoted member of the Commission meant to say that no one might make suggestions when it was discovered that absolutely necessary changes should be made. He said that if hearings were necessary when new plans were adopted such hearings should be held now.

The Public Service Commissioner whose statement Mr. Estes answered did not condemn all of the suggestions made by the Broadway Association. He explained that "however meritorious" any of the suggestions might be, they could not be considered now, "with war and financial conditions as they are."

DANISH UNIONISTS PLEASED.

Compact with America Provides for Imports of Needed Materials.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 23.—The Social Demokraten, in another article dealing with the signing of the commercial agreement between Denmark and the United States, notes with the greatest satisfaction that the American promise of supplies will to a great extent alleviate the unemployment situation.

Representatives of the various trades unions were asked by the newspaper what the effect of the agreement would be. The answers, which are printed today, all are expressive of gratification and the hope that the supplies will come soon.

SAYS SPECULATORS GET TICKETS FOR OPERA

District Attorney Tells of Sale of Option—Eighty Speculators Are Summoned.

District Attorney Swann announced yesterday that in his investigation into the activities of theatre ticket speculators he had discovered that a man whose name was well-known to the public had enabled a speculator to obtain two of the best seats on the main floor in the Metropolitan Opera House. He said he had a letter from this man to a speculator acknowledging receipt of $50 for a season option on the opera seats for one night a week throughout the Metropolitan opera season.

"It makes it difficult to curb the activities of ticket speculators, who in the guise of middlemen stand between the theatres and the public and levy tribute, when reputable men enable a speculator to get tickets," said the District Attorney. "With the surrendered option from this man, the speculator told me, he went to the Metropolitan Opera House and obtained the tickets at a cost of $6 each. To that cost he will add the $50 bonus paid to the original lessee and his own profit, so that the ultimate purchasers will be required to pay a large premium for these seats."

Fifteen of eighty theatre ticket speculators who had been summoned to the District Attorney's office to show cause why their business should not be abolished as nonessential, were questioned by Mr. Swann. He interrogated them upon privileges granted by storekeepers in the vicinity of theatres to evade the law prohibiting ticket speculation on the streets.

"Complaints have been made to me to the effect that cigar stores have permitted speculators to bring in prospective customers to sell them theatre tickets," said the District Attorney. "These customers would be approached on the street and then led to the stores for the actual sale or transfer of the tickets. A sailor told me he was unable to get a ticket for a theatre because the box office was sold out and paid a speculator $2.25 for a fifty-cent seat."

The District Attorney said he had learned that the theatre managers had investigated the ticket speculating operations and had found that not more than one theatre manager was profiting by collusion with speculators. Speculators got tickets despite all efforts of reputable managers to protect the public, it was said, by the simple method of sending their friends or messengers to the box office to buy two or four tickets each visit.

Missing Teacher Drowned.

The body of Lillian Parker, 45 years old, a school teacher, who boarded at 91 Fort Washington Avenue, was cast ashore at 181st Street in the Hudson River last night. Miss Parker had been missing from her room in the home of Mrs. G. Edwards since Sunday night, and the police of the West 152d Street Station were asked to search for her. They said it was believed the teacher had committed suicide, but no reason could be given except that she had recently been much depressed.

BISHOP OF OXFORD FOR A COMPLETE VICTORY

Tells Churchmen Germany Must Be Beaten Before Peace Parleys Are Opened.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur F. Guttery, President-elect of the Free Churches of England and Wales, and the Rt. Rev. Charles Gore, Bishop of Oxford, were speakers yesterday at the Inter-church Clerical Conference held in Aeolian Hall under the auspices of the National Committee on Churches and Moral Aims of the war.

"No possible good can be obtained through premature peace parleying," Bishop Gore said. "Until Germany has been militarily beaten, discussions of peace are in vain. It is a mistake, however, to believe that it will be sufficient to beat Germany militarily. As a factor in keeping up the morale of the people it should be kept in mind that justice and liberty are the great missions of the Allies.

"In the last analysis, a league of nations is the hope of the world because if the nations do not form some sort of a compact another war will come which will break down civilization entirely."

Bishop Gore described President Wilson as "the prophet of the League of Nations."

"I see hope in democracy," he said, "but I am not satisfied with the part the Church has played. I am persuaded that the best immediate way of promoting religious unity in our country is for the fragments of the Christian Church to act together on the moral and social questions of the day. Surely the Christian Church would welcome the project of the League of Nations and organize itself in vigorous unanimity to press it. The proposal comes not from wild idealists but from practical statesmen, including President Wilson, Lloyd George, Viscount Grey, Mr. Asquith, and Mr. Balfour."

Dr. Guttery, whose two sons were wounded in the war, told of his conversion from pacifism after he studied the Allies' war aims, and continued: "The English aristocracy has been criticised, but it has given its blood freely in this war. True, we have a King, but King George has set so high an example of duty and righteousness that if we became a republic to-morrow George V. would be elected President by an overwhelming majority. Our fight now is between freedom and force."

Fourth of July Committee Report.

Albert E. Hull, Secretary of the Fourth of July Committee, yesterday reported to Joseph Haag, Secretary of the Board of Estimate, upon the disbursement of the $25,000 fund for the Independence Day Celebration. The Aldermen received $5,500 for furnishing music; the Stadium celebration took $2,500; athletics and festivals, $4,000; the Borough President's offices in Manhattan and Brooklyn received $2,000 each; the Borough President's office in Queens, $1,200; the Bronx, $1,600, and Richmond, $1,000, and the Mayor's Committee on National Defense received $5,200.

QUESTIONED KONTA ON ALBERT LETTERS

Government Sought to Know Attitude of Head of Hungarian Loyalty League.

SAID HE WAS PRO-FRENCH

Told of Karolyi's Visit and the Help He Gave—Attacks Palmer In Statement.

Publicity was given yesterday to the fact that the Government is in possession of several letters which Alexander Konta, who is working for the Committee on Public Information for $1 a year as head of the Hungarian Loyalty League, wrote to Dr. Heinrich Albert, then the financial attaché of the German Embassy, in January and February, 1915. In one of the letters Konta referred to "the proposition which we have discussed at our several conferences," and added: "I do emphatically believe that the proposition can absolutely be carried out so far as it applies to yourself." In another letter he suggested the publication of a letter to be signed by himself, (Konta,) and which he wrote Albert he was "fully convinced" would prove of "great sensational advantageto the cause of German sympathy."

Konta was examined at length recently regarding these letters. A stenographic record of that examination shows that he was called upon to explain what he meant, and that he replied that the letters referred to a suggestion which he had made to Albert to offer $1,000 through the newspapers to any person who could prove that the communiqués of the German General Staff regarding the progress of military operations in Europe were false. The inclosures which are referred to in the letters are not in the possession of the Government.

In that same examination Konta said that he was "intensely pro-French," and never had been pro-German. He told of a visit that Michael Karolyi made to this country before the war started, and said that he had helped Karolyi with a fund which was to be used in starting a revolt in Hungary against Austria. Karolyi, he said, collected for the revolt between $45,000 and $50,000. He said that he introduced Karolyi to various people, and that he proposed that 1,000,000 persons, citizens as well as non-citizens, should have an opportunity to help finance the revolt.

The first letter to Dr. Albert was written Jan. 29, 1915, and was as follows:

Jan. 29, 1915.

H. F. Von Albert, Esq., 45 Broadway, New York.

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.

Dear Mr. Von Albert: I inclose a copy of a letter which I propose should be sent to the newspapers of New York, bearing my signature.

Of course, I have made conditions of the most liberal nature; as you can easily see this will be necessary. I am fully convinced that the publication of this letter will be of great sensational advantage to the cause of German sympathy. The accusations have been so persistent that I believe such a challenge would make a splendid impression, the more because of its fairness.

Now, I take you into my confidence in this matter to secure the benefit of your opinion, but also, I do not feel in a position to undertake the payment of this money myself. I offer to pay my share, but believe that patriotic Germans and other sympathizers should also be willing to pay their share. You realize that it is very probable that the money will never have to be paid, but we will have to send the check.

Will you not please give me your opinion promptly on both questions as to whether you deem the idea a good one and as to whether you think the rest of the money can be found?

With sincere regards, very truly yours,
ALEXANDER KONTA.

The second letter follows:

Feb. 23, 1915.

Hon. H. F. Albert, 43 Broadway, New York.

Dear Mr. Albert: With reference to the proposition which we have discussed in our several conferences, I write to inform you that I do emphatically believe that the proposition can absolutely be carried out so far as it applies to yourself. But while I feel convenced of this, I also would say that it can only be done under circumstances of complete mutual confidence, and in this connection I must tell you, for your better understanding of my position, that I have always acted primarily from patriotic motives, and it seems that there are associates who will have to be interested and who will look for profits and who will not undertake the proposition without substantial gain to themselves.

Permit me again, nevertheless, to point out to you my belief in the feasibility of the plan, which seems especially certain to me for the reason that all the conditions enumerated can be satisfactorily adjusted right in this city.

In conclusion I wish to to thank you very much for your consideration of me in the matter, with which I trust you will be able to go forward successfully.

With kindest regards, believe me,
Sincerely yours,
ALEXANDER KONTA.

Konta in answer to questions put to him by a Federal official said that he and Albert had discussed in a not-too-friendly way the reports of the German General Staff and that he, Konta, had doubted the accuracy of the statements. Finally he suggested, he said, that a reward of $1,000 be offered to any one who could prove them to be false. He said it was this $1,000 prize that he had in mind when he wrote to Albert that he would pay his share and that he believed "patriotic Germans and other sympathizers" would be willing to pay their share. He said that the letter of Feb. 23 also referred to the $1,000 prize proposition.

Konta also testified that he had always favored the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France, and that he had so expressed himself. When asked who heard him declare in favor of the restoration of the French provinces he replied that the two daughters of the late Algernon St. John Brenon heard him say so. He said that he was one of the most-hated of all men, so far as the Germans were concerned, especially, he added, after the Lusitania was torpedoed.

Mr. Konta was then confronted with a speech he made in December, 1915, months after the sinking of the Lusitania, in which, as published in a Hungarian newspaper, he is quoted as saying:

"The backbiting poison was strengthened by the sinking of the Lusitania, on board of which American munitions consigned to England had been entrenched behind American lives."

Alexander Konta last night gave out the following statement:

"Mr. A. Mitchell Palmer has used his office as custodian of enemy alien property to attack me because his candidate for Governor was beaten by the 'wets' in the Pennsylvania primaries, but is Mr. Palmer himself so innocent of German propaganda as he pretends?

"Who was the famous 'M. P.' of the Albert papers, printed in The New York World in August, 1915, which revealed the operations of German propaganda in this country? Who was the 'M. P.' sent by 'Special Agent' Levy to the White House to sound out the President secretly for the benefit of the Germans? Will Mr. Palmer produce the documents in that case?

"Dr. Albert, whom I met several times at social dinners, made the statement that the German General Staff never gave out an untruthful statement. I doubted that, and so expressed myself. Then I suggested to him, if he was so sure about this thing, to offer a prize of $1,000 to any one who could prove the contrary. I discussed this proposition, before I took it up with this man Albert, with several citizens of the highest repute."

SHIPLACOFF AND REED INDICTED FOR SEDITION

Both Accused of Upholding the Bolsheviki and Denouncing American Intervention.

Abraham I. Shiplacoff, Assemblyman in the Twenty-third District of Brooklyn, and now a Socialist candidate for Congress, was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury on three counts yesterday, each of them charging disloyalty to the United States. The indictment is based on a speech Shiplacoff made at a Bolshevist meeting last week in the course of which he denounced the United States and the Allies for landing troops in Siberia to aid the Czechoslovak forces.

Shortly after the Shiplacoff indictment was filed another indictment was handed down against John Reed, the friend of Trotzky and defender of Bolshevism. This indictment, like that against Shiplacoff, was based on remarks made by Reed at a meeting held in this city a few days ago at which Reed defended Trotzky and Lenine and accused Great Britain of inspiring the attempt that was made to assassinate Lenine. The indictments were found under the new espionage law, and in the event of conviction the accused may be sent to the Federal Penitentiary for twenty years on each count.

Shiplacoff at the Bolshevist meeting, held in Hunt's Point Palace, the Bronx, on the 13th of the month, said that the United States and the Allies were now treating the Russians in the same way as the Hessians treated the United States during the War of the Revolution. That part of his speech which is quoted in the indictment reads:

And I call particularly tonight upon the young men and women who have had the good fortune of being born in this country, who have had the good fortune of getting even a smattering of the history of this country, to put themselves for one moment in the position of those people (the Bolsheviki) about whom this meeting is held tonight. Let us for a moment imagine that during the struggle of America against the autocracy of England in 1776, let us imagine for one moment that any other European country or American country had come and tried to interfere in our effort to straighten out matters for ourselves the best way our forefathers in this country knew how. You well remember with what bitter feelings your teachers have tried to plant in you a sort of hatred against the Hessians, those soldiers who came from the other side, hired to do the work of King George III. against the American Colonists, and those were only the rarmg of the people; they were the hired murderers who came here to do the bidding of King George III.; think how much more bitter the Russian people today have a right to feel against people who, in the name of democracy, in the name of everything that seems to be sacred, come there and hand out the same dose to Russia today which was handed out by the Hessians to the American Republic.

The first count against Shiplacoff charges that he "willfully, knowingly, and feloniously uttered and published disloyal, scurrilous, and abusive language about the military and naval forces of the United States, namely, the armed forces of the United States now operating in Siberia," when he uttered the words already quoted "in the presence of about 3,000 persons, among whom were many of Russian birth and extraction." The second count charges that Shiplacoff's utterances were "intended to bring into contempt, scorn, contumely, and disrepute" the American forces now operating in Siberia, while the third and last count charges that his remarks were such as to incite, provoke, and encourage resistance to the American forces now operating with the Czechoslovaks and Japanese in the Far East.

Shiplacoff came to this country from Russia when he was 6 years old. He is a former labor editor of The Jewish Daily Forward, and was at one time Secretary and Treasurer of the United Hebrew Trades. As a member of the Assembly he has opposed all military preparedness legislation.

Reed's indictment is in practically all respects like that returned against Shiplacoff. At the meeting he is charged with having described the Siberian expedition as follows:

This intervention that I am talking to you about is not allowed to be spoken about here in any other way than the Government wants it to be spoken about. But in every other country in the world, in France and in Italy, the intervention is characterized very boldly as a direct adventure of brigands. In its issue of Aug. 6 The Manchester Guardian, the greatest Liberal paper in England, if not in the world, characterized this intervention as absolutely nothing but an expedition to recover for the French banks the interest on the national debt.

Both indictments recite that at the time the remarks were made the United States was at war with Germany and that the forces referred to by the defendants were then "operating in the vicinity of Vladivostok, Siberia, for the purpose of guarding Vladivostok and safeguarding the country in the rear of the Czechoslovaks."

The trial of Max Eastman, Reed, and other persons identified with the publication of the paper known as The Masses, which was to have started yesterday, has been postponed until next Monday. The defendants in this case are charged with conspiracy to obstruct the operation of the national military laws.

Stafford Defends Brisbane.

Representative William H. Stafford of Wisconsin defended Arthur Brisbane, who had been denounced by Representative Black of Texas. The latter said that the prohibitionists had never attempted to buy a newspaper, as had the brewers in putting up money to buy The Washington Times.

"Mr. Palmer has gone out of his way to cast odium upon Mr. Brisbane, as loyal a man as can be found," said Mr. Stafford. "The character of campaign followed by the Anti-Saloon League by tying men to Germany is unfair and un-American and will react upon Mr. Palmer and his kind.

"I know that Mr. Brisbane has favored the use of beer and wine and was opposed to whisky for more than seven years, for I heard him make such a speech as long ago as that," explained Mr. Kahn.

All attempt to defeat the effect of the prohibition amendment were defeated by overwhelming votes. An amendment to provide that the sale should cease on Dec. 31, 1919, was defeated by a vote of 112 to 52, and another amendment to compensate the distillers for whisky in bond on June 30 was ruled out on a point of order.

DISCUSS BRISBANE INQUIRY.

Senators May Investigate Other Newspapers with Washington Times

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—An investigation into the charges of A. Mitchell Palmer, Alient Enemy Property Custodian, that the brewing interests furnished money for the purchase of The Washington Times, of which Arthur Brisbane is editor, was set under way in the Senate Judiciary Committee today behind closed doors.

For two hours members of the committee talked over a plan of procedure, but came to no point. It was decided to appoint a sub-committee to lay down the scope of inquiry. Its members are Senators Overman, King, Sterling, Nelson, and Wolcott. The committee will make no move until Thursday, when Senator Overman, Chairman, returns from North Carolina.

The committee debated today whether to investigate the Palmer charges as affecting The Washington Times or to conduct an inquiry into other newspaper publications which are alleged to have fallen under suspicion. It was agreed that, if there was evidence at hand, the inquiry would also touch upon any influence of German propaganda that might have been exerted with reference to various publications. The committee went partly into that phase of investigation some time ago when it inquired into the activities of the German-American Alliance, which was later disbanded.

New York brewers found little comfort yesterday in the makeup of the subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, to which was intrusted plans for the investigation of the activities of the brewers in supplying money to buy newspapers. They said that a committee more fundamentally hostile to their interests could hardly have been appointed.

Senator Overman was opposed to the brewers because the sentiment in North Carolina is for nationwide prohibition by a large majority, so the brewing interests said. Senator King was one of the irreconcilable Senators in the matter of German spies. Not long ago he said in the Senate that there were more than 100,000 German spies at work in this country. When Senator Wolcott ran for the Senate the Prohibitionists put him on their ticket. Mr. Sterling is from South Dakota, which has passed the Federal prohibition amendment, and Senator Nelson is for the amendment.

New York brewers yesterday were not inclined to take a rosy view of the prospects of the investigation. Furthermore, several brewers, although not willing to be quoted, said they did not think Arthur Brisbane had made out a very strong case for himself in the statement he issued in his own defense and published yesterday morning.

'SLACKERS' TO BE THE CRY

Local Boards Will List Those Positions in Which Women Should Be Substituted.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Elimination of men from employment in nonessential industries by characterizing them as "slackers" and the consequent addition of nearly half a million men to labor forces available for war work is planned by the United States Employment Service.

Community Labor Boards throughout the country were notified today by N. A. Smythe, director of the service, to prepare and have published lists of industries in which women could be substituted for men. The boards were urged to hold up to public shame any man who continued in work not essential to the prosecution of the war.

The industries in which women can take the places of men are expected to follow the general lines laid down recently by the War Labor Policies Board and include such work as accounting and cashier service and salesmanship. The local boards will be guided largely, it was said, by conditions in their own communities in issuing the lists of industries in which the work should be done by women.

To the local boards also will be left largely the method of dealing with men who remain in the industries classed as nonessential, but it was said the "work-or-fight" order would be resorted to for all men within the draft age limits, while for others community sentiment would be relied upon.

Y. M. C. A. MEN UNDER FIRE.

One Gave First Aid to a Whole Battalion in St. Mihiel Fighting.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—At the time of the St. Mihiel drive, according to a report issued by the Y. M. C. A., R. E. Richards of San Francisco, one of its workers, was with a battalion on the front line when twenty-seven officers, including the only surgeon with the party, were killed or wounded by one shell. Richards, having had medical training, gave first aid to the entire battalion.

W. G. Ward of Aurora, Neb., is suffering from shell shock, received while giving first aid to the wounded. His condition is not serious. T. R. Weems of Atlanta was with a group of soldiers when a shell struck near him, killing fourteen men. He remained on duty for two days after.

Four Secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. at Thiacourt work and sleep under almost constant shell fire.

There are 400 Y. M. C. A. workers near St. Mihiel with the American Army. Mrs. Francis [illegible]ot Hickok of New York is serving hot [illegible]ocolate to the soldiers twelve hours [illegible]y. The work is being done in a stable. Mrs. Hickok has no stove, and the chocolate is cooked in tin cans in a fireplace.

$280,000,000 TO AID BELGIANS AND FRENCH

Hoover Announces Relief Schedule for Next Twelvemonth—Second-Hand Clothing Needed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Herbert C. Hoover, as Chairman of the Committee for the Relief of Belgium, announced today the amount of foodstuffs which it would be necessary to ship during the next twelve months to prevent severe suffering among the 10,000,000 Belgians and French now within the territory occupied by the Germans.

It was stated that, in addition to the fleet of vessels controlled by the Relief Commission, 200,000 tons of shipping obtained from the Swedish Government for use outside the submarine zone had been turned over for relief work.

Here is the schedule of foodstuffs necessary for the coming year: Wheat, barley, rye and corn for bread purposes, 42,500,000 bushels; beans, 2,200,000 bushels; rice, 3,300,000 bushels; corned beef, 26,400 pounds; pork products, 277,200,000 pounds; coffee, 28,000,000 pounds. Food for the children; cocoa, 18,000,000 pounds; condensed milk, 55,000,000 pounds; sugar, 40,000,000 pounds. The schedule also calls for 66,000,000 pounds of soap.

The food scheduled, with the native products, it was said, would give an average ration of about 2,000 calories, or one-half the consumption of the American people.

Mr. Hoover said that the program as outlined would cost for purchase and transportation approximately $280,000,000. The money has been arranged for on the basis of advances to be made by loans from the United States to the Belgian and French Governments in amounts sufficient to pay for the material purchased in the United States. The British and French Governments are advancing in Europe the sums necessary to meet the expenditures made there for shipping and for foodstuffs coming from quarters other than the United States.

Foodstuffs are delivered through the commission up to the Belgian frontier, where the distribution and rationing are taken in charge by the Belgian and French commissions organized by the Americans in the early stages of the war. The security of both imported and native food production from German requisition is guaranteed by the Dutch and Spanish Governments, who maintain agents in the occupied area to see that the production and distribution are not interfered with by the Germans.

Attention also is called by Mr. Hoover to the fact that the Belgian and French populations in the occupied territory are in great need of clothing. The difficulty in securing newly fabricated clothing, owing to the shortage of wool and the necessities of the armies, compels the commission to rely practically altogether upon second-hand clothing. About 20,000 tons of this material will be needed during the next twelve months. More than 5,000 tons already have been collected through the American Red Cross, and the commission expresses the hope that the people of the United States will continue to give their support to this work.

PERSHING THANKS MOTHERS

Set Splendid Example for Sons at Front, General Cables.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 23.—Mrs. Gertrude Schulz, Acting President of the War Mothers of America, during the recent first annual convention of that organization here, today received a cablegram from General Pershing, in answer to one sent by the convention pledging unlimited support to the American Expeditionary Forces. The message from the American General says:

"The splendid example of patience and bravery which American mothers have set for their sons is a tremendous inspiration to the American Expeditionary Forces. In the name of these troops I thank you for a message which assures us of this courageous spirit.

BRIDGEPORT AWARD LEFT TO EXAMINER

NINE RULINGS ARE MADE

Chairman Taft Explains That the Board Does Not Prevent the Right to Appeal.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 23.—William H. Taft, sitting as Chairman of the section of the National War Labor board handling the Bridgeport award case, announced today that the section did not come to Bridgeport to upset the award and, after a twelve-minute hearing gave authority to Alpheus Winter, the local examiner, to rule on all questions of the award.

Mr. Winter tonight gave out nine rulings and interpretations intended to make clear to the manufacturers and the employes the questions raised by the Eidlitz award.

William H. Taft and Frank P. Walsh, as joint Chairmen, presided at the War Labor Board hearing. Loyal A. Osborne and Thomas Savage were the other members of the board present. Mr. Taft said that an appeal on the Eidlitz award could be made only to Mr. Eidlitz, as arbitrator, the War Board disclaiming jurisdiction over that phase of the case. He declared the board was not foreclosing the right of either side to appeal for a re-hearing of the entire Bridgeport issue, if the rulings of the examiner do not satisfy both sides.

The first ruling in Mr. Winter's announcement says that "the institution of collective bargaining, including the organization of shop committees, is to be established solely under the direction of the Examiner, and no independent action will be permitted."

Another paragraph reads: "The eight-hour basic day provision, so far as compensation is concerned, is to be retroactive to the same dates as increased rates of pay."

The dates were given as May 1, June 26, and July 1, 1918.

Employers are ordered to pay retroactive compensation by Oct. 1.

The Examiner has sole power to hear charges of discrimination, to investigate and to reinstate the employe if the charges are sustained. Another ruling reads:

"All strikers who returned to work at the President's request have the option of reinstatement in their old positions." Plans for the formation of the local Board of Mediation and Conciliation are also outlined.

BOARD TO CONTROL COTTON DISTRIBUTION

Commission to Investigate Industry Also Is Appointed, While Southerners Continue Protests.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—First steps looking to the fixing of prices for standard grades of raw cotton were taken today by the Government in the naming of two committees, one to investigate the entire cotton situation, and the other to control, during the period of this inquiry, the distribution of cotton by purchasing all cotton needed by the United States and the Allies, at prices to be approved by the President.

Before the War Industries Board made public the personnel of the committees, Senators and Representatives from the Southern cotton growing States met with members of the Cotton States Marketing Board to discuss the proposed price fixing. The conference adopted a resolution setting forth that it opposed price fixing in principle, and appointed a committee to represent the facts to the Government Committee of Inquiry in an effort to convince it that price fixing was not necessary.

The members of the committee to purchase for the Government and the Allies are: Charles J. Brand of the Department of Agriculture, Chairman; William M. Clayton, Houston, Texas, member of a large cotton firm operating in Texas and Oklahoma; J. Temple Gwatmey, New York, member of a large cotton firm with branches in many cities, and Edward H. Inman, Atlanta, Ga., former cotton merchant, now acting as a purchasing agent for the Government.

Thomas W. Page, Vice Chairman of the Tariff Commission was named Chairman of the Committee of Inquiry, which is to hold hearings over the cotton-growing States. The other members are W. R. Beattie, Greenville, S. C., President of the Piedmont Manufacturing Company; R. L. Bennet, Paris, Texas, cotton grower; Ward M. Burgess, Omaha, Neb., retail merchant; Edward Farnham Green, Boston, former President of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers; J. C. Redmon, St. Mathews, S. C., cotton grower; M. P. Sturdivant, Glendora, Miss., cotton grower, and S. W. Wells, New Orleans, cotton factor.

The Committee of Inquiry, it was announced, has met and discussed the cotton situation and adopted this resolution:

Resolved: That the Committee on Cotton Distribution be authorized immediately to allot cotton as to quantity and grade to all domestic and foreign consumers, and that they also be authorized to buy cotton, if and when necessary, for the requirements of the United States and allied Governments.

Resolved Further, That the Cotton Committee feels that this will have an important effect in stabilising prices, but in the meantime it will keep in touch with the whole situation with a view to determining the effect of this action and whether price fixing or any other measure will be necessary.

URGES FIGHT ON BOLSHEVISM

Mrs. Pankhurst Says It Is War's Greatest Danger.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, founder of the Woman's Party in England, was the speaker at a meeting under the auspices of the Woman's National Committee of the American Defense Society at the Princess Theatre yesterday, and urged the women to war work. She told of the work her party had done in Great Britain in working against Bolshevism and urged women here to fight it as the greatest danger in the war..

"They say there are not enough ships coming from Hog Island," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "and if there are not enough men to do the work the women must go into it. A shipbuilder in England has said he could build a battleship with women workers. If the women there can do it the women here can. Ask the women workers in England what they will do if the men 'down the tools,' and they say, 'We will take them up.'"

A woman in the audience asked what was done with men working in the industries to create strikes and disturbances.

"If they can be proved to be Germans and spies there is a short road for them in all of the allied countries," said Mrs. Pankhurst. "If they are young men the best thing is to put them under military discipline and send them to the front, as President Wilson says he will do here. There is another class, the cranks, who are wrong headed and willing to stir up trouble without pay. They are not normal, and what can you do with them?"

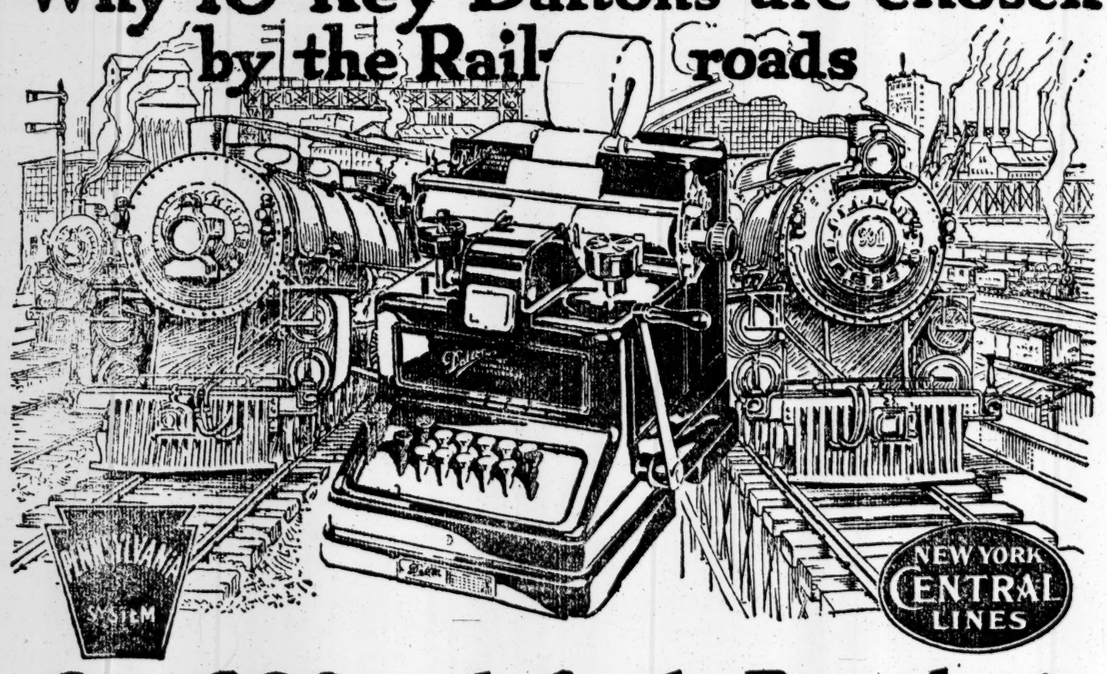
Why 10-Key Daltons are chosen by the Railroads



Over 200 work for the Pennsylvania

Our Railroads are America's largest industrial corporations. Their daily figure work is enormous. Machines are subject to heavy duty and are bought for organizations, not individual preferences.

The number of DALTONS used by the Pennsylvania System is typical of DALTON demand. The simple 10-Key keyboard is instantly grasped by any employee. Accuracy is assured because the opportunity for error is eliminated. A figure item of six figures, followed by one of four figures, followed by one of one cent—the DALTON puts dollars under dollars, cents under cents automatically.

That is one reason why the DALTON is the fastest adding and listing machine made. It saves miles of hand movements, saves continuous eye reference to figures and keys. Operators attain unequalled speed because they operate by touch. Make a test on your own work and see for yourself.

Phone Barclay 5350 for Demonstration.

The DALTON adds, subtracts, multiplies, divides, figures interest and chain discounts, adds two totals at once, makes out statements, tabulates. Let us bring a machine to your office for your inspection, or write for booklet today.

FIND 114 NEW CASES OF INFLUENZA HERE

Health Commissioner Says Heeding of Warnings Will Prevent Spread of Illness.

NO NEED FOR ISOLATION

Hospitals to Observe a "Modified Quarantine" — 10,000 Placards Forbid Coughing and Sneezing.

One hundred and fourteen cases of Spanish influenza originated in New York City in the sixty hours ended at 6 o'clock last night, according to Health Commissioner Copeland. This number equals but does not exceed the highest daily average of cases reported to the Health Department. Commissioner Copeland is confident the illness is not spreading alarmingly, and says he hopes the public will heed the warnings against sneezing.

In addition to the 114 cases reported yesterday as originating in this city, thirty-six cases were reported from a British troopship. They were members of the crew, and were taken to the Willard Parker and the Kingston Avenue Hospitals. The ship will be fumigated. Only one death from pneumonia following Spanish influenza was reported for the sixty-hour period ended at 6 o'clock last night.

Of the new cases reported, thirty-one were in Manhattan, forty-three in Brooklyn, thirty-two in the Bronx, three in Queens, and five in Richmond. In Manhattan all the cases were civilians except one soldier visiting home. The Brooklyn cases included one sailor and two Federal officials. The Richmond cases went to the Marine Hospital, and twelve of the Manhattan cases went to Lincoln Hospital.

Pneumonia Cases Here.

There were nine cases of pneumonia reported to the Department of Health yesterday, and two of these developed from Spanish influenza. Eight of the cases were in the Bronx and one in Queens.

About 10,000 placards bearing the following notice have been posted on railroad trains entering the city, on the city's surface, elevated, and subway lines, in motion picture theatres and other public places:

"To prevent the spread of Spanish influenza, sneeze, cough, or expectorate, (if you must,) in your handkerchief. You are in no danger if every one heeds this warning."

Health Commissioner Copeland also issued the following statement:

"The Superintendents of hospitals are apparently in doubt as to the proper attitude to assume with reference to accommodating persons suffering from influenza. A number of them are under the impression that unless they provide an isolation ward or isolation rooms, they will not be permitted by the regulations of the Department of Health to care for these cases.

"If the prevalence of influenza increases to any degree, it will be manifestly impossible to provide hospital care for any considerable proportion of the cases, and the general hospitals will have to be depended on to assist. The restriction upon isolation of patients in hospitals should, therefore, not be severe. A modified quarantine will be accepted by the Department of Health in institutions. In other words, their patients may be kept in the general ward, but separated from pneumonia cases so as to avoid the danger of superadding a pneumococcus or other bacterial infection to the attack of influenza. Moreover, ample space should be allowed between the beds, and screens should be placed around the beds of patients suffering from influenza, so as to prevent the transmission of influenza to other ward patients through coughing, sneezing or other means of contact.

"It is of course assumed that nurses who care for influenza patients will be instructed in each institution to wash their hands before coming in contact with other patients, and that they will exercise due caution with regard to the destruction and care of discharges from the nose, mouth, throat and respiratory system."

F. D. Roosevelt Recovering.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, who has been ill from influenza at his mother's home, 47 East Sixty-fifth Street, continued to improve yesterday.

Private George Titmas of 110 Putnam Street, Paterson, N. J., on furlough from Camp Dix, was quarantined in his home yesterday by order of Dr. William Neer, City Health Officer of Paterson. An effort is being made to obtain a definite diagnosis.

With about forty diagnosed cases in two weeks, twenty houses in the North Summit section of Summit, N. J., are under quarantine for Spanish influenza. The situation in Summit is reported to be well in hand according to Health Officer Dr. Henry P. Dengler. The difficulty in fighting the disease, especially in the North Summit section, is keeping visitors out of the sick rooms.

65 DEATHS AT CAMP DEVENS.

But Surgeons Believe Illness There Is Under Control.

AYER, Mass., Sept. 23.—Although sixty-five deaths resulting from influenza and pneumonia occurred at Camp Devens during the last twenty-four hours, officials expressed confidence today that the height of the epidemic had passed. Many organizations within the camp reported no new cases.

More army doctors have been ordered here to assist, among them being Colonel Victor C. Vaughn, former Professor of Medicine at the University of Michigan, and Colonel William Welch, formerly of the faculty of Johns Hopkins University. They will be assigned to work with Colonel Channing Frothingham of Boston, commander of the base hospital. There were between 600 and 6,000 cases of influenza and pneumonia under treatment at the camp today.

"Seven camps reported influenza for the first time today," said the official announcement from the office of the Surgeon General of the army. "These and the number of cases reported from each camp, are: Taylor, 87; Colt, Penn., 32; Grant, 70; Sevier, 2; Sherman, 1; Pike, 1; Green, 1. J., with 1,897 cases to date is second in point of seriousness. At Camp Devens the number of pneumonia cases is high, 424 new cases having been reported during the past four days. For the previous two weeks the average number of cases per week was 45.

"The total number of influenza cases by camps is as follows: Greene, 1; Logan, 175; McClellan, 11; Sevier, 2; Syracuse, 596; Devens, 10,700; Dix, 1,897; Funston, 181; Gordon, 419; Grant, 70; Humphreys, 209; Jackson, 794; J. When Lafayette shaved in America

WHEN Lafayette put aside the pomp and ruffles of the French Court, and became a fighter for your liberty and mine, he brought with him his beautifully chased set of razors.

As a soldier, he realized the part they would play in keeping him fit. But after he was wounded at Brandywine, the young general found it was not so easy to shave unaided, for in spite of their sweetness of balance and true French temper, his razors lacked the common sense element of safety. What Lafayette needed was the double-edged, detachable, guarded blade of the

LEONARD AND LEWIS BOX SPIRITED DRAW

Rival Champions Pummel Each Other Without Advantage In Eight-Round Bout.

25,000 FANS AT RINGSIDE

Police and Officials Unable to Control Mob Which Seeks Seats of Vantage.

When Benny Leonard and Ted Kid Lewis, the lightweight and welterweight champions, finished their eight-round bout at Weidenmeyer's Park in Newark last night the honors were about even although Lewis gave Leonard the toughest scrap of his career. The cleverness and aggressiveness of Lewis were always evident to make a barrier for Benny's skillful glove work.

Lewis was so quick that Leonard was never able to take the upper hand, as he has done against his other opponents. Leonard executed the only damage that was done in the fight, when he opened a cut over Ted's right eye in the middle of the scrap.

It was a case of two ring masters both handling themselves so cautiously and cleverly that most of the boxing was of the defensive sort. Not once during the eight rounds was either of the glove experts able to land a blow that even resembled a knockout punch.

Lewis's long arms were a constant worry to the lightweight champion, and Lewis made good use of them, especially in the infighting.

But when Lewis was traveling at his fastest pace Leonard was ever ready to side step and duck the wild swings which Lewis started but rarely ever finished.

The eight rounds failed to show which of the boxers was master, and it would require a much longer route before either one could be proclaimed the winner.

A prettier exhibition of finer points of self defense would be hard to imagine, for each man resorted to all the tricks of the mitt game to protect himself. Both took a hand at leading but every rally which was started by either boxer eventually ended in a harmless clinch.

The bout attracted more interest than any fight which has taken place in this vicinity for years. In the mob of 25,000 persons which were jammed into the park so thick that it was impossible to move around the aisles, were fight fans from Boston, Philadelphia, and New Jersey, but the greater part of them were from New York, and every well-known sportsman from Manhattan was somewhere at the ringside.

The clean, solid blows landed by either boxer were few and far between. Both were so agile and shifty that only the glancing burst of the light tan eight-ounce gloves tended to scrape the faces of the champions.

While both men tried hard to get in an effective punch, the speed and power of the wallops were halted before they reached their mark. It was a fast, spirited bout in which neither champion lost any of the honor and prestige both have gained with the acquisition of their pugilistic crowns.

Fight Under Way Quickly.

Leonard and Lewis came into the ring at 10:45. Captain Frank Glick, physical director at Camp Upton, was in Benny's corner with Billy Gibson. Both boxers were trainedt o the minute. The five-pound advantage Lewis had on his opponent was hardly noticeable. The referee was Patsy Kline of Newark.

Lewis lost no time at the start, and clipped Benny with a right swing. Leonard was cautious and merely jabbed with his left. Leonard pawed Lewis's jaw with a left swing. After fiddling around for several seconds, Lewis caught Benn's jaw with a left swing. Leonard was content to jab with his left, and appeared a little nervous. Lewis was the aggressor in the opening round.

It has always been Leonard's boast that his opponents were unable to muss the part in his hair, but Lewis did it in the first round. Benny ducked a terrific right swing in the second round and came back at Lewis with a smashing left to the jaw. Lewis forced Leonard to the ropes, and again mussed up his hair. Benny's persistent left jabs brought a glow to Lewis's usually pale cheeks. Benny gained confidence in himself during the round.

The two champions rushed into a clinch in the third round, and after they were separated Benny jarred Lewis's jaw with a left hook. Leonard successfully blocked Lewis's frantic attempts to reach his jaw. The lightweight title holder danced and ducked so skillfully that many of Lewis's punches missed their mark.

Lewis Seeks Opening.

In the fourth round Lewis made a vain attempt to lead, but Benny covered himself well. Then followed a fast bit of infighting, Leonard peppering his rival's jaw with a left. Both boys were still very cautious and played safe. In a clinch Lewis landed two rights on Benny's ear. The boxing was about an even thing at this stage of the scrap, and neither boxer had suffered any damage.

Leonard ripped a hard right to Lewis's jaw at the start of the fifth, and ducked prettily when Lewis sent over a wild right counter. Lewis got one pretty left on Leonard's head, but Benny promptly sent him back with a snappy right to the mouth. The pair of champions then began to box at close range, both boys getting in several solid punches to the face.

Leonard's right eye was irritated where Ted's glove had brushed across it, and Lewis's face was red on the cheekbones from Benny's jolts. Lewis danced merrily around Benny in the sixth, but few of his long-arm jabs landed. Several clinches in this round brought hisses from the crowd. Lewis again became the aggressor, but Leonard made him cautious by clipping him with jabs as he rushed in.

Leonard worried Lewis with his quick left jab in the seventh and soon the boxers were mixed up in a shower of gloves. Leonard did some pretty feinting on Ted's vicious swings and they failed to land. Benny's left jabs opened up a cut on Lewis's right eye and the crowd yelled frantically. Benny held the whiphand in this spirited round.

Before the final round Lewis's seconds patched up his right eye. The welterweight swung wildly as Benny danced away and jolted Lewis's red, swollen face with tantalizing left jabs. Lewis tried hard to get over a chance knockout, but Leonard was too alert. Benny rushed Lewis to the ropes just before the final bell, but Lewis cleverly covered up.

Mob Storms Gates.

There were scenes of wild disorder outside of the park before the bouts began. The management was swamped, and the stream of spectators almost swept the ticket takers from the turnstiles. A handful of policemen tried to keep the crowd in line, but the cops were lost in the whirlpool of humanity. Some of the spectators were crushed in the mob, and thousands who held tickets were forced to fight for an hour before reaching the gates.

All the roads leading to the park were jammed with street cars, automobiles and buses. The congestion was so great that several men fainted. The mob in the bleachers got restless during the first bout, and broke down the barrier in front of the seats, flooding out into the arena boxes. At two or three places around the fence the boys broke down the boards and got into the park free. The police were powerless to reach them.

The fight attracted the greatest gathering of sporting folks that has congregated in New Jersey in many years. Prominent politicians from all over the State were at the ringside, and Broadway moved over here en masse.

MRS. LYNCH VICTOR AT NET.

Eliminates Mrs. Wilbourn in Hard-Fought Match at Yonkers.

Local feminine tennis campaigners who stormed the courts of the New York Lawn Tennis Club all of last week moved on to the Park Hill Country Club of Yonkers yesterday to engage in an open singles tournament, which promises some exciting battles before the winner is acknowledged. The State singles championship for women and the mixed doubles are yet to be decided at the New York Club and now it is hoped that the winner of the match between Miss Marie Wagner and Miss Bessie Holden will be able to meet Miss Helene Pollak for the title Saturday. The final of the mixed doubles probably will be decided Sunday.

One desperate battle resulted yesterday in the opening engagement at Park Hill when Mrs. E. V. Lynch eliminated Mrs. Percy Wilbourn in a second round contest at 6–3, 2–6, 7–5. Each had advanced through the first round decisively and were prepared for a fight for the laurels. In the first set Mrs. Lynch smashed cleverly, kept Mrs. Wilbourn out of position and carried the set by storm. Mrs. Wilbourn braced in the second set, and by a display of cross-court placements from the back line managed to even up the match. The third set was bitterly waged before Mrs. Lynch was able to break through to take the match.

Miss Pollak was to have played in this tournament, but defaulted her first match, which prevented the playing of the feature event of the day. She had drawn Miss Clare Cassell as opponent. In the New York tournament it was Miss Cassell who defaulted when on the verge of meeting Miss Pollak. These two players have not met in a match since the national championship, when Miss Pollak eliminated Miss Cassell.

Miss Wagner won two matches during the afternoon, disposing of Mrs. E. Conklin in the first round at 6–1, 6–0, and Miss Marian Iler in the second round by 6–2, 6–1. Another double winner was Miss Edith Adele Bagg, who disposed of Mrs. A. B. Duncan and Miss Marion Bogarels.

The O'Boyle brothers from the Pelham Bay Naval Training Station were chiefly concerned in the matches played in the continuation of the men's singles. J. S. O'Boyle met defeat in the third round at the hands of Fred Letson, but H. B. O'Boyle was more successful. He took the measure of Dr. George B. Stanwix at 6–4, 7–5. Letson won his match in three closely fought sets at 5–7, 6–4, 6–4.

The summaries:

GIRL TRIUMPHS AT TENNIS.

Helen Hooker Wins First Match in Longwood Singles.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—A new tennis luminary appeared on the horizon at Longwood this morning in the form of Miss Helen Hooker, a New York girl of thirteen years, and tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock she will oppose Miss Marion Zinderstein, the Newton star, in the second round of the annual Longwood woman's lawn tennis tournament. The youthful New Yorker won her match this morning from Miss William Coffin ,of Johnston, R. I., in straight sets, 6–2, 6–3. Her rather severe service coupled with a consistent steadiness may enable the visitor to defeat her more experienced opponent tomorrow.

There were no upsets recorded this morning, all of the favorites romping through to easy victories. The matches were played on the dirt courts at the Brookline Club.

While Miss Helen Hooker advanced through the first round at the Longwood courts, two older sisters were less fortunate. Miss Adelaide, who is fifteen years old, was eliminated by Mrs. A. A. Shurtleff of this city, while Miss Barbara, who is sixteen, was beaten in the only extra set match of the day. She lost to Mrs. A. Cecil Butler of Brookline, 6–2, 3–6, 6–4.

There was no afternoon play, but a busy program has been mapped out for tomorrow. Singles will be continued in the morning, and a start will be made in the women's doubles. The mixed doubles will start in the afternoon. Among the leading teams entered for the women's doubles are: Miss Molla Bjurstedt and Miss Marion Zinderstein; Miss Barbara and Miss Helen Hooker; Miss Adelaide Hooker and Miss Florence Ballin; Miss Eleonora Sears and Mrs. George W. Wightman.

He took his former position in the back field, where he worked with Williams, Snell, and Killinger.

PURCHASE BEATEN AT EVEN WEIGHTS

Highly Rated Colt Runs Third in Race with Balustrade and Ophelia.

Two-year-olds were in the limelight at Aqueduct yesterday, the Triple Springs Farm's Pen Rose again proving her worth by defeating a field of good fillies in the Beldame Handicap at five furlongs. Pen Rose led practically all the way, and at the finish had a margin of a length on E. R. Bradley's Blushing Beauty, which saved enough ground to enable her to beat John E. Madden's Looking Up.

The only disappointment in the event for fillies was the poor showing of John Sanford's Tuscaloosa, the top weight. Tuscaloosa got away slowly and finished next to last.

The real upset of the day, however, came in the last race, in which the notoriety gained by the Brighton Stable's Purchase by his striving to enter a special race with Billy Kelly and Eternal caused him to be made a prohibitive favorite in another dash at five furlongs.

As in the Futurity, Purchase was slow to get into his running, but made up for this by skinning the rail into the stretch and thus gaining a position that would have enabled him to win if he had displayed the speed expected of a possible competitor of Billy Kelly.

While Purchase was shooting up on the rail, however, the others were having it hammer and tongs in the middle of the stretch. Lad's Love showed in front only to give way to Ophelia, but just as the shouts went up for Mrs. Davis's filly Shuttinger came along with Major R. L. Gerry's Balustrade and squeezed home half a length in front of Ophelia. Purchase was third three lengths behind the filly, which he was meeting on even terms according to the scale. The time for each of the five furlong races was 0:59 2-5.

The supporters of favorites had another unprofitable afternoon, as Syosset in the steeplechase and Pen Rose were the only winning choices.

FOUR FIRSTS FOR SANDE.

Commander Ross's Jockey Club Successful Day at Havre de Grace.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 23.—Jockey Sande was in rare form today, riding four of the seven winners. His first effort was on Commander J. K. L. Ross's Sweeplet, which captured the opening event for two-year-olds. For other owners Sande scored with Sybil in the third, Tootsie in the sixth, and Lytle in the seventh. MISS HARRIS M. TRIUMPHS.

Mare Paces to Victory In Hollow Fashion at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 23.—Ideal racing conditions both under foot and overhead ruled today for the first time since the present Grand Circuit meeting started. The program furnished interesting racing, save for the free-for-all pace which turned out to be a hollow affair.

Only three pacers started, and it was expected to be a battle between William and Miss Harris M., with Peter Nash in the field to do the best he could against his faster rivals. William broke his chin strap as he passed the third turn in the first heat and he was on a break quickly, being badly distanced as a result. Miss Helen M., after two easy miles, paced the third heat in 2:01¼, finishing six lengths ahead of Peter Nash.

BRUNDAGE VICTOR IN PHYSICAL TEST

Chicago A. A. Veteran Wins All-Around Athletic Title for Third Time.

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Sept. 23.—In a remarkable test of endurance, Averyn Brundage, a veteran star of the Chicago Athletic Association, today won the all-around championship, the closing event of the three-day National A. A. U. outdoor track and field carnival at the Great Lakes Naval Station. Brundage had won the premier honors in the National games at Newark in 1916 and at Birmingham, Ala., in 1914. Today's victory ended his unusual athletic career, as he declared he would never compete again.

His triumph was achieved by stamina and versatility. He did not win as many firsts as Earl J. Thompson, a cadet in the Royal Air Force of Toronto, Canada. The Chicagoan, however, finished well up among the leaders in the ten events. He won the shotput and fifty-six-pound weight throw and scored a dead heat in the mile walk.

Nine men competed in the gruelling seven-hour test, and all finished, but they were exhausted at the end. Brundage scored 6,708 points on the basis of a possible 10,000. J. Hellum, a Norwegian athlete, representing the Pastime A. C. of New York, was second with 6,419 points, although he did not win a single individual contest.

Thompson, who won four individual events, was third with 5,152 points. Earl Gilfallan of Great Lakes, a former Notre Dame star; Edward Knourek of Great Lakes, J. R. Fritts of New York, Lieutenant Carl Buck of Kelly Field, Lieutenant N. P. Bluett of Camp Hancock, and W. E. Gartels of the University of Pennsylvania finished in the order named.

The men competed in ten events—the 100-yard dash, shot put, running high jump, half-mile walk, hammer throw, pole vault, 120 high hurdles, 56-pound weight, running broad jump, and the one-mile run were the events. They started at 1 o'clock, and were not finished until after 7.

Thompson accumulated an imposing lead after the first four events had been decided. Brundage's ability counted heavily in the weight events, and he sprang a surprise by walking a dead heat with J. R. Fritts, unattached, formerly of the New York A. C., in the half-mile hike.

His well-rounded performance is shown by his record for the ten events of two firsts, a dead heat, two seconds, a triple tie for second one third, a quadruple tie for third, a fifth, and a victory in one of three heats in which the 100-yard dash was run off.

The all-around competition divided attention with the national relay championship, which resulted in feature brushes in all five races, although none went to record time. Great Lakes Station won the 440-yard relay, Pelham Bay Station's middle-distance men captured both the 880-yard and one-mile events.

The two distance relay events were carried off by the Illinois A. C. of Chicago by the splendid work of National One-Mile Champion Joie W. Ray, as anchorman each time, providing a thrill for every stride in the final laps.

The relay summaries follow:

Giant New York Policeman Entertains Chicago Gaels.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Matt McGrath, New York Athletic Club weight thrower, who won the weight events Saturday in the National A. A. U. outdoor track and field meet at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, captured the 16-pound hammer throw, the 56-pound weight throw, and the 16-pound shot putt at the field meet of the Gaelic Park Athletic Club here yesterday. He threw the 16-pound hammer 177 feet 2 inches, the 56-pound weight 36 feet 1 inch, and put the 16-pound shot 37 feet 4½ inches.

OUR SINGERS REVIVE MELODIOUS 'MIGNON'

American Society Begins Its Opera Comique Season with Plaudits at the Park.

A CHARMING PERFORMANCE

Fresh, Vigorous Voices in New Band —Maggie Teyte Wins Success as Heroine—John Hand the Hero.

MIGNON, opera in three acts and four scenes, based on Goethe's "Wilhelm Meister," the French version by Barbier and Carre translated into English, the music by Ambroise Thomas. At the Park Theatre.

Mignon.....Maggie Teyte
Wilhelm Meister.....John Hand
Philine.....Ruth Miller
Lotario.....Henri Scott
Laerte.....John Phillips

Conductor, Richard Hageman.
Artistic Director, Jacques Coini.

There are songs all the world knows, there are dancing measures that make old hearts young, and they are many in Thomas's "Mignon," which began a season of "opéra comique" by the Society of American Singers at the Park Theatre on Columbus Circle last evening. Geraldine Farrar, in a stage box, stood up for her country's air at the start. The Opéra Comique Orchestra, for which two front rows of chairs were removed, touched off the champagne pop and fizz of polacca and gavotte in a well-played overture, and Richard Hageman bowed many times before a musical audience would even let the curtain go up.

Musically a delight from start to finish, it was no light task to recreate an aristocratic old art of light operatic comedy that for years hasn't existed outside of Paris, and least of all in New York. From the first big quintet and chorus, it was plain that the young company had fresh, vigorous voices for the task. John Hand, a manly, burly fellow, with a natural high tenor, never "thin" and a natural awkwardness as actor, had the hardest part to win public liking. They called him "William" Meister on the stage, though the rôle was printed "Wilhelm" in the programs.

Half spoken in crisp, staccato dialogue and half or wholly vocal when the poetic play demanded singing, the quaint story unfolded itself as something new to audiences today. Maggie Teyte, a diminutive, sincere, and fervent Mignon, was hugely applauded after her famous air, and Henri Scott with her after the duet of the wandering child and the crazy old Count. Ruth Miller showed more sparkle in the powder and puffs, the pretty artificialities and florid arias of Filina than had been expected of so young an artist.

English words "carried" well in the small theatre, and the words were singable, for they were in large part revised by the singers themselves. There were curtain calls and flowers after each act of the opera. The house was well filled to all but the last rows, and there was, best of all, an enthusiastic gallery, which sent down the first thunders of applause.

Coincidence of Composer Born in Metz.

That a musician born in Metz, of all places on the current war maps, should be of interest to Americans goes without saying just now. It was by circumstances not of this war's making, by fortunes not of war at all, that such a man led all composers in the new season's repertory of an organization of native singers at the Park last night, but the fact will hardly have escaped even the casual amusement seeker in days like these, when this country's man power is massed to take the old Lorraine citadel and America's guns are delivering the final message of humanity within Germany's many-fortressed ring of steel. At Metz, when it was yet part and parcel of France, the composer, Charles Ambroise Thomas, was born Aug. 5, 1811, and in Paris, the French capital, he produced in 1866 the chef-d'oeuvre of a late expanding career. His most famous lyric drama, based on a German story, Goethe's "Wilhelm Meister," may well be called in the present eclipse of art abroad, as it was in the piping times of the Second Empire, among "the most successful of modern operas at the Opéra Comique."

"Mignon," darling of France, an artist's brain-child of the lost provinces, had thus a measure of historic significance, of hidden meaning for the new-world ally of France today. The revival had also its moment of patriotism for the most thoughtless hearer last evening, when a frankly cordial first-night audience rose to "The Star-Spangled Banner," the nation's recognized air that is played with "La Marseillaise," now in the upper valley of the Moselle, and played there to men in khaki uniform, brothers-in-arms of those silent youths who filled so many seats in the gay theatre here in New York. In war, no longer was opera silent.

Patriotic Plans of Society.

There was opportunity, moreover, for a heightened interest in the special aims of the Society of American Singers, to reach out to youthful strugglers in the peaceful profession of music a helping hand, to give them the encouragement of public hearing, to persuade them to sing and their audiences to listen to world-famous and favorite melodies in English, their own and America's mother tongue.

Opera comique in its prime estate, involving pauses without either orchestral or the older piano-accompanied recitative, is a rarer bird on the New York stage than most persons outside its present sponsors are aware. When the society gives "The Barber of Seville," tonight, and "Carmen" on Thursday, it remains to be seen how far it is the new company's intention to depart from the grand manner of so-called "full operatic" performance, aggrandized only in setting the once spoken part, recitative secco, "dry" dialogue, indeed, for many—to musical echoes, shreds, and snatches, in harmony with the principal airs.

In "Mignon" the experiment was properly made at the season's start of alternating song and speech. The dual art form offered no tangled web to weave, but its naïve, simple, unaffected style was even now an exotic, a quixotic venture, for a city whose traditional "opera madness" calls for "opera, non verba," for "vox et praeterea nihil."

"Mignon" Rarely Sung Now.

The performance, charming in many ways, was capably staged, sung, and acted, and most promising in all these essentials for operas yet to come. Fresh and fragrant to this generation, it could have recalled to few present hearers the inevitable "past performances," of which, in "Mignon's" case, the tale is soon told. New York's first production was Nov. 22, 1872, at the old Academy under Maurice Strakosch. The Metropolitan's first "Mignon" was Oct. 31, 1883, in Henry Abbey's, and the theatre's first year.

Christine Nilsson, making her second appearance there, "was seen in a part with which she was more intimately associated in the popular mind than any other singer in New York or London." The historian of "Chapters of Opera" mentions other singers not wholly forgotten, among them Capoul, "the most ardent and fascinating lover known to opera in America," and Sofia Scalchi, "who could wear man's attire and walk in tights more gracefully than any other woman who ever appeared on the American operatic stage." Theodore Thomas's American or National Opera Company perhaps sang "Mignon" in English here first.

Marie Van Zandt, another native singer, who in ten years abroad won "as much favor as an American artist ever enjoyed in Paris," brought the French version to new Metropolitan vogue when she sang for Grau Jan. 3, 1892. The Savage-Grau English grand opera season of 1890 had a vernacular "Mignon" not so inferior to the star cast of that year, in which Mr. Grau presented Zelie de Lussan, Suzanne Adams, Salignac and Plançon. Oscar Hammerstein, on Feb. 7, 1907, gave Thomas's work with the most poetic of latter-day Mignons, Bressler-Gianoli, seconded by Bonci, Arimondi, and Pinkert.

Tetrazzini, a famous Filina, was heard in the concert airs. Gatti-Casazza, coming here in 1908, restored the opera briefly with Farrar, Abott, Jacoby, Bonci, and Plançon. On the concert stage, like hope that springs eternal, there have remained always the overture and songs from "Mignon"—the romance, "Knowest Thou the Land," and the "Swallow" duet, the brilliant polacca, and the "Adieu" gavotte.

New Singers, New Repertoires.

"There are no more Mozart operas to go on with," wrote Captain Aldrich in THE TIMES when the Society of American Singers had given "The Impresario" and "Bastienne," with which it started two years ago, and even if there were, he added, a repertoire could not be made up entirely of Mozart. So last year the society wandered afield with Pergolesi, Donizetti, and Gounod, just as this Fall it chose to open a third season with Thomas, Rossini, and Bizet.

Four leading volunteer singers and many of the paid chorus were new to the company last evening. Maggie Teyte, the English soprano, came from the Boston and Chicago troupes, a singer of Debussy and Massenet, and once a Metropolitan Cinderella to Mary Garden's Prince Charming. Ruth Miller, intrusted with Filina's airs, was a Metropolitan débutante Musetta last season. John Hand, a tenor from Utah, hitherto heard in private only, was believed to be a real "find," for the American Singers, while Henri Scott, who sang German formerly at the Metropolitan, had recently appeared at Pittsburgh in French, at his Philadelphia home in Italian, and now here in English opera.

The opera last night, like all those to be produced in a season of some weeks at the Park, was under the artistic stage direction of Jacques Coini, formerly of Hammerstein's Manhattan and the Kingsway in London. From the old Metropolitan came Willy Tyroler, who drilled the young chorus, and Richard Hageman, adroit and authoritative, if not always with the lightest touch, as conductor. The stage was "filled" with life and movement beyond what has come to be expected of the lighter operatic companies, depleted since the war, and there was evidence of ample reinforcement in the mechanical departments behind the scenes.

Lucille Cavanagh Dances at Palace.

Lucille Cavanagh's charm as a dancer is revealed anew at the Palace this week, where she tops the bill both technically and actually with a new and attractive dancing act. The remainder of the bill is largely Mortons, with the oldsters, Sam and Kitty, and four of the second generation performing their accustomed antics in two separate turns. The Avon Comedy Four are present for a second week.

DAMROSCH TALKS OF WAR.

Predicts Overwhelming Victory of Allies After Trip Abroad.

Dr. Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra, who returned several weeks ago from a five weeks' tour of the American front, described his experiences last night at a meeting of the Friends of German Democracy held in the Liederkranz Hall, 111 East Fifty-eighth Street. About 500 were present.

Dr. Damrosch said he returned convinced that there must be an overwhelming American and allied victory. He said that his observation had caused him to believe that in no other way could the German people achieve a democracy and escape from their present Government. On his tour of the front the musician found that the soldiers "adored the Salvation Army," and he himself had admired the fearlessness of the Salvationists in going right up to the front lines to minister to the soldiers.

A great fraternalism has sprung up between the Americans and the French, said Dr. Damrosch, and no matter where one goes in Paris he is bound to find "the inseparables, the pollu and doughboy, linking arms and bound for fun." While at American Headquarters Dr. Damrosch was asked by General Pershing to organize the American Army Bandmasters' School, and this institution, he said, will be opened in October.

SING PUCCINI OPERA.

San Carlo Successfully Gives "La Bohème" for Italian War Relief.

The San Carlo Opera Company made a substantial contribution to the Italian War Relief, and incidentally another popular success for itself at the Shubert Theatre last night, when Mr. Gallo's singers presented "La Bohème," an opera of Puccini not hitherto on their list. Signor Puccini's agents gave the use of the opera free as their share in the benefit, of which about $700 went to the war charity. More than 1,000 persons were turned away.

Giuseppe Agoslini appeared as Rodolfo, a rôle he sang at the opera's first production here twenty years ago, and Marcella Craft sang Mimi, their duet arousing great applause. In the cast were also Mabel Riegelman, Joseph Royer, Enzo Bozzano, Rodolfo Fornari, and Natale Cervi.

Charles A. Baker announced from the stage that in view of the success of "La Bohème" performances, copyright privileges for Puccini's "Madam Butterfly" would also be waived, and that this opera would be substituted for "Martha" next Saturday afternoon, with Miss Craft singing Butterfly.

PLAN HELP FOR SCHOOLS.

Dr. Ettinger Asks Conference to Aid in Problems of War Here.

City Superintendent of Schools William L. Ettinger held a conference yesterday with associate and district superintendents and directors of departments over the educational problems that have to be met. He presented to them for discussion the letter, copies of which were sent by him to teachers, submitting for their consideration school matters as affected by war conditions. This letter and the conference take the place of the conference with principals that Dr. William H. Maxwell used to hold shortly after the beginning of each school year.

One point that Dr. Ettinger made in the letter was that the morale of the nation was the result of the Americanization of the children and of their parents. He spoke of the depletion in the ranks of the teachers and said that this matter had been taken up by President Somers of the Board.

He urged all teachers to remain in the service. He referred to the compensation they received and the increase that had been discussed. He favored a reorganization of the Teachers' Council so that they might have more of a voice in the conduct of the schools.

Dr. Ettinger placed before the superintendents the necessity of revising school studies to meet conditions growing out of the war, and of working out plans to relieve congestion that will increase through the stoppage of the building of new schools. He asked them to consider at once, in consultation with principals and teachers, other ways to improve the schools that their initiative and invention may suggest.

In closing he impressed upon them, and through them upon the supervising and teaching staff, that the greatest encouragement will be offered for all to help to solve the new problems that confront the schools.

'FREEDOM' TO BE SEEN SOON

Spectacular Patriotic Production, with a Cast of 1,000, Is Rehearsed.

A spectacular patriotic production entitled "Freedom," which has the support of a number of well-known persons, is now in rehearsal and will be produced soon at one of the largest theatres in the city, probably the Century. The piece is being presented by Julie Opp (Mrs. William Faversham) and Lee Shubert, and the list of those connected with the enterprise includes Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Clarence H. Mackay, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Davison, and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn. Half of the profits will be turned over to the Association for Disabled Naval and Military Officers.

The piece is the work of E. Lyall Swete and C. Lewis Hind, with music by Norman O'Neil. Mr. Swete, who is directing the play, will be in the cast, which will also include Marcia Van Dresser, Edward Martindel, Arline Hackett, Henry Herbert, J. Harry Irvine, and Clara Eames. There are twenty-eight scenes, ranging from the time of Alfred the Great down to the present, and the piece calls for a cast of more than 1,000. Gustav Ferrari, who will conduct the orchestra, arrives this week from London, where he went to study the score with the composer.

THE STORY OF REVILLON FURS

A Typical Frontier Post

THIS post is typical of many in western Canada. Located in the Peace River country, it was once an important outpost of the fur trade. Now civilization is reaching this region, and the trappers have gone further North where game is more plentiful. To secure the choicer variety of furs the traders must follow them. A great fur trading company has to reckon constantly with the progress of civilization, which drives their business of collecting skins further and further away, requiring the extension of transportation facilities to take in trading goods and bring out the skins.

Every year finds Revillon posts in the North further and further away from the retail establishment in New York where the furs are finally brought.

TERAUCHI.

Count TERAUCHI'S Cabinet has lasted a good deal longer than anybody expected. From the first, strong elements of opposition were arrayed against it. The only question was their possibility and time of coalescence. Particularly since the subject of intervention in Siberia became acute, the predictions of the old Field Marshal's political fall had grown more frequent and ominous.

There has been a sharp difference of opinion in Japan both as to the necessity and the form of intervention. Should it take place? When it did take place, how great force should be used? The Seiyukai party resolved last Spring against immediate mobilization for the purpose. Distressing pictures were drawn by the opposition of the woes that would come upon the middle classes and the working classes if the Japanese army should march into Siberia.

While the franchise is limited in Japan, there is at least as much politics to the square inch there as in the United States. As to the relations between Japan and China, the proper Japanese policy in China, the Japanese politicians, and indeed the military authorities and the Elder Statesmen themselves, are divided. Count OKUMA and the famous demands represent the policy of extreme vigor. Count TERAUCHI represents the more moderate school.

Count TERAUCHI'S administration will be remembered for his gentler Chinese policy, for the Ishii-Lansing agreement, and for the joint expedition into Siberia. Will a Coalition Government be formed or will the Count come back?

The economic distress indicated by the race riots, which were used by the Anti-Terauchians as an argument and a club, is only the other side of the war prosperity of Japan. A few years ago she couldn't make an absurdly small loan in London save at a ridiculous interest. Now she buys British and American bonds. Her banks are stuffed with specie. She has the carrying trade of the Pacific. She is a great manufacturing nation. Tokio and Osaka and Kobe are thick with narikin, the war millionaires, the successors of our shoddy aristocracy of the civil war. Industrially, so far as labor is concerned, Japan is somewhat the same condition that Great Britain was in at the beginning of her industrial development in the eighteenth century. Wages are low. Factory and sanitary laws are not too strictly enforced, because the work is necessary and the competition is keen. In the recent fervid demonstrations against profiteering, monopoly, and new wealth, assisted or not by the politicians, it is possible to see not only an economic but a social and political movement, the first faint, uneasy stir of new democratic forces.

There is no more interesting country than Japan. Brilliant and energetic it will always be, and now it is full of many movements and opinions. A change of government, a change of statesmen there, however, means less interruption of the continuity of national policy than in almost any nation.

LUXEMBURG.

One little country which Germany has drawn into her net must long for deliverance with an intensity of desire surpassed only by that of Belgium. Of the condition and of the state of mind of the people of Luxemburg the world is permitted to know only what Germany is willing it should know. Adjoining Germany on the east and south, where the Lorraine frontier is the boundary, the Woevre country of France and Belgium on the west, Luxemburg is altogether in German possession and control. She lies far behind the Hindenburg line. We know that in the beginning of the war, when the German forces first swept westward, there was indignant protest from the inhabitants and from the ruler of Luxemburg; the Germans paid not the slightest respect to their neutral rights. Though little news has come out of the Grand Duchy since that earlier day, we may be sure that the Luxemburgers are suffering under the same hardships and privations that afflict the Belgians, though there has been no such tale of wanton destruction within their territory.

Germany would like to retain her hold upon Luxemburg, if she could, just as she would like to perpetuate her rule over Belgium and Alsace-Lorraine. There are iron mines in Luxemburg, valuable booty for the Imperial robbers. Less than fifty years ago the Grand Duchy was largely under Prussian control. It was still within the German Customs Union at the beginning of the war, but its independence was established and internationally guaranteed by the Treaty of London in 1867. Germany would naturally appeal to history as establishing a sort of title to dominion there, just as she has appealed to history prior to RICHELIEU'S time in the case of Alsace and Lorraine. No attention would be paid to that. In their enforced retreat, the German troops still in France and Belgium will have to retire beyond the eastern frontier of Luxemburg. It is one of the countries to be redeemed, one of the conditions of peace about which there can be no discussion.

Luxemburg has enjoyed freedom and independence long enough to have a horror of her earlier condition when she was the subject of traffic between Prussia, Belgium, Holland, and France. It is a small country, but the Grand Duchy has the friendship of all the Allies, and it must be an indispensable condition of peace that Germany receive no accessions of territory, that she must surrender all her spoils of war, east and west, that have come into her possession.

VICTORY IN PALESTINE.

General ALLENBY'S victory in Palestine is brilliant, admirable, complete. Two Turkish armies have been practically wiped out; their entire transport has been taken, with 260 guns; 25,000 prisoners are already enumerated, and 40,000 more Turks are said to be cut off by the British possession of the fords of the Jordan, which doubtless will be stoutly maintained against such as are unable to say now shibboleth. This apparently means the destruction of the Turkish forces in Palestine, and it seems to have been accomplished by a masterpiece of the old tactics of envelopment. While the main British army fought its way through the hills of Samaria, a flanking force, headed by cavalry brilliantly used by a commander who is himself a cavalry officer, drove up the coast and cut across the enemy's rear by a manoeuvre which seems to have been as notably successful as any that has ever been seen in the long history of strategy in that region since the days when PHARAOH NECHO went up to fight against CARCHEMISH, and beat the armies of Judah on the way.

England's Arab allies seem to have kept pace with ALLENBY on the fringe of the desert beyond the Jordan, and without doubt the forward movement is only beginning. But manoeuvring through a very sparsely watered country is harder now than in ancient times; ALLENBY'S progress will depend on the rapidity with which he is able to get heavy artillery and its munitions up in the trail of his army. With this qualification, it would appear that the fall of Haifa and Damascus should soon follow—the former giving the British a new line of communications by rail from the sea, and the latter an event which should produce a great moral effect in the Moslem world.

The strength of the Turkish position in this part of the world has been their possession at Aleppo of a base connected by rail with Constantinople, from which aid could be sent, also by rail, to Palestine or Mesopotamia, as the situation required. Aleppo is a long way off, but the army of Palestine is now annihilated, and it may be supposed that the British on the Euphrates will do their best to keep the enemy busy in that quarter. Last Winter General von FALKENHAYN was in general command in these regions, and was reported to have a considerable German force at Aleppo. But now it is said that most, if not all, of these Germans have been recalled to the western front, and of the thirty-seven divisions which the Turks were said to have available in this theatre a very large number have been destroyed in the recent battle. The difficulty of getting up supplies may give the Germans and Turks a respite, but their position can only be bettered, it would seem, by heavy reinforcements which cannot be spared elsewhere. And with the allied fleets controlling the sea, a sudden surprise landing near Aleppo would complete the ruin of the Turkish forces in Syria.

AS TO WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The vote on the woman suffrage amendment will be taken on Thursday. There must be many millions of Americans who believe that, good or bad, suffrage is a matter for the several States to decide for themselves.

While so many easy politicians of all parties are tumbling over one another in their zeal for the mythical "woman vote," it was refreshing to anybody so belated as to believe in political principles to hear Senator BORAH of Idaho, who has worked for woman suffrage for twenty-five years, give his reasoned and philosophical opinion. He has always believed that woman suffrage "is a question which should "be settled by and through the action "of each State for itself"; and he believes so now. Yet in a letter recently published Mr. BORAH says:

> The question involves a vital principle of Government. I cannot reach the conclusion that the right to determine who shall vote should be taken away from the States.
> It involves one of the most serious problems that can be presented. It is a question of changing the whole framework of our Government, because after the States have been robbed of their right to pass upon the question of franchise, there is no longer any State. It is then simply a geographical expression. And you cannot have a big Federal Union without great and powerful commonwealths upon which the Union may rest.
> "The question put up to me by our "women is, Shall I surrender my con"victions touching the framework of "the Government for party expedi"ency?" Mr. BORAH has thought a good deal about the subject, and he "cannot change his convictions for political expediency."

On account of the race question, to force this amendment upon the Southern States is to do them an irremediable injustice:

> When this frightful war is over we will need a united country as never before. The strain upon our frame of Government will be almost beyond description. I cannot, I will not, record my name to a signal act of hardship for a large portion of the country when the same thing can be accomplished by the action of individual States where the people want and are ready for suffrage. The race question has been a fearful load to the South, and as a representative here of the whole country I cannot get my consent to increase the burden.

It is good to see a statesman who thinks of the interests of the whole country, who will not change his life-long opinions overnight, who does not bow to the political fashion of the hour. Mr. BORAH has no illusions about the might of a policy which both parties are rivaling each other to get votes from:

> You may say to the women of my State that, whatever they may conclude with reference to me individually, they will undoubtedly get the amendment. I am too familiar with the times and the things which control these matters in these days to believe for a moment that anything except pure political expediency will at last obtain. It has become here a football between the parties, not as to what is right or as to what is to the best interests of our Government, or what is just and equitable as to the South, but wherein does lie the political, partisan advantage.
> "My standing with my colleagues," continues Mr. BORAH, "my place in "public estimation, my influence here "would be dissipated and disappear "along with my self-respect, were I "to vote for a measure that deprives "each State of the right to regulate "and control its own elective fran"chise." And so the losing cause pleases CATO. Political courage looks all the more engaging for its rarity.

MOTOR TRUCK TRANSPORTATION.

Store door freight deliveries for Manhattan straight from the terminals, the return loads system for longer distances, and the recent establishment of many rural motor express routes are all striking object lessons, arising from the existing transportation difficulties, of the growing appreciation on the part of the commercial public of the ability of motor trucks to give efficient service. Commissioner HARLAN reports that from 30 to 50 per cent. more freight could be carried to and from Manhattan Island if removal of the inbound freight were so controlled as to keep piers and platforms free from congestion. It also means the elimination of the forty-eight hours' free storage hitherto allowed.

The commercial use of motor trucks, long regarded as a necessary addition to the transportation facilities of the country, has assumed an importance since the entrance of the United States into the world war which, before that time, had been but little appreciated. In driving hundreds of its army trucks from the Western factories to the seaboard for shipment abroad the Government has given the strongest possible object lesson of the utility of motor transportation, and it is also interesting to note that the majority of these trucks have carried tons of war munitions. The establishment of rural express companies in many States, delivering farm produce to the cities, has been another distinguishing feature of the year in the development of motor truck transportation, and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce is preparing a survey of many agricultural districts with the object of encouraging the organization of additional rural express routes. The recent German submarine scare led, during the first week, to the shipment by motor truck of great quantities of goods from Philadelphia, Wilmington, and other ports along the coast, which would ordinarily have been sent by water, to other terminal centres. Motor express routes have been in daily operation for months between New York and Philadelphia, and similar service has been established, with a steadily increasing number of trucks to take care of the business, between other cities both in the East and the West.

With the increase in motor truck traffic throughout the entire year, additional problems are presented for highway maintenance. Pennsylvania and Connecticut made special efforts to keep their main highways open during the cold weather. A special appropriation of $1,000,000 was made by the last New York Legislature for the repair of the roads most essential for military purposes and for snow removal in Winter. New Jersey has also made provision to keep her main thoroughfares open for transport service next Winter, and in many other quarters there are signs of an enlightened interest on the part of public officials to aid the community and indirectly the Government in providing means for a high degree of efficiency in the highway transportation of essential materials.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

"State-Reason" and Its "Privileges."

There is a passage in GIBBON explaining, and therefore in a way excusing, the existence in the conduct of public affairs of lower moral standards than those to which private individuals are held. What the brilliant historian said on this subject reads exactly as if it had been written by a German statesman of today, and that it could now be written by hardly anybody else, at least not without a more explicit condemnation than GIBBON gives to the only palliation he can imagine for the crimes and treacheries of SEVERUS, is significant of a decided change for the better that has come over most of the world since his day. These are his words:

> Falsehood and insincerity, unsuitable as they seem to the dignity of public transactions, offend us with a less degrading idea of meanness than when they are found in the intercourse of private life. In the latter they discover a lack of courage; in the other only a defect of power; and, as it is impossible for the most able statesmen to subdue millions of followers and enemies by their own personal strength, the world, under the name of policy, seems to have granted them a very liberal indulgence of craft and dissimulation.

With all that the Kaiser and his Chancellors would doubtless agree, for they, too, would hold as self-evident the statesman's need to "subdue millions of followers and enemies," and therefore his right to resort to the means necessary for accomplishing that end. But GIBBON drew, as they would not, a line beyond which "policy" ceased to be a defense, and they would deny, probably, his charge that SEVERUS exceeded "the most ample privileges of state-reason." In the picture painted in the lines that follow they would see only the stern performance by the Emperor of his duty as such:

> He promised only to betray, he flattered only to ruin, and however he might occasionally bind himself by oaths and treaties, his conscience, obsequious to his interest, always released him from the inconvenient obligation.

Prices Rise More Than That.

American householders who are in the habit of keeping account of their living expenses are sure to deny, and with an approach to vehemence, the accuracy of the Food Administration's assertion that in the past year the price of food has increased over that of the year before by only 3½ per cent. The elaborate figures collected and tabulated by the statisticians of the Administration are correct, presumably, but they relate to wholesale, not to retail, prices, and it is the latter, not the former, that determine the cost of living for a majority of us so great that the minority is negligible.

Indeed, it would be hard to convince the ordinary head of the ordinary family that there is any close or direct relation between cost to him and cost to the retailer. Of course an advance of wholesale prices at once puts up retail prices, including, usually, the retail prices of foods the wholesale prices of which have not advanced, but the increase is not a simple transfer of the raise to the consumer. The process seems to be one of multiplication, not of addition. And while a drop in wholesale prices does have a reflection, sooner or later, in the retail prices, it is wont to be strangely long in coming and it is never proportionate to its theoretical cause.

The retailers deny indignantly, and perhaps truthfully, that they are profiteers, and there seems to be basis for their declaration that with high prices their gains decrease because trade falls off. But there is little consolation in that for their customers. The latter more than suspect that, though they buy less than before, they spend just as much or a greater amount.

We can all save food, and most of us do. The saving, however, has no effect on the monthly bills, which mount with grim steadiness, month by month, and there is some difficulty, that being the case, in seeing why the dealer should make the moan he does over high prices. By the inexorable and irrefutable test of the pocketbook and the bank account, household expenses are larger than they were a year ago by nearer 50 per cent. than 3½, and any figuring which doesn't reach that result is somehow wrong in spite of its literal accuracy from the statistical point of view.

Women Who Take Men's Places.

Warning is given by The New York Medical Record that unless care is used in the imposing of new tasks on women the result will be a serious injury to the race. It admits that the war cannot be waged or won if great numbers of men are not freed for military service through the performance by women of work to which they are not only unaccustomed but ill-adapted. This can be safely done, however, only by keeping constantly in mind the smaller endurance and strength of women.

If forced or allowed to observe the hours of their predecessors in the heavier forms of toil, women will soon be worn out, and not only will they and their children suffer, but it will be necessary to recall from the front the men whose services are so much needed there.

To minimize the inevitable risks of these industrial innovations, declares The Record, the pay of the new workers must be good, their hours short, and the conditions of employment better than those that were considered satisfactory, or at any rate tolerable, for men. In a recent issue of The Atlantic, the excellence and the need of this advice were well illustrated by the experience of a particularly competent woman worker, who in six months was lost to an important industry, simply because her unintelligent bosses forgot that she was a woman and drove her, like a willing horse, until she was permanently broken down.

That is not the way to win the war.

THE LOSS OF BAKU.

Armenians Will Remain Loyal to the Cause of the Allies.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Associated Press report dealing with the evacuation of Baku by the British and their Armenian allies cast reflections on the loyalty of the Armenian troops. It is no exaggeration to say that the stricture that is thus laid upon the loyalty of the Armenians has produced a more distressing effect on the Armenians here than even the tragedy of the destruction of a million of their kinfolk at the hands of the Turks. Loyalty to ideal and fidelity to friendship have always been recognized as—and they constitute—striking traits of the Armenian character. Without these essential spiritual qualities, they would have long ago ceased to exist as a race.

The Armenians now are, as they have been since the outbreak of the war, the stanch friends of America, Britain, France, and Italy, and have given all that has been required of them to the allied cause because with the triumph of that cause only can they hope to realize the fulfillment of their long-cherished aspiration for liberation from alien rule. I say advisedly that, had they been willing to abandon this great ideal, and concerned themselves with the security of their lives and possessions only, all they had to do would be to throw in their lot with the Turks and their German masters. During August, 1914, the Turkish Government officially offered to the Armenians to create an autonomous Armenian State, consisting of the Provinces of Erzerum, Van, Bitlis, and the Russian Armenia, if they would side with the Turks. Without the slightest hesitation the Armenians flatly rejected the Turkish offer. We now know from the confessions of authoritative Turks and Russians that, had the Armenians acceded to the Turkish proposal, the Turks would not have had much difficulty in achieving the conquest of the Caucasus even during the first year of the war, and thus effecting a junction with the 18,000,000 Turko-Tartars and the 5,000,000 Afghans, the attainment of which aim was the principal moving cause for the entry of the Turks into the great war. Therefore, in the interest of plain justice, and in fairness to the Armenians as well, who have so many good friends in America, and who count upon the support of America in the defense of their cause on the day of final reckoning, a few words on the antecedents of the Baku incident would be both appropriate and illuminating.

With the disintegration of the Russian Caucasus army in December, 1917, chaos and anarchy ruled in the Transcaucasus. Here the 2,500,000 Turko-Tartars, who were openly aided by the Turks with abundant money and munitions, rose in rebellion everywhere and attacked the Armenians. The Georgians, who number about 2,000,000, remained for a while indifferent to the Turkish menace, and a little later did not fail to express their preference for Germany. Thus the 2,000,000 Armenians, who were scattered from the Black Sea to the Caspian, found themselves in the midst of hostile populations, menaced by the invasion of the Turkish army and without the slightest hope of any help from the Allies, in the face of the fast-gathering dangers, which threatened their very existence as a race.

But they did not waver in their loyalty to the allied cause. Unfortunately, but quite naturally under the circumstances, they were unorganized. Things were scattered everywhere, and there was no recognized authority to command the obedience of all, and no machinery with which to bring order out of chaos. A considerable number of Armenian troops, remnants of the Caucasus army, and others, which had started to come home from the Eastern front, were marooned at scattered points, intercepted by the Tartars, and therefore no co-ordination of forces was possible. Amid these harrowing and most difficult conditions, the Armenians of the Erivan district held out until June, when, with the exception of a force of 25,000, which is still in the field to the east of Ararat, they bowed to the inevitable to preserve their women and children.

Also in the region of Baku, 25,000 Armenians and Russians fought superior Turko-Tartar forces, captured the City of Baku in March, after inflicting on the enemy losses in excess of 10,000 in killed, and held it against the repeated attacks of the foe until July. Then the long-promised British aid, for which they had been waiting most anxiously, arrived. But, alas, it arrived too late and in too insufficient numbers! On the other side, the ranks of the Tartars were being swelled by thousands of recruits drawn from the 2,500,000 Tartar population and by the regular Turkish troops, which were brought over in overwhelming numbers. It was plainly an unequal and hopeless fight for the British-Armenian forces.

The solemn fact must be recognized that the position of the Armenian fighters in the Caucasus is very different from that of the Czechoslovaks in Siberia. The Armenian is surrounded on all sides by hostile populations, and he is fighting fierce savages, whose custom it is to ravish and destroy the wives, mothers, sisters, and children of a defeated foe. Nevertheless, if the Armenians at Baku have, as it is intimated, omitted, for insufficient reasons, to do their full duty, then they should be condemned for their omission. But it is strongly improbable that they have done so. Armenians do not do such cowardly things. M. Clemenceau, in a letter which he addressed last July to the Chairman of the Armenian National Delegation in Paris, said: "The spirit of self-sacrifice in the Armenians and their loyalty to the Allies in the Foreign Legion, on the Caucasian front and in the Eastern theatre of war, have drawn closer links which attach them to France."

The friends of Armenia in America, Great Britain, France, Italy, and everywhere should rest assured that the Armenians, who have proportionately suffered during this war more than any other race or nation, will and shall, as a nation, remain, come what may, true to the cause of the Allies, to which they consecrated themselves on the first day when the first gun was fired in the world struggle.

The Tax on Theatre Tickets.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Under the caption "News of the Rialto," in yesterday's TIMES, the writer assumes that the protest of the theatrical managers against the prospective 20 per cent. war tax was merely a formal carrying out of a prescribed plan and that we did not believe it would be productive of results. The men who were with me in Washington at the hearing of the Finance Committee expressed no such opinion; on the contrary, they were and are very hopeful of a modification of that tax. Several members of the Finance Committee expressed themselves as very much impressed by the theatrical managers' arguments, and any manager who has spoken to the contrary has spoken without authority or knowledge of the subject. Why should we have gone to Washington if we did not expect results? The Government is not seeking a tax from us, but rather made us the collectors for the Government; and our arguments simply tended to prove by the receipts of last year, and other facts, that the Government would not get as much revenue under the 20 per cent. tax as it would get under the 10 per cent. tax.

GERMANY'S ALSATIAN FORCE

Secret Army Orders the Answer to Recent German Official Praise.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The American people know by this time perfectly well that Alsace-Lorraine is a part of France stolen by Germany in 1871, and that the only difference between Lille and Alsace-Lorraine lies in the fact that Lille has been occupied by Germany for over four years, while Alsace-Lorraine has been occupied for over forty-seven years.

But German propaganda does not tire in its efforts to confuse the people of the allies of France and of the neutrals regarding this vital question, and every day we find in the papers news emanating either directly from Berlin or from Amsterdam, Copenhagen, or Stockholm, purporting to prove that Alsace-Lorraine is German.

Today's papers bring again such a piece of news: "In vigorous fighting the enemy [the French] was driven back to the position from which they started. Here East Prussian regiments and the Alsace-Lorraine Regiment No. 60 especially distinguished themselves."

No more mendacious piece of news was ever published, even by the boches themselves, as it is a well-known fact that the Alsatian-Lorrainers who are compelled to fight in the German ranks (just as the Austro-Italians, Czechs, Serbs, and Poles are in the Austrian Army) are so little trusted by the Germans that these found it necessary to issue official orders like the following ones, which prove conclusively that the Alsatian-Lorrainers are nothing but loyal Frenchmen:

Berlin, W. 66, Jan. 11, 1916.

War Department.
N. J. No. 20447, 15th,

Withdrawal of Soldiers, Natives of Alsace-Lorraine, from the Western Front.

As a consequence of numerous anti-German outbreaks among the Alsatian-Lorrainers, it has been suggested to transfer all soldiers originating from Alsace-Lorraine to the interior of Germany or to the eastern front, without taking into account the reputation or the antecedents of these soldiers nor the testimonials of their superior officers. After careful consideration of this question, and in accordance with the high command, the Minister of War considers as sufficient the measures which he has taken concerning the withdrawal of drafted Alsatian-Lorrainers from the western front. He consequently does not intend to transfer without distinction all Alsatian-Lorrainer soldiers to the interior or to the eastern front. But it seems advisable to remove the Alsatian-Lorrainers from all positions at the rear where they would acquire knowledge of the organization of the army and of the measures taken by the military authorities. It is also necessary to relieve all Alsatian-Lorrainers from their employ with superior officers, or with the General Staffs as orderlies, confidential messengers, and secretaries. The means of putting this order into execution are left to your discretion.

By order, VON WANDEL.

Stellvertro, General-Kommando of the XIVth A. E.

Regimental Order (Regimentsbefehl) of the 34th Reserve Regiment.

West, Jan. 25, 1917.

As during the last few days three Alsatian-Lorrainers have gone over to the enemy, all Alsatian-Lorrainers are declared suspects.

All Alsatian-Lorrainers will be withdrawn tonight from the companies of the regiment. They will be quartered by battalions and employed at the works in elevated positions.

They are absolutely prohibited to smoke while working.

All conversation with civilians or with other soldiers of the regiment is strictly prohibited.

The men from Alsace-Lorraine will be deprived of all advantages accorded to the other men of the company.

Any mention concerning these measures in letters will be considered as infractions of the law concerning the keeping of military secrets. VON BIBRA,

Colonel and Commander of the Regiment.

Files of the Sector.

Group of the Argonne,
1 c. No. 916, Secret.

Concerning the use of the Alsatian-Lorrainers of the group I have decided as follows:

In the first place, it is the duty of the company commander to judge his men. It is his duty, under the joint responsibility with the commanders of the battalion and the regiment, to imbue his men with a patriotic spirit.

It is prohibited to have Alsatian-Lorrainers participate in patrols. They are to be used in the first line only after having for a long time given incontestable proofs that they can be trusted, and even then they can only be used in double sentries, together with a German.

It is prohibited to make use of natives from Alsace-Lorraine as orderlies at the General Staffs or in office. (Ministry of War 12.1.1918, No. 8327-17 g. G. S. 16th A. K. 11b. 1238 pars. of 22.1.1918.)

Message of the 11th Army, 11b. 1.3.18 a.
Group of the Argonne, Secret.

The Army Group Kronprinz telegraphs to the General Staff, 3d Army, the 11 b. 4489, Secret. Two more Alsatians have gone over to the enemy. I, therefore, order to take energetical measures in conformity with the previous note of army group, and to render the divisional and regimental commanders responsible as to its execution.

WILHELM, Kronprinz.

Addition by the General Staff.—Attention is drawn to order of the 111 A. 11 b. Secret of 25.1.1918, according to which the Alsatian-Lorrainers, until further instructions, cannot be employed in the first line.

TO THE FATHERS OF SOLDIERS.

Your boy is going over to the strife across the sea,
To give his life, if need be, in the cause of liberty.
He'll fight with dauntless courage till the awful work is done—
Let me ask a question, Father—are you worthy of your son?

Your boy is fighting for you in the trench mud over there;
The grime is on his features, but no
vestige of despair.
In the red-hot fire of battle he is standing by his gun—
You—what are you doing, Father, to be worthy such a son?

Your boy is facing horror such as never pen can tell.
All about him is destruction—he is in the pit of hell.
But his valor never falters—he is out to "strafe" the Hun—
Is your life ignoble, Father? Would your actions shame your son?

Ready for the Right to battle, ready for the Right to die?
Are you helping, giving, working—backing up both man and gun?
If you're not, how dare you own him, that brave boy—your soldier son?

Your boy is bravely fighting, or he may be lying now
death's victory on his brow.
Ere you close your eyes in slumber,
ere your next day's span is run,
Answer truly, truly, Father—are you
worthy of your son?

COAL SITUATION IMPROVED.

Moseley Calls on All Citizens to Aid in Checking Waste.

Mercer P. Moseley, former General Manager of the New York Commercial and now Publicity Director of the New York State Fuel Administration, of which Delos W. Cook, Vice President of the Erie Railroad, is the Administrator, said yesterday that just two "ifs" lie between comfortably warm and uncomfortably cold New York homes this Winter. And the same "ifs," he declared, lie between an adequate and an inadequate supply of coal for manufacturing and other industrial uses. They are: "If the coming Winter shall be one of average severity," and "if all of our people get a realization, and never let go of it, that there is almost as much patriotism in conserving a lump of coal as there is in serving in a front line trench."

Mr. Moseley said the prospect now was that New Yorkers would have enough coal to keep warm this Winter, not only in the city, but throughout the State. And he believed there would be enough coal to keep industries going if—"and not a man, woman or child in this State must forget this 'if,' from the time cold weather sets in until the Springtime comes again"—if we have a Winter of average severity and if every economy possible is exercised in the use of coal during the cold weather. But economy must be exercised, he added, for there will be no coal to waste. Each consumer will have his or her allotment and the system thus inaugurated will show just how that allotment has been used, whether patriotically and without waste, or the reverse.

"In the first place, we are assured by the Railroad Administration that there will be a sufficient supply of coal cars at the mines and a sufficient number of engines to haul them to places of delivery and back. The round trip takes about eight days," Mr. Moseley said. "Furthermore, the National Fuel Administration has increased, almost beyond conception, the 'steamers' at the Jersey dumps, so that there will be little hold up in deliveries to New York on account of frozen coal. You know that, when coal arrives frozen at the place of delivery, there must be sun to thraw it out, or it must be thawed out by steam heat. We believe that we have sufficient 'steamers' to thaw out all the frozen coal that will be delivered at the Jersey dumps next Winter.

"Then, too, we have made a survey of every coal pocket of every coal dealer in New York and a survey of every cellar in the city from which the small dealer sells in small quantities. We know, therefore, the city's storage capacity, and in a few days we shall know the average cold-weather consumption. We shall know, also, what our people have done about ordering for future delivery, as they were urged to do by the Fuel Administration last Spring.

"Last Winter coal delivery from New Jersey was hampered by the harbor and the North River being frozen over on many occasions. There will be no ice clogged North or East River this Winter. The Fuel Administration has provided a fleet of ice breakers that, it is believed, will always keep the waters hereabout free from ice that might interfere with coal deliveries to Manhattan, Brooklyn and Staten Island. One of the biggest men in his line in New York has been appointed to supervise the ice breaking operations.

"And we have done one thing more: We have engaged a staff of engineers, under an eminent chief engineer, who are making a survey of the bituminous and anthracite requirements throughout the State, both for industrial and home needs. As a result of the work these engineers have done already, we know the needs of Northern New York and they will be attended to first, so that, when the cold weather in the Northern belt sets in, the needed coal supply will be there for use.

"But we would like everybody to bear this in mind: We shall endeavor to keep all the people of this State warm this Winter, but those who exceed their allotment or waste coal will find that no amount of 'pull' or influence will obtain for them coal which should go to somebody else."

SECURITY LEAGUE INQUIRY.

Frear Wants House Investigation Into Organization's Activity.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Investigation by the Judiciary Committee of the activities of the National Security League was asked of the House today by Representative Frear of Wisconsin, Republican, who was attacked by the league during the recent primary campaign in which he was renominated.

Representative Frear prefaced the introduction of a resolution authorizing the inquiry by a speech criticising officials of the league, who include Elihu Root and Alton B. Parker, and describing letters they have sent to members of the House as insolent. Ninety per cent. of the members of Congress have been branded as disloyal by the league, he charged, and forty-seven States have been held up as only part loyal. He said members of Congress from but one State, Rhode Island, have been given a 100 per cent. loyalty rating.

The resolution proposes summoning of the officers of the league for examination concerning contributions to the organization and as to efforts to influence the election of members of Congress.

"The days are too critical," Mr. Frear said, "for a war profiteering league to denounce as disloyal practically 90 per cent. of the membership of this House and forty-seven of the forty-eight States. That charge against the President would lodge the slanderers in Leavenworth; against the Supreme Court it would mean criminal contempt proceedings. Directed against a co-ordinate branch of the Government during these hours of national stress and peril it smacks of active proceedings by the Attorney General's department."

Congressman Frear's demand for an investigation of the National Security League, which has headquarters at 19 West Forty-fourth Street, this city, caused the following letter to be sent yesterday by Colonel Charles E. Lydecker, President of the league, to Speaker Clark of the House:

Sept. 23, 1918.

Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir: Representative Frear of Wisconsin, on the floor of the House has today asked for an investigation of the National Security League by the House Judiciary Committee. We welcome any investigation deemed proper by your honorable body, and will gladly supply the fullest information.

As to the source of the demand for this investigation, it is only necessary at the present moment for me to call attention to the fact that Mr. Frear voted against the declaration of war, against the Kahn amendment, which made possible the selective draft system, and for the McLemore and Cooper amendments, which, it is now admitted, voiced the essence of pacifism, if nothing worse. Yours very truly,

CHARLES E. LYDECKER, President.

Gorgas Says the Soldiers Get Better Care Than in Civil Life.

TOURS, Sept. 23, (Associated Press.)—Major Gen. William C. Gorgas, Surgeon General of the United States Army, who is making a complete inspection of the Medical Corps of the American Expeditionary Forces, said today:

"I am very much pleased with the care and the health of the troops. Their sanitary condition is good, the sick rate is low, and the wounded are excellently cared for. A large bulk of these men are getting very much better professional care here than they would have had in civil life."

General Gorgas cited as an example a man whose leg had been crushed in a logging camp, or a farmer's son shot accidentally, and pointed out that they would have had country practitioners treating them at irregular intervals, often with more or less long delays, while the troops in France have the most skilled surgeons and the foremost physicians attending them, with all appliances and conveniences, as well as trained nurses.

"From what I see," concluded the Surgeon General, "so far as the Medical Department is concerned I look forward to the troops getting through the Winter very satisfactorily."

THOMAS SEES PERIL IN 8-BILLION TAX

CRITICISES BASIS OF BILL

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Opposition to the $8,000,000,000 War Revenue bill as passed by the House was expressed in the Senate today by Senator Thomas of Colorado, who feared the contemplated tax on the country's war industries would ultimately destroy their productivity. He assailed the alternative was profits and excess profits tax as unconstitutional.

Senator Thomas's attack was the forerunner of a hard fight expected to be made on the floor of the Senate when the bill appears there. The Senate Finance Committee will take up the measure tomorrow, and it is regarded as not unlikely that radical changes will be made in the dual profits tax system.

The Colorado Senator, a member of the Finance Committee, criticised the idea of raising one-third of the country's yearly war expenditures by direct tax. This, he argued, could not be carried through if the war were not ended within a year or so.

"An estimated expenditure of $24,000,000,000 for the current year and the desire of the Administration to realize one-third of the amount by taxation," he said, "has necessitated framing a measure designed to raise $8,000,000,000 a year without seriously disturbing the industries or menacing the commerce of the nation.

"These figures are nearly one and one-half times the total supply of our currency, including gold, silver, nickel, copper and paper. It represents about four per cent. of our estimated wealth. It exceeds the combined value of our imports and exports for any year of our history. It would much more than liquidate the money cost of our civil war on both sides. It will subject the industries of the nation to a supreme test of endurance. It will virtually absorb the annual profits of production and must be made to do so, if possible, without discouraging continued productive energy.

"To raise a third of war expense by taxation, is a task none of the belligerents has attempted. No nation at war in the past has ever done so, if we except minor conflicts of brief duration. We are the first to make the experiment. War expenditures will increase progressively as the conflict proceeds.

Inside the church the Cardinals will be enthroned at the sides of the high altar and the pontifical mass will be celebrated by Archbishop John Bonzano, Apostolic Delegate to the United States. The sermon will be preached by Bishop Thomas J. Hickey of Rochester, N. Y., one of the most noted orators of the church, and not by Cardinal Gibbons as heretofore announced.

The Rev. John H. Farley, nephew of the dead prelate, will be the deacon, while the sub-deacon will be the Rev. William Livingston. The assistant priest will be the Right Rev. Mgr. Joseph F. After the services and the final blessing of the body, the bronze coffin will be placed in the crypt beneath the central altar. Before the coffin is sealed a silver tube will be affixed to the right arm of the Cardinal. Illuminated in script upon a square piece of vellum incased in the tube will be the following inscription in Latin:

Precaution Born of War.

This will be the first time in the history of the church that such an inclosure has been made. The idea of entombing some lasting mark of identification was promulgated recently by the Pontiff as a result of experiences brought about by the war. After many instances had been reported to the Holy See of bodies of clergymen being blown from tombs and all marks of identity destroyed, the Church officially directed that a silver tube be placed in each coffin.

The first requiem of yesterday was celebrated at 8 o'clock by Cardinal O'Connell, assisted by his secretary, Mr. Richard J. Haberlein of Boston. The church was crowded and the Cardinal took occasion to express himself as being greatly impressed by the tribute of esteem and reverence shown on Sunday, when about 65,000 persons passed by the catafalque. The great concourse, said Cardinal O'Connell, was evidence of the love and esteem in which the Archbishop of New York was held by all classes and faiths.

The Right Rev. Charles McDonnell, Bishop of Brooklyn, officiated at the high requiem for religious orders held in St. Patrick's at 10 o'clock. Mgr. William J. Guinan of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Broadway and Seventy-first Street, was the assisting deacon, aided by the Rev. Joseph A. Mulry, S. J., President of Fordham University.

The arrival of the members of the religious orders, some of whom came upon the streets yesterday for the first time in years, offered a picturesque picture. Nuns, friars, reverend abbots and abbesses, monks, and priests there were, many of them plainly ill at ease under the curious gaze of the thousands of the laity. There were the brown-robed brothers of St. Francis, with the deep cowl thrown back over their shoulders and their waists girdled with coarse white cords; the black-habited members of the Marist, Carmelite, and Trappist orders, the latter of whom, as significant of their creed of perpetual silence and penitence, walking barefooted and with cowls cloaked about their faces.

Thousands of quiet-faced nuns were in the pews, too. Among the sisterhoods noted, each with its distinctive markings, were the Sisters of Charity, Sisters of Mercy, Ursuline Nuns, Sisters of the Good Shepherd, Sisters of the Holy Cross, Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame, Sisters of the Sacred Heart, and delegations from the Franciscan Mission of St. Mary, Mission of the Atonement, and the Sacrementine Nurses.

Mgr. Mooney, senior Vicar General of the orders in the archdiocese, preached the eulogy.

"Our day is indeed a day of sorrow," he said. "In saying this I am not referring only to the immediate sorrow which has fallen so deep and heavy upon our hearts in this sad hour. My thought is taking in a condition that obtained such as perhaps never obtained before, a condition that extends so far and wide over the face of the entire world today. Sorrow has entered the palace of the king as well as the home of the humblest peasant, sorrow has gripped the soul in high places as well as in low places.

"The shadow dark and foreboding clings upon men wherever they abide and follows their lives over the broad expanse of the world today. It grips you with poignancy—I say you, because I speak with conscious certainty that the relationship between him, the father of this diocese, and you, his religious, was so closely interwoven that he considered you as a part in the great achievements that marked his rule and reign in this diocese. If you did not realize all this, he did—for you were his faithful coadjutors in the work which was to be his own life work. Your presence here this morning indicates that you realize fully that you have lost a friend and father who now lies here so cold and silent."

Half Million Pass the Bier.

Following the sermon the religious filed out quickly in order to make room for the great crowd that extended in four lines up and down Fifth and Madison Avenues. Beginning at once, the laity resumed the paying of respects to the Cardinal, and last night when the Cathedral was closed the police estimated that more than 75,000 had viewed the body. The total number of persons who passed the bier since the body was exposed on Friday was put at close to 500,000 by Police Inspector Frank Morris.

Although the letter had not been received up to a late hour last night, Mr. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, telegraphed to the Cathedral earlier in the day announcing that the President had written a personal letter of regret at the death of the Cardinal. Mr. Tumulty said that the President termed the prelate's death a national loss, and paid high tribute to the Cardinal's vigorous Americanism.

Letters were also received from Secretary Daniels and from Benedict Crowell, Acting Secretary of War. Their contents in full were not given out, but Mgr. Lavelle said both conveyed sorrow at the passing of the Cardinal. Mayor Hylan wrote in part as follows:

"It was with profound sorrow that I learned of the death of his Eminence Cardinal Farley. In his death, this city loses one of its most distinguished citizens and the Church one of its eminent prelates. Caruinal Farley had long been identified with municipal as well as ecclesiastical affairs in this city and his lovable nature and kindly disposition endeared him to the countless thousands who had the good fortune to meet him. The death of Cardinal Farley is a distinct loss, but he has left an enduring monument in the hearts of citizens of all creeds in this city."

The Children's Court will be closed today as a mark of respect. At its session yesterday Justice Samuel D. Levy said:

"Cardinal Farley was pre-eminently a great man. I believe because of his transcendent ability that he would have been distinguished had he chosen the career of a statesman or diplomat instead of the Church. He gave utterance on many occasions to his ideal Americanism. The Church and State may well join in sorrowing at his demise which came only too soon, leaving us the poorer for his absence. He was essentially a lover of liberty and freedom and he stood firm."

Justice Mayo, in opening his court, said:

"The profound sorrow ensuing upon the lamentable death of the Cardinal has been in no wise restricted to the hierarchy and clergy who so keenly deplore his departure from them. His grace of manner and his unrestrained and constant charity commended him to all, irrespective of degree, creed, or communion."

The cablegram from the Vatican, the gist of which was cabled from Rome several days ago, arrived at the archiepiscopal residence yesterday afternoon. It was signed "Benedict XV.," and expressed the sadness of the Holy Father upon hearing the news of the Cardinal's death and urged all Catholics to pray for him.

Among those who arrived last night to attend the funeral was the Apostolic Delegate, the Most Rev. John Bonzano; the Right Rev. Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University; Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, Bishop O'Connell of Richmond, and the Rev. Louis R. Stickney.

Cardinal Louis Begin, Archbishop of Quebec, and the Most Rev. Paul Bruchesi, Archbishop of Montreal, also arrived yesterday.

Fast American Dyes Are Here

Last spring, at the Textile Show, we invited an examination of what we had accomplished in the production of coal-tar intermediates and colors. This was done by exhibiting the applied American products in comparison with their German prototypes. Color for color we demonstrated, by dyeings exposed to sunlight and weather, that what we were producing was equal to its German equivalent. It was thus possible to announce that the supply of

was an accomplished fact. It was explained frankly, however, that there were a number of missing links; and on platform and in print we have cautioned the consumer of dyes and the user of textiles that certain shades could only be obtained from dyes that would stand slight exposure to the sun. Notably we emphasized the absence of the fast blue which enters into a great number of combinations in mode shades for women's wear and light woolen suitings.

Having thus acknowledged our earlier limitations we are all the more happy to be able to announce that as a result of the continued successes of our Research Department we are now producing in limited quantities two of the fastest colors known in the art of dyeing. These will correct the situation above referred to.

These new types, dyeings of which are displayed at the National Exposition of Chemical Industries, are:

Alizarine Sapphire

the fastest known level acid dye to light, for wool, and a vat-color of the greatest fastness to washing, for cotton.

The introduction of these types, together with Indigo and Alizarine already announced, and some twenty fast colors now produced by us in large quantities, means that every reasonable demand for fast colors has been met. In 1919 these products will be available in large quantities and thus the manufacture of dyes in all its complexity, with a stability based upon American research and built upon American capital, may be regarded as fully established in America.

JAMES M. DONALD, BANKER, DIES AT 64

Ex-Chairman of Directors of Hanover National Bank Succumbs at Country Home.

WITH HANOVER 45 YEARS

He was Founder of New York State Bankers' Association and Originator of National Group Plan.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 23.—James M. Donald, for many years Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Hanover National Bank of New York City, died this morning at his country home, the Bide-a-Wee Farm, at Ewing, near here. Death was due to heart trouble following an attack of pneumonia last Thursday.

James Mackie Donald, who died at the age of 64, had been associated with the Hanover National Bank for more than forty-five years. He was well known not only in this city, but throughout the country, as an unusually able banker. Although he retired as Chairman of the Board of Directors of the bank on June 15, 1916, he continued to serve as a Director, and his advice was eagerly sought. He was also a Director of the Greenwich Bank, the Colonial Bank, the Mount Vernon Trust Company, and Richey, Browne & Donald, Inc., architectural iron and bronze manufacturers.

Mr. Donald was born in New York City on May 16, 1854. Both parents were natives of Aberdeen, Scotland. The elder Donald, who came of old Norse stock, emigrated to this country in 1837. James Donald was educated in the New York City public schools and the College of the City of New York, from which he was graduated in 1872 with the degree of B. S.

Upon leaving college Mr. Donald, who was then about 18, accepted a position with the firm of Harrison Brothers & Co., dealers in chemicals. On Feb. 23, 1873, he began work at the Hanover National Bank as a clerk. His advancement was rapid. In January, 1881, he was appointed assistant cashier, and in September of the following year he was promoted to the cashiership. He was only 28 years old then—the youngest cashier the bank ever had. In 1895 Mr. Donald was elected a Vice President. In April, 1910, the late James T. Woodward, President of the bank, died and shortly thereafter his nephew, William Woodward, then also a Vice President, was elected to the Presidency, and Mr. Donald was advanced to the position of Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Mr. Donald served as Chairman for more than six years and on June 15, 1916, retired. He was a regular attendant at meetings of the Board of Directors and continued to keep in close touch with the bank until his death. He was at the offices on last Thursday, and appeared to be in excellent health.

Having grown up with the bank from the position of clerk, he understood the banking business from a practical standpoint. He was well liked by the staff, and when he retired in 1916 the employes presented him with a silver platter as a token of their esteem. To show his appreciation of the gift, he invited the contributors, 150 in number, to a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria. An elaborate entertainment was provided, and to each of the 150 men Mr. Donald gave a twenty-dollar gold piece.

Mr. Donald was one of the founders of the New York State Bankers' Association and took a leading part in the affairs of the American Bankers' Association. He was the originator of the group plan by which the National Association is divided into savings bank, trust company, Clearing House, and State bank sections.

Mr. Donald was prominent in the activities of the Associated Alumni of the College of the City of New York. For the last two years he devoted considerable time to the work of the Library Committee of the Alumni, of which he acted as Treasurer.

Mr. Donald is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mary Russell Burger before her marriage in 1881. They had no children.

Mr. Donald's clubs included the Manhattan, Metropolitan, Midday and Economic and the Rumson Country clubs. His city home was at 27 West 74th Street.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon with interment in Woodlawn Cemetery.

FARLEY.—JOHN CARDINAL.
The Board of Managers of The Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum in the City of New York, at a special meeting held for that purpose on the 19th day of September, 1918,
Resolved, That the death of our beloved Cardinal, though a great personal bereavement to each member of this board, has a greater and wider significance. It is an irreparable loss not alone to charity, religion, and the country, but to Christianity itself. His life was devoted not only to the amelioration of the conditions of the sick, and the poor and friendless, but to the maintenance of the highest ideals of patriotism and religion. Though his heart went out to the poor and unfortunate, his sense of right and justice made him an inflexible conservator of personal and property rights. He was strongly imbued with true sentiments of love of country, which it was his constant effort to have inculcated in all the schools under his jurisdiction.
He was not only a great prelate, but a true American, and a model of every virtue which should adorn a good priest and a virtuous citizen. Conspicuous for his courage, firmness, and justice, he was no less marked for gentleness, meekness, and mercy.
With a mind stored with knowledge, with a heart full of generous emotions, with a strong will, able to surmount difficulties, all these were devoted in the highest and best services that a man could render to his fellowmen.
We who have been intimately associated in one of the many charities dear to his heart—the care of orphans—feel most deeply the loss of his wise counsel and guidance, and sympathize with the orphans who are deprived of his fatherly protection. As President of this board for more than fifteen years he assiduously labored for the comfort and happiness of those committed to its care. No sacrifice was too great, no labor too onerous, when it was a question of providing for these little ones.
Mindful as we are of his great and important work for the country, State, and city, and of his valuable services to religion and charity, we deem it especially appropriate that there should be entered upon our records a minute expressive of his invaluable services to the homeless orphans, and of their and our sentiments of esteem and affection, and of our sense of the irreparable loss sustained by his death.
As a testimonial of our loving respect, it is ordered that this minute be spread upon our records, that our asylums be draped in mourning for the space of thirty days, and that the members of this board attend his funeral in a body.
Right Rev. JOSEPH F. MOONEY, V. G., Vice President.
FRANCIS O'NEILL, Secretary.

FARLEY.—JOHN CARDINAL.
THE TRUSTEES OF ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL, in the City of New York, in meeting assembled on the twentieth day of September, Nineteen hundred and eighteen, do make this minute:
They record their inexpressible sorrow at the loss of their President, Cardinal Archbishop and friend.
His achievements in the material and spiritual spheres of his activities are too many to be noted here, and too well known to require recital.
His piety, wisdom, executive power, gentleness, firmness, human sympathy, and love of country were distinguished among his many commanding qualities. His virtues are lost to his flock and to his country as a living force, but they will survive in memory as an inspiration to higher things. And, they pray that as he looks down upon this world with his holy eyes he will see that his people are responding to his devout wishes and his highest aspirations for them.
THOMAS H. KELLY, Secretary.

FARLEY.—John Cardinal. Chapter Theta Pi Alpha, (Teachers' Branch of the United Catholic Works,) at a special meeting, held Sept. 20, 1918,
Resolved, That in the death of our beloved Cardinal the society has suffered an irreparable loss. He was the founder and the inspiration of Chapter Theta Pi Alpha, ("For God and Country,") and in this, as in all his charitable activities, he displayed the great love and kindly interest which distinguished all his works. As a tribute of our deep affection and loving respect it is ordered that these sentiments be incorporated into our records.
HANNAH T. McLAUGHLIN, President.

FARLEY.—John Cardinal.
At a special Executive Meeting of the League of Catholic Women, 134 East 38th St., New York City, on Monday, Sept. 23, 1918, it was resolved:
That, as our League was under the direct, personal, and affectionate guidance of our beloved prelate and blessed Shepherd, the late John Cardinal Farley, Archbishop of New York, and as our building, our work, our intentions, and our efforts have always received from him not only his constant co-operation, but his repeated benediction:
That we hereby express our sorrow at his death, while testifying to the beauty of his life, to the charity of his soul, and to the inspiration of his mind:
That like children who mourn the loss of a cherished parent, so do we mourn for him, knowing that he has been called from his fatherhood of men to draw the closer to the fatherhood of God.
Thus may the soul of our beloved Cardinal rest in peace, and may eternal light shine upon him. May his happy heritage through death be his final rest in that faith which in life he so unceasingly defended.
Therefore, the League of Catholic Women hereby pays its last tribute to John Cardinal Farley, Archbishop of New York, as a friend, as a prelate, and as a patriot.
TERESA R. O'DONOHUE, President.
Mrs. MICHAEL GAVIN, Secretary.

FARLEY.—At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Association of Catholic Day Nurseries of New York, held Monday, Sept. 23, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:
In the death of his Eminence, John Cardinal Farley, the Association of Catholic Day Nurseries of New York has suffered an irreparable loss. His paternal interest in the welfare of his flock took on a character of especial and most watchful tenderness wherever children were concerned. They were a source of deep and heartfelt solicitude to him. His constant preoccupation for their moral and physical welfare caused him to lend the weight of his great influence toward the establishment and development of day nurseries where mothers compelled to work away from home could safely leave their little ones during the daytime.
The members of the Board of Directors further wish to express their profound appreciation of the great help and generous support his Eminence gave them in forwarding the aims of the association for the advancement of the cause of Catholic day nurseries in New York.
MRS. THOMAS HUGHES KELLY, President.
ANNIE G. PECK, Secretary.

FARLEY.—The Board of Managers of the New York Catholic Protectory have adopted the following minute:
John Cardinal Farley was a member of the Board of Managers of the New York Catholic Protectory from 1899 to 1903. Becoming Archbishop of New York, he continued to take an active interest in the affairs of the Protectory. He visited its departments regularly and was the constant friend and enlightened adviser of the members of the Board of Managers and of the Brothers and Sisters in charge of its departments. Toward the large number of children who passed through the Protectory during his incumbency of the Archiepiscopal See he was a fatherly protector. We record the sorrow of the Board of Managers upon the death of a distinguished prelate, a noble man, and a well beloved associate.
MYLES TIERNEY, President.
JOSEPH P. GRACE, Secretary.

FARLEY.—At a special meeting of the Association of Catholic Charities held this day, Sept. 23, the following minute was unanimously adopted:
The Association of Catholic Charities deplore the death of the great Archbishop of New York, Cardinal Farley. He was with us from the beginning as an inspiration, a priest, a counsellor, a friend. He sympathized with all our aims, and with far-spreading vision dreamed of the day when by complete organization it will be possible to relieve any need, spiritual and corporeal, of all Sleeveless Coats Still Liked.

Though there are sections where sleeveless coats are not continuing their popularity of last Spring, there are others where they are still very much in favor, especially for sports wear. Velvet is perhaps the most popular fabric for these garments, and black, whatever the material is by the leading couturiers. Some novelties are appearing in the Fall models, among them the sleeveless coat made of a tan leather such as trench and aviation coats are made of. This makes a very smart coat for sports wear and seems in a fair way to become quite a favorite.

Burlaps Show Little Life.

Little snap was visible in the demand for burlaps in the local market yesterday. As a result of the continued lack of real buying, coupled with heavier shipments from India, prices have eased off a bit further. Yesterday they were quoted on the bases of 17¼ cents for 8-ounce 40-inch cloths and 21½ cents for 10½-ounce goods; most of the figures asked being nominal. West Coast markets were reported a bit under the local prices and without feature. Not a great deal of change in the situation at Calcutta is reported.

Features in Coat Styles.

Straight line, semi-belted and full belted models all are represented in those late Fall lines of coats for women which are most popular with the general run of buyers. Fine wool velours and pom pom cloths are mentioned as being among the best selling coat fabrics thus far. Various military features are still sought, but apparently not in quite such volume as earlier in the season. There seems to be a slight tendency away from the strictly tailored models and toward the more dressy garments. On these as on the others, however, fur trimming is in high favor and fine plushes imitating seal are also used extensively.

Limit on Spring Shoe Orders.

Some shoe salesmen are now out on the road with their Spring samples. Many of them have a limit placed on the quantity of shoes they may sell and reasonably hope to deliver, while most of them have been instructed to call only on their regular and best customers. Since manufacturers are unable in many cases to supply all the needs of their regular customers, the present market is primarily the seller's. Under these conditions it is not surprising that new customers are not sought, or that, having come unsought, they are served reluctantly if not turned away.

Second Hands Sell Gray Goods.

With the question of fixing the price of cotton still in the air, and with the preliminary meeting in regard to the establishment of maximum mill prices for the last quarter of the year scheduled for today in Washington, first hands in the local gray goods market spent a quiet day yesterday so far as selling goods was concerned. Second hands, however, were more active, though sales in the quarter were confined very largely to printcloths. Spot lots of these constructions were reported resold during the day; 39-inch 72-76s, 22 cents; 38½-inch 64-60s, 17¼ cents, and 38½-inch 64-56s, 17¼ cents.

Good Women's Suit Business.

Business in Fall and Winter suits for women continues fairly active in practically all parts of the country. According to reports from local manufacturers, long skirts, narrow at the bottom, and coats not shorter than hip length nor longer than knee length are the order of the day. Tailored effects with narrow shoulders, tight sleeves and fitted bodies are high in favor. The popularity of fur trimming on suits is still doubtful, reports from different quarters varying. Wool velour, silvertone, broadcloth, and tricotine are the most generally sought materials. Colors are more or less subdued as a rule, though there are some light shades of yellow, gray, and blue in demand.

Better Buying of Hardware.

Fall business in hardware, though it has been a little slow in starting, is said to have become comparatively active. Though the smaller dealers still persist in a policy of hand-to-mouth buying, they are nevertheless taking more liberal quantities at a time, while the larger retail distributers usually are covering their needs for at least several months in advance. Among these merchants the hesitancy and inaction of last Winter seem to have completely disappeared. Prices are firm with a tendency toward higher levels and, with labor constantly costing more money, further advances in the future are thought not unlikely.

New Millinery Trimming Liked.

A new fringe trimming for women's hats, made of unraveled grosgrain ribbon, is rapidly gaining favor in local millinery circles. More and more models making use of it are appearing here. On the under side of the crown the fringe is sometimes caught under to give a slightly different effect, or it is used extending over the brim or as edging on grosgrain ribbon streamers. It gives a soft touch to the hats it is used on, and is expected to do very well. According to the Paris correspondent of the Retail Millinery Association of America, the new fringe is being used quite extensively there.

Situation in Leather Goods.

The market for leather hand bags, suit cases and other articles of this sort is reported by the local trade to have been very good so far this season. Just at present, however, manufacturers are finding it rather difficult to obtain the necessary leather and straps, and have had to pay some rather high prices for what stocks there were obtainable. Because of this leather situation, which has greatly hindered manufacturing, retailers in need of additional immediate supplies are finding it hard to replenish certain of these lines. It is not expected that there will be any very great relief from this condition for some time to come.

Must Not Give Rebates on Rags.

A notice was issued yesterday by A. L. Gifford, Rag and Fibre Administrator, asserting that no garment manufacturer is permitted to accept from any one, and no rag dealer is permitted to pay any one, more than the published maximum prices for clips established for the cutting-up trade by the Price Fixing Committee of the War Industries Board. It is understood that this action followed the receipt of reports that, through a system of rebates after purchases were completed, certain sellers of rags were actually obtaining prices in excess of those listed. This practice is absolutely contrary to the word and spirit of the regulations of the board, and men who indulge in it are liable to serious penalties.

READY TO LICENSE OIL FIRMS

Fuel Administration Preparing New Regulations.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Regulations are being prepared by the Fuel Administration under authority granted by President Wilson for the licensing of persons or firms engaged in the transportation and distribution of oil and gas. The licensing plan becomes operative Oct. 1 and it was emphasized today that all concerns coming within the provisions of the President's proclamation must obtain licenses by that date.

Specifically, the persons or firms compelled to obtain licenses are importers,

GOOD OPENING OF THE FUR AUCTION

Yesterday's Sale in This City Disposed of About $700,000 Worth of Pelts.

CROSS FOXES WENT WELL

Other Foxes, Fisher and Sable, as Well as Some German-Owned Skins, Were on the List.

Furs and Liberty Bonds shared the honors yesterday at the opening session of the annual Fall auction sale of raw pelts that is being held in the Masonic Temple, Sixth Avenue and Twenty-third Street, this week. Buyers from practically all sections of the United States and Canada were present, and at least three came all the way from Alaska to attend the sale.

Before the fur selling began, addresses relative to the forthcoming Liberty Loan were made by Charles S. Porter, President of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation; O. G. Becker, Chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee of the Fur Trade, and Colonel Moses Greenwood of the general Liberty Loan forces. Within the next three-quarters of an hour nearly $1,260,000 worth of the new bonds were subscribed for. Another feature of the morning session was the selling of several thousand dollars' worth of assorted German-owned furs for the account of A. Mitchell Palmer, the Alien Property Custodian.

Fisher was one of the most bid for furs put up in the early hours of the sale. Competition for the good skins was keen, and there was applause when the choicest went to Joseph Steiner & Brothers at $50. Other buyers of Fisher pelts included C. G. Gunther's Sons, H. Jaeckel & Sons, and the Ganss Fur Company of this city, and A. & E. Pierce and H. Endelman of Montreal. The best wolverines brought $19, the buyer in this case being the Sanditz Fur Company of St. Louis.

The collections of Russian sable and blue fox were not of extra quality, being composed in good part of "holdovers." Therefore the prices got for them were not top notch. The best Russian sable was sold to Konvalinka & Weiss at $150, and the best blue fox to the Ganss Fur Company at $133. Other sable buyers included Charvet et Cie., C. G. Gunther's Sons, G. Gaudig & Blum, and Gluck & Weingold, while among those who bought blue fox were Milton Schreiber & Co., M. Wulfsohn & Co., and F. N. Monjo.

Bidding was most active of all and the attendance largest when the cross foxes were under the hammer, about 400 buyers being present when these skins were being sold. While the highest price cross fox went to Joseph Steiner & Brothers at $127, by far the largest buyers of these furs were Milton Schreiber & Co., who took about half of the entire collection. Other cross fox buyers were A. J. Alexander, J. Endler, and the Northern Fur Manufacturing Company, all of Montreal. he finest Australian fox was sold to Carl Dernburg for $7.25.

Red Foxes, particularly Alaskan and Kamchatka skins, brought out good bidding. A. Pines was the purchaser of the best ones, which brought $47.50, additional purchasers, including Revillon Frères, Gottlieb Brothers, Peppercorn & Berger, and the Speer Fur Corporation.

At the close of the day's sessions the total sales were placed at $700,000, with the value of the skins sold for the Alien Property Custodian placed at $30,000. Compared with the average prices obtained at the April sale of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation, no change was shown by walverines or red foxes. On the other varieties sold during the day, these percentage increases were noted: Fisher, 20; blue fox, 15; cross fox, 25; Australian fox, 10. The sale will continue today at 10 A. M., when Auctioneer J. Gordon Noakes will put the following furs under the hammer: Sundry fox, kitt fox, gray fox, beaver, marten, white fox, silver fox, and white fox paws.

Out-of-town fur men at the sale included Merton Abraham, Mark Harris, I. A. Schoen, Joseph Sanditz, S. L. Mandel, R. J. Heckwolf, and J. C. Crowdus of St. Louis; Moses Becker and D. B. Silberman of Chicago; David Berman and J. C. May of Minneapolis; A. L. Barr, Samuel Norton, and W. A. Calkin of Boston; H. A. Jenkins and A. J. Steined of Oshkosh, Wis.; J. B. Keizer of Sheldon, Iowa; Alfred Kann, Baltimore; S. A. Balagan, Atlanta, Ga.; E. R. Skinner, Sacramento, Cal., and Albert Schowacker and M. Snyder of Columbus, Ohio.

From Nome, Alaska, came P. D. Olsen and W. C. Maller, while from Anchorage, Alaska, I. Koslosky was present. Among the Canadian buyers were R. S. Coltart, V. E. Gnaedinger, P. J. Drolet, H. M. Endelman, R. J. Williamson, S. Fisher, B. Halpern, Benjamin Isaacs, A. H. Jackson, L. Kaufman, J. Hasslet, and Asher Pierce, all of Montreal; A. Carruthers, M. Cohen, R. S. Robinson and N. E. Robinson of Winnipeg; Chester McClure, Charlottetown, P. E. I.; S. M. Rosenthal, Port Ontario; Sydney Brasler, John Hallam and representatives of Eaton & Co., Toronto; E. Endler and M. Schwartz, Quebec, and Phillipson M. H. Levinson, and Fred Ramelson of Edmonton.

New York University SCHOOL OF COMMERCE
DAY AND EVENING COURSES IN ACCOUNTING

Unusual opportunities have always been open to trained accountants. A recent government investigation has revealed such a shortage in the supply as to suggest the desirability of deferred classification in the selective draft for expert accountants.

The School of Commerce was established eighteen years ago through the efforts of broad-visioned professional accountants who foresaw the need of university-trained men in business life. The School of Commerce has always maintained its leadership in this field.

Students may specialize in accounting and may in addition take courses in advertising, banking and brokerage, finance, insurance, law, journalism, management, real estate, secretarial duties, languages and commercial teaching. The regular course leads to the degree of Bachelor of Commercial Science, but men and women over 21 with business experience may be admitted as special students without a high school diploma.

MEN 18 to 45 wanted for Tank Operators
Men with initiative, eager for a chance to distinguish themselves, are offered great opportunities in the Tank, Tractor and Wireless Divisions. Our Tractor Mechanics and Wireless Courses qualify you for better pay and rapid promotion.

Tank Division
Our course will qualify you as a Tank mechanician or operator. It will also enable you to operate and repair a farm tractor.
Tank service strongly appeals to fighting men eager for action. All men enlist as privates and are promoted solely on merit. Great opportunity is offered for rapid promotion leading to a commission.

Tractor Division
Horses are being replaced "behind the lines" by caterpillar tractors. Thousands of trained operators and expert mechanicians are needed to man these "iron horses," which now bring up the big guns and supplies. This work is of the utmost importance, as it is the artery which furnishes the steady flow of ammunition and food.

Wireless Thousands of competent operators, electricians, engineers and inspectors are needed to fill responsible commissions in the Aviation, Artillery, Signal Corps, Naval Reserve, and on Battleships, Transports and ships of the Merchant Marine. Our thorough courses prepare you in short time to qualify for a Government license.

ARE LONG TERM BONDS SATISFACTORY?

YES, especially at present, when high-class seasoned bonds may be purchased at prices seemingly all out of proportion to their value when considered from the standpoint of the stability, growth and earnings of the company issuing them.

When by the purchase one is assured of a satisfactory yield for the future, no matter how low interest rates may be.

To those intent upon establishing now a yearly income for a period of years, Circular T-32 will be of interest.

Stocks Strong on Moderate Activity—Liberty Issues Shade Off on Heavy Offerings.

With no increase in the volume of trading, stocks early developed a strong tone yesterday and by the close numerous issues, some of them long neglected, had gains of such size as to attract attention. The news of the capture of 25,000 Turks, coming simultaneously with reports of further allied successes on the western front and the decisive defeat administered the Bulgarians, furnished a strong undertone of sentiment, but was not made the basis for a bullish demonstration in the sense that such news would have been greeted before the restrictions were placed on speculative activities.

Steel, for instance, though holding its place as the market leader, advanced with restraint and ended the session with a gain of but half a point at a level considerably below that held when the letter of Governor Strong to the Stock Exchange Governors was issued some weeks ago. A sharp upward movement was recorded in Studebaker on an unexplained buying movement of generous proportions, carrying that issue up 2⅝ for the day. Royal Dutch Petroleum, Peoples Gas, General Motors, Consolidated Gas, and Bethlehem preferred all gained 2 points or more. Some of the rails advanced a point or more, but the active shares were only fractionally higher, with Reading up ¾ on a good demand.

Announcement of the formation of the Essential Industries Finance Corporation holds forth the promise of some measure of relief for the public utilities which have been unable to get funds direct through the War Finance Corporation, though it is apparent that its capital will have to be augmented rapidly, or other companies formed to act along similar lines, if the remedy is to be made to fit the situation. There is a provision in the law limiting the total advances which the Government agency can make to any one borrower to $50,000,000, but a member of the Reserve Board has suggested that this restriction might be changed.

There was a large business in Liberty bonds on the Exchange yesterday as a prelude to the opening of the campaign for the Fourth Loan. The selling brought about fractional declines, but on the whole the liquidation was well taken. Foreign governments continued in demand, with the French Government 5½s possessing the attractive possibility of a substantial profit on the acceptance of the principal in francs, making a new high record at 101¾. These bonds sold as low as 94 last year.

LONDON MARKET IS FIRM.

Chief Interest Is Displayed in the Miscellaneous Section.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Stock market responded to the excellent war news today with increased firmness in funds, under the lead of consols, but the dealings did not expand materially.

The chief interest was in the miscellaneous section, in which cement, Marconi, armament, and oil shares were prominent. Otherwise the market was quiet.

Money was in small supply and discount rates were steady.

Trading Calm on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—Trading on the Bourse was calm. Three per cent. rentes were quoted at 63 francs 25 centimes for cash. Exchange on London was quoted at 26.08 and the 5 per cent. loan at 88.20.

HEAR OF IRON PRICE RISE.

Reports Place Increase of Basic and Foundry Pig at $1 a Ton.

While the official announcement of steel and iron prices in the basic schedule of the year had not been made by President Wilson up to the close of business yesterday, unofficial reports in the trade were to the effect that basic and foundry pig iron would be raised $1 per ton, and iron ore 25 cents a ton. In addition the basic points for sales of iron will be changed from "f. o. b. furnace" to Pittsburgh and Birmingham, Ala.

The general list of semi-finished and finished steel prices will contain no change, as far as could be learned, and it was not established in advance of the expected statement at Washington that any alteration had been asked for. Basic pig iron, under the agreement arrived at by the producers and the War Industries Board, will be $33 per ton, and foundry iron will be fixed at $34.

BANKERS CERTAIN OF LOAN'S SUCCESS

Chicago Convention Hears Promising Reports of Outlook for Liberty Drive.

4,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND

State Associations' Demands for Bigger Voice in Associations Likely to be Futile.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Members of the American Bankers' Association gathered here today for the forty-fourth annual convention, which differed from any previous gathering of the body. This convention, meeting on the eve of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign, was far more serious, and the patriotic, national note was more distinctly in evidence.

Discussion among the members at informal gatherings about the Congress Hotel, where the convention is in progress, had to do, not as normally with matters of individual concern, but with the broader field of national finance. There was no doubt in the minds of the bankers that the next loan would be oversubscribed. From every part of the country came the same optimistic note.

National bankers of the association are still in the saddle, and there were signs at the opening of the convention that their position was more secure than political gossip preceding the gathering had indicated. The fight which State banks purpose to make for more recognition has been expected to include an effort to set aside the custom of advancing the Vice President to the Presidency. They have circulated threats of picking a State banker for President instead of Vice President Robert J. Maddox, and the dominating national bank faction have been expected to compromise by offering the Vice Presidency to the insurgents.

The old guard, however, has announced that Mr. Maddox is the next President, and makes an equally positive assertion that R. S. Hawes, Vice President of the Third National Bank of St. Louis, will be elected to the Vice Presidency, thereby assuming that it is secure in control for two years.

State bankers outnumber their opponents about two to one, but they lack organization and leadership. Enough of them appear to be mad as hornets to constitute a majority, but thus far they have failed to agree on a candidate, on a plan of electing him, and on whether to attempt to attain the Presidency or be content with an easier fight and a greater chance of success in running a State banker for the Vice Presidency.

E. D. Hulbert, President of the Merchants Loan and Trust Company, refused to run on the Vice President on behalf of the State Bank contingent. About all that the State bankers have at present as a working basis is the hope that Mr. Hulbert will accept the Presidency if elected directly thereto.

Samuel Untermyer, attorney for the National Association of Railroad Security Owners, will address the savings bank section tomorrow morning.

One of the important independent meetings attending the convention will be a conference tomorrow of directors of sales of Treasury certificates in the twelve Federal Reserve districts. They will attempt to adopt a uniform system of distributing these securities, a method on which there may be based later an elaborate plan for the continuous financing of the war by short-term paper, with only occasional refunding bond flotations.

Members registered to the number of nearly 3,000 today, leading President A. C. Hinsch to predict a total attendance for the week of at fewest 4,000, which he regarded as extremely gratifying in view of the anxiety of the members to return to their homes by Saturday when the loan drive opens.

Forty committees met in closed session, clearing the ground for the general work of the convention, which begins tomorrow in meetings of various sections.

Only one section held an open meeting, this being the Agricultural Commission of the association, which met in the morning. The principal address was delivered by Dr. Clarence Ousley, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, who warned his hearers that the war crisis was not yet passed, and appealed for closer co-operation between the bankers and farmers toward increasing agricultural production, that eventually a soil as well as bank reserve might be created. He deprecated the high cost of moving the product of the farm to the table, stating that this cost fluctuated now between 30 and 60 per cent.

Dr. Ousley asserted that it was now plain Germany could not be starved, and he demanded as the surest and quickest means of victory, that the "mighty momentum of all our forces be organized and projected into a force that will plow its way irresistibly into Germany, into the very gates of Potsdam."

Reports from various parts of the country, showing the growth of the movement to put the farm on a better business basis preceded Dr. Ousley's address. Among those who spoke on this topic was George E. Roberts, assistant to the President of the National City Bank, New York, and Murray D. Lincoln, of the Society for Savings of Cleveland. Joseph Hirsch, Chairman of the section, presided.

President Hinsch in an interview stated there was no doubt as to the next loan being oversubscribed.

"The banks have already taken over half the loan in Treasury notes, to be exchanged for the bonds when issued," he said. "They have been called on to take these notes to the extent of one-fifth of their resources. The notes have been liberally sold to customer banks, and thus, far in advance, over three billions are assured."

Mr. Hinsch asserted the country could supply $300,000,000,000 if need be, and said the nation's morale at present was high, as he had observed from visits to nineteen separate bank conferences in different parts of the country. He praised highly the Federal system, which he termed a "godsend" in stabilising the nation's financial fabric just in advance of the severe war drain upon it, and predicted that the end of the war, with the experience the people have had in saving due to the Liberty loans and the war savings stamps, would find this a nation of savers and thrifty folk.

A note of sorrow was injected into the session when news came from New York that James Donald, Chairman of the Board of the Hanover National Bank and a familiar figure at the conventions, died late Sunday night. The Executive Council appointed a committee consisting of John W. Platen, President of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, New York; Benjamin E. Smythe, Vice President of the Scandinavian Trust Company, New York, and George E. Lewis, Assistant Cashier of the Hanover National Bank, to draft suitable resolutions to be presented to the convention.

The meetings of the sections will conclude on Wednesday, and on Thursday the regular work of the convention as a whole will begin. It will conclude Friday night, instead of Saturday, so that members may return home for the opening of the Liberty Loan campaign.

Among the speakers who will address the convention will be Colonel G. G. Woodward, for the British Government; Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Charles M. Schwab, Otto H. Kahn of New York, Senator George E. Chamberlain of Oregon, W. P. Harding, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board; Harry A. Wheeler, and Samuel Insull. Governor Lowden will speak at Thursday's opening convention session.

Among the nationally known bankers who are in Chicago for the opening sessions of the convention are Charles H. Sabin, President of the Guaranty Trust Company, New York; Francis H. Sisson and James Pratt, Vice Presidents of that company; Theodore E. Burton, President of the Merchants National Bank, New York; William A. Law, President of the First National Bank, Baltimore; R. H. Hawes, Vice President of the Third National Bank, St. Louis; Otto H. Kahn, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., New York; R. E. Jones, Merchants National Bank, New York; Adolph Koppel, Central Savings Bank, New York; E. W. McDougal, Bank of Buffalo, Buffalo, N. Y.; C. E. Farnsworth, First National Bank, Cleveland, Ohio; Alexander Dunbar, Bank of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Penn.; A. D. Swift, Central National Bank, Philadelphia.

TO USE GERMAN LOAN POSTER.

Enemy's Publicity Guns Will Be Turned Against Him Here.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—A poster issued by the Imperial German Government in an effort to belittle the United States contribution to the war and bolster the failing spirits of its people, has been reproduced by the Liberty Loan Publicity Bureau, and 2,000,000 copies will be distributed in this country during the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign, which opens formally next Saturday.

Intended solely for consumption within Germany, the poster will get far wider circulation, resulting in the enemy's publicity guns being turned on him. The poster was forwarded by an American in Switzerland.

"Can America's entry make a decision in the war?" is the poster's title. And with diagrams showing a small American army and a small merchant marine, the pamphlet inferentially answers "No."

"Russia's army of millions could not down Germany, argues the poster, "America threatens to send transports of one-half million men, but it cannot ship them."

These words are inscribed on a scroll held by a cadaverous looking Uncle Sam, alongside a Russian soldier appearing immense in comparison.

At the time the poster was displayed throughout Germany last July more than 1,000,000 American fighting men already were in France.

"England's sea power and England's merchant marine have not decided the war," says the poster. "America cannot increase her gross registered tons for 1918 by more than two or two and a half million tons; our U-boats sink twice as quickly as England and America can build."

These lines accompany a diagram of Uncle Sam holding a toy boat, contrasted with a big ship, representing England's merchant marine.

The poster also shows a great fleet of ships, more than twice exaggerated, represented as necessary to transport a single regiment. A French poster appealing to the French to save food in order to hasten the transportation of American soldiers is reproduced by the German sheet with the comment: "Also the Allies are beginning to have their doubts."

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo will speak on the Liberty Loan at a meeting to be held this evening at Carnegie Hall. He is expected to arrive here from Washington this afternoon accompanied by Mrs. McAdoo and their youngest daughter. They will stop at the Hotel Plaza, where Benjamin Strong, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank and Chairman of the New York Liberty Loan Committee, will hold a reception for local Chairmen of the district from 4:30 to 6 o'clock. Governor Strong will tender a dinner to Secretary McAdoo before the Carnegie Hall meeting. About one hundred up-State Liberty Loan workers will be the guests of E. M. Potter at supper, and will march over to the hall in a body.

An Appeal to Railroad Men.

A. H. Smith, Regional Director of Railroads, made public yesterday Secretary McAdoo's appeal to railroad employes in connection with the Fourth Liberty Loan. Mr. McAdoo, as Director General of Railroads, urges a "one hundred per cent." record for every road. His statement reads:

> The patriotic support of railway employes to the Third Liberty Loan was more than gratifying. On some railroads practically every employe became a subscriber for one or more of these bonds.
> Now that the Fourth Liberty Loan is about to begin, I earnestly urge all railroad officials and employes to co-operate in securing a "100 per cent." result on every railroad. I believe that where the officials and employes unite in a patriotic support the response will be even more gratifying than that of the Third Liberty Loan.
> I realize that there are many instances where railroad employes are not financially able to assume additional obligations. In such instances there should be no criticism of the failure of an employe to subscribe to the Fourth Liberty Loan. I believe, however, that when the urgency of the need is presented to employes few will fail in their financial support of the Government.
> My attention has been called to the fact that in the past loans many employes have subscribed through their banks and through other agencies than the railroads. No criticism should be made against employes for subscribing to bonds in this way, but it is a matter of pride to the Railroad Administration that the employes on each railroad shall receive the credit for all subscriptions they make.

Rename Loan Committee.

It was officially announced yesterday that the personnel of the Central Committee of the Liberty Loan Committee of the New York Federal Reserve district twould be the same as that of the previous campaign. This committee is headed by Governor Strong, the other fourteen members being James S. Alexander, President of the National Bank of Commerce; George F. Baker, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank; Allen B. Forbes, President of Harris, Forbes & Co.; Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange Bank; Gates W. McGarrah, President of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank; J. P. Morgan, head of J. P. Morgan & Co.; Seward Prosser, President of the Bankers Trust Company; Charles H. Sabin, President of the Guaranty Trust Company; Jacob H. Schiff, head of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; Frank A. Vanderlip, President of the National City Bank; Martin Vogel, Assistant Treasurer of the United States; James N. Wallace, President of the Central Union Trust Company; Albert H. Wiggin, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chase National Bank, and William Woodward, President of the Hanover National Bank.

Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange, will give a Liberty Loan dinner tonight at the Union League Club to the Directors, officers, branch office managers, and assistant branch office managers. There will be about one hundred in the party. The Corn Exchange Bank, which operates forty branches, has the record of selling Liberty Loan bonds to more corporations, firms, and individuals than any other institution. For the Third Liberty Loan the bank's total numbered 145,000 subscribers.

AMERICAN CHEMISTS END GERMAN SWAY

Exposition Opening Shows This Country Dominant in Arts of Both Peace and War.

GERMAN MARKETS SEIZED

Exports of Dyes and Chemicals, After Supplying Home Demand, Reveal Great Expansion.

The enormous strides made by a great industry under the double stimulus of war needs and peaceful trade requirement were visualized in impressive fashion yesterday when the Fourth National Exposition of Chemical Industries opened at the Grand Central Palace, to continue until Saturday night.

Both the exhibits and the addresses made at the opening exercises emphasized the passing forever of German domination of the American chemical and dye market. In addition, there was proof overwhelming on every side that Prussian supremacy in the art of war had not only been mastered by the American chemist but actually surpassed. In short, the whole exhibition appeared to bear the keynote "Deutschland über nix," for on all hands could be seen the bullseye stamp indicating that goods formerly made by the Germans were now being manufactured in the United States.

Shortly after the Palace had been thrown open, hundreds of prominent chemists and officers of the Army Chemical Warfare Service gathered in the auditorium on the third floor to hear addresses by well-known chemists. Dr. Charles H. Herty, Chairman of the Exposition's Advisory Committee, presided, and made the opening address, in which he reviewed the unexampled achievements of the chemical and allied industries since the start of the European war.

"In taking stock of the chemical industry," Dr. Herty said, "first thought turns naturally to the matter of available capital. The amount of capital accessions has continued to grow. During the first eight months of 1918, $39,-164,000 was added, making the aggregate capital invested in the industry since Aug. 1, 1914, the date of the outbreak of the war, $386,907,000.

Government Leads the World.

"These figures do not include, of course, the investments made by the National Government in the great chemical plants whose output is used solely for war purposes. The total production of these plants sets our Government apart as the largest manufacturer of chemicals in the world. In the after-the-war period when the story may be told of the rapidity of construction and of the enormous output of these plants, it will add a brilliant chapter to the romance of chemistry. Meanwhile, we can rest content in the assurance that the great army which we are now hurrying to Europe will be abundantly supplied."

At this point, Dr. Herty said that perhaps the picture of the growth of the industry could best be gathered from a few figures concerning American export trade, for export trade statistics indicate production in excess of domestic needs, great as these demands have been during the last year. Four items were selected, three because of their fundamental character, and one on account of the rapidity of its development.

The figures submitted showed for example that whereas American exports of sulphuric acid were only 12,000,000 pounds in the fiscal year 1914, they rose to 68,000,000 pounds in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918. Caustic soda and soda ash exports which were described by the speaker as being negligible in 1914 had jumped to 334,000,000 pounds in the last fiscal period, while benzol also referred to as going abroad in 1914 in negligible quantities, mustered exports of 25,000,000 pounds in 1918. A striking example of expansion was shown in the gain in exports of dyes, dyestuffs, and dyewoods. In the year ended June 30, 1914, such products exported had a value of $387,000, comparing with $17,000,000 in the fiscal year 1918.

"Doubtless in future years these figures will appear diminutive, but at present they constitute an inspiring hope for that future," was Dr. Herty's comment after reading the figures.

Gas Met with Gas.

The speaker said a fair measure of the increasing participation of the Government in chemical activity was shown in the supplemental appropriation estimates submitted by the War Department to Congress on Sept. 17. Dr. Herty pointed out that apart from the great appropriations for explosives, there had been requested for the Chemical Warfare Service, the recently organized division having to do solely with offensive and defensive gas warfare, $198,704,000, a sum greater than was asked for the clothing of the increased army we are now raising. "Germany began poison gas warfare, within the next twelve months it will have more than its fill of it," the speaker said.

Dr. Herty voiced the disappointment of the exposition management that the United States Railroad Administration had set aside the large space which had been inaugurated by the industrial departments of the railroads for presenting at the exposition a marvelous display of those natural resources of this country which still await the touch of the chemist to rise to their true dignity as invaluable assets. The failure of the Railroad Administration to make an exhibition was characterized as a "backward step."

"The present status of the American chemical industry and its prospects for the future," Dr. Herty continued, "must prove gratifying to all good citizens of this republic, but these prospects can never be fully realized unless the work of the chemist is supported by sound and loyal public opinion, which, in turn, will eventually manifest itself in the form of a thoroughly sympathetic attitude on the part of official representatives of that public opinion. The stress of war preparations and the great part we feel that we are destined to play in the decision have aroused a wholesome national pride which should contribute to the development of an atmosphere of good will. America must make good; America can make good, and America shall make good."

A word of warning was given against insidious German propaganda calculated to belittle American achievement in the chemical and dyestuff fields.

Turning to dyes and gas warfare, the Advisory Committee's Chairman referred to the protective tariff legislation given the industry, and said there was an additional argument for such legislation which was undreamed of at the time Congress was asked to put up the tariff bars.

"We had not entered the war," Dr. Herty said, "and gave no thought to the efforts which might be required of us in the matter of poison gas production. But when our authorities, following our entrance into the war, determined to meet the Germans with their own weapons and on a scale far greater than they had ever contemplated, it became necessary to make use of every available means for manufacture of toxic material.

"The great plants planned for Government construction and operation were not sufficient for the program. I am violating no confidence in telling you that at this juncture the Government turned to the young dye industry for plants and trained organizations to augment its poison gas output, and splendidly has the young industry responded. For military reasons, I am advised not to mention specific plants or the products manufactured therein, but with official sanction I may say that five dyestuffs plants are now participating in the production of this material, while many others are contributing indirectly to the same end. The plants were suited to the needs, staffs and workmen were familiar with this kind of work, and the process of conversion to the new rôle was thus enabled quickly to be made."

Coal for Medicines.

Dr. Herty submitted that in view of the adaptability of the dyestuff industry to such serious national needs, it was difficult to be patient with many mercantile establishments which still insisted upon placarding their counters with signs such as "The color of these goods cannot be guaranteed." In conclusion, Dr. Herty described the progress made in producing in this country coal tar medicinals, and an adequate potash supply. Independence of Germany in the matter of potash could be achieved, the speaker said, if this country made up its mind to throw off its former yoke.

F. J. Tone, President of the American Electrochemical Society, told of the part being played by the electrochemists in helping to make this country's war program efficient, and in this connection paid particular attention to the contribution of electrochemistry and electrometallurgy to the aircraft program. A plea that educational institutions recognize the importance of applied chemistry was made by G. W. Thompson, President of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. Mr. Thompson said that in his opinion the educational institutions of this country should give honorary degrees to men who accomplished big things in the industrial world, and argued that American universities and colleges should turn more to the practical aspects of education.

Dr. William H. Nichols, President of the American Chemical Society, who was down for an address, was prevented by illness from attending. He sent a message, however, which was read by Chairman Herty, in which he said the Chemical Exposition had "the hearty approval of the American Chemical Society.

Down on the three floors of the exposition, the exhibits of complicated whirling machinery, reinforced by chemical apparatus of every type, bore evidence to the high tension under which the chemical industry as a whole is working at this time to produce the things necessary for the highest military efficiency, and for peaceful commerce.

While no high explosive or poison gas was exhibited, owing to their dangerous nature, the processes by which they are obtained and manufactured were illustrated by machinery exhibits, large and small, and by motion-pictures. Naturally, the side of chemistry which is related to munitions proved most interesting to the general public. Gas masks and their operation, bombs, high explosive shells, and other articles figuring in the war cables these days, seemed to hold the close interest of the crowds as members of the Army Chemical Warfare Service made their explanations and demonstrations. Electrochemical processes and inventions also came in for interest by those visiting the Palace yesterday. At the hundreds of booths, demonstrators were on hand to explain points not generally understood by the average layman.

Another gratifying thing characterizing the opening day of the exposition was the receipt of news that the Government's census of chemicals, designed to supplement the dyestuffs census prepared two years ago by Dr. Thomas H. Norton under the direction of the Department of Commerce, would appear shortly.

It had been expected that publicity would be given some of the new inventions known to have been made in the chemical field since last year's convention, but the War Department, it was said, had decided it would not be wise to reveal the progress made at this time.

The exposition will be continued today, and in the afternoon there will be a symposium on acids and chemical engineering, led by Dr. Charles Baskerville. Motion pictures, illustrating the oil industries, will also be shown.

COTTON OPENS HIGHER WITH UPWARD TREND

Low Temperatures in the South and Favorable Crop Estimates Cause Market to Rise.

The cotton market yesterday had a strong opening and, although trading was in small volume, the trend was generally upward. Comparatively little attention was paid to the talk about price-fixing—the most vital question current on the Exchange—and in the absence of official announcements from Washington in regard to Friday's and Saturday's newspaper reports concerning the President's decision to fix a price for the staple and to have the Government control the distribution of the crop, the trade contented itself with the emphatic denial by Secretary of Agriculture Houston that he had ever mentioned 25 cents or any other figure as "a fair price."

The cotton trade has received a great many inquiries regarding probable action in respect to price-fixing, but it has been unable to supply their Southern correspondents with information. Their advice has been to look to Washington for news.

In the early trading cotton prices advanced 40 to 60 points—the opening quotations were 28 to 74 points above Saturday's closing figures. Low temperatures in the South helped the advance and the report of The Commercial Appeal of Memphis, indicating a condition of 57.1 against 59.9 a month ago, and a yield of 12,200,000 bales, suggested an improvement in crop conditions. There was some Southern hedge selling in the late months. It was said that there had been considerable business in spot cotton in the South on Saturday, when the market here declined so sharply. This selling was offset by trade buying and covering.

The market closed easy, with October contracts showing a net gain of 64 points, December a gain of 57 points, while March and May were 78 and 75 points higher, respectively.

Would Tax Churches' Unused Land.

The Legislature is to be appealed to, Jacob A. Cantor, President of the Tax Board, said yesterday, to place a limit on the time that unimproved property can be held by church organizations and charitable institutions free from taxes. He said he cided to take this action after the discovery on the tax books of hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property exempt from taxes, much of it unused and constantly increasing in value. This property is exempt from taxation on affidavits made by the organizations involved that they intend to use the land for religious or charitable purposes. Mr. Cantor said some of the property had been held on such assurances twenty-seven years and was still unimproved and tax free.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 8,312 packages. The advances established at the close of last week were firmly maintained, but there was not much disposition to force prices any higher at the moment. Supplies of fresh table grades are short and everything is cleaning up promptly on arrival. The firmness extends to all qualities of creamery, higher than extras, a pound, 60¼@61c; extras, 92 score, 60c; firsts, 88 to 91 score, 58@59½c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 56@56c; thirds, 46@49c; unsalted, higher than extras, 62¼@63c; extras, 61½@62c; firsts, 58@61c; seconds, 52@57c; State dairy tubs, finest, 58½@59c; good to prime, 54@58c; common to fair, 44@53c; renovated, extras, 48½@49c; firsts, 47@48c; lower grades, 42@46c; imitation creamery, firsts, 44½@45c; ladles, current make, firsts, 41½@42c; seconds, 40c; lower grades, 38@39½c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 40c; No. 2, 38@39½c; lower grades, 36@38½c.

EGGS.—10,534 packages. Arrivals are lighter, advices indicate lighter supplies in transit, and there has recently been a more confident feeling in the market here, with more disposition to buy. Accumulations are reducing somewhat and the market is showing a decidedly firmer tone, with rather better prices obtained on some grades than were current last week. Some changes are made in quotations to cover these sales, although there is still a good deal of accumulated stock of ordinary quality which holders would be glad to let go at about the price previously asked for them. Storage eggs are in good demand and firm. Nearby white eggs have only a limited and speculative demand, chiefly for very fancy goods. The average good and lower grades drag heavily at easy prices. Fresh gathered extras, a dozen, 52c; extra firsts, 49@51c; firsts, 46@48c; seconds and poorer, 43@45c; fresh gathered dirties, No. 1, 39@40c; No. 2 and poorer, 34@38c; fresh gathered checks good to choice, dry, 35@36c; undergrades, 30@34c; refrigerator, special marks, fancy, charges paid, 44@44½c; firsts, charges paid, 43½@44c; seconds, charges paid, 42@43c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western hennery whites, fine to fancy, 64@68c; ordinary to prime, 45@63c; gathered white, ordinary to fine, 45@63c; Pacific Coast whites, firsts to finest, 59@60c; Western and Southern gathered whites, 45@60c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby hennery browns, 54@57c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 43@52c.

PLAN BIG COMPANY TO FINANCE UTILITIES

Essential Industries Corporation Will Form Here with a Capital of $3,000,000.

PROVIDE FOR EXPANSION

New Project Calls for Ultimate Increase of Stock to $20,000,000 as Business Grows.

Announcement was made yesterday of plans for the organization of the Essential Industries Finance Corporation, which will aid in the financing of public utility companies and industries necessary for the prosecution of the war. The company will be incorporated under the laws of New York State, and will begin business with an initial capital of $3,000,000, consisting of $1,000,000 of stock, $1,800,000 of ten-year debentures, and $200,000 surplus.

Of the $1,000,000 of stock, $200,000 will consist of Class A shares, which will be limited in respect to dividend returns, and $800,000 of Class B shares, with no restrictions. The A stock will be sold at par, while the B stock will be sold at $125 a share, the additional $25 a share providing the $200,000 surplus.

Eugene V. R. Thayer, President of the Chase National Bank, will be President of the new corporation, and Frederick Strauss of J. & W. Seligman & Co. and Gerhard M. Dahl, Vice President of the Chase National Bank, will be Vice Presidents.

It is intended that the Essential Industries Finance Corporation, as loans are made by it to public utility and other companies, shall avail itself of the provisions of the War Finance act by borrowing money from the War Finance Corporation, rehypothecating the notes and securities received by it in respect to advances made. It is planned that the capital of the Essential Industries Finance Corporation shall be increased from time to time as the business of the company expands. Its capital will probably reach $20,000,000 ultimately, on which basis it will be able to borrow about $50,000,000 from the War Finance Corporation, thus making available $70,000,000 for loans to public utility and other companies requiring financial assistance.

In the event that Congress amends the War Finance act so as to do away with the provision in Section 10 limiting loans to any one individual bank, banker, or trust company to $50,000,000, the business of the Essential Industries Finance Corporation may eventually even exceed the amount contemplated by the Bankers' Advisory Committee appointed by Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve Board. This committee, which consisted of James N. Wallace, President of the Central Union Trust Company; Charles H. Sabin, President of the Guaranty Trust Company; Albert H. Wiggin, Chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank; Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., and Frederick Strauss of J. & W. Seligman & Co., recommended the establishment of a $100,000,000 corporation for the financing of public utility companies, but the project had to be dropped because the Attorney General of the United States rendered an opinion to the effect that the War Finance Corporation could not lend more than the law, limiting about $50,000,000 to any single concern. The original plans called for a $100,000,000 corporation, which in turn should borrow $300,000,000 additional from the War Finance Corporation, making a total of $400,000,000 available for loans to public utility and other concerns.

Since the abandonment of the earlier project the bankers have been working on a substitute proposition and have evolved the Essential Industries Finance Corporation. In organizing this company it has been thought best to begin in a comparatively small way and then with increase of business to increase the capital from time to time until the limit feasible under the War Finance act is reached.

The interests connected with the new company that will be represented on the Board of Directors are the following: Chase Securities Company, Guaranty Trust Company, Central Union Trust Company, First National Bank, J. P. Morgan & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., E. W. Clark & Co., (Philadelphia,) General Electric Company, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and United Gas Improvement Company, Philadelphia.

INQUIRY IN TAX LIEN SALES.

Charge That Organized Gangs Cheated Many Property Owners.

Magistrate Charles W. Appleton began an inquiry yesterday into the operations of tax lien "sharks" as part of the investigation by Nathan Hirsch, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Taxation, and District Attorney Swann. Assistant District Attorney Theodore L. Waugh told the Magistrate that evidence indicated that crime had been committed by tax lien sales and connecting operations.

Mr. Waugh said the tax lien operations were conducted in several different forms. One section of a gang made it a business to operate between the tax lien buyer and the property owner, getting money for bringing the owner and buyer together. Frequently the man who had lost title to his property by sale for taxes would have to pay two sets of profiteers large amounts because he had not paid a few dollars due the city. The investigation is also looking into the sale of lots by others of the gangs who would buy on option and then sell under pretense of being owners of the land.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Prices closed fairly steady in the market yesterday on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Profit taking in considerable volume in the final hour caused values to react sharply from the strong position of midafternoon and the final quotations showed not a few stocks with fractional net losses. Trading during the session continued dull and purely professional in character. The closing tone was rather unsettled and irregular.

FIFTH AV. TAILORS GO ON STRIKE TODAY

MAKE CLOTHES FOR RICH

Their Plea Based on Increased Food Cost—Many Girls Affected.

According to A. Baroff, General Secretary and Treasurer of the International Garment Workers' Union, more than 5,000 workers in this city will go out on strike today for a 20 per cent. increase in wages. Members of the Ladies' Tailors' Union, Local No. 80, are employed in the most fashionable establishments of the city, and make all the garments for the wealthy in the Fifth Avenue shops.

According to Mr. Baroff, the workers are confident of obtaining their increase, their demand for higher wages being based on the assertion that they are not now obtaining a living wage.

"Sufficient justification of their demand," he said, "is contained in the Food Administrator's announcement that the cost of living has leaped more than 30 per cent. in the last year. The needle workers involved in this strike have not received an increase in more than a year. Their average wake at the present time is between $27 and $30 a week, and with the 20 per cent. increase that they demand, they would hardly be getting a living wage."

These workers are not engaged in any Government contracts. Their labors are confined entirely to the making of costly garments for women. Most of them are men.

The strike leaders said yesterday that the workers would go back only when their demand was granted. This they expect within a few days. In fact, several of the shops involved have already made a complete concession. The majority of them, however, are holding out.

There were several meetings of needle workers last night. Three will be held today. Strikers working on Fifth Avenue above Seventy-fourth Street will assemble in Mount Morris Hall at 113th Street and Fifth Avenue; those working between Seventy-fourth Street and Thirty-fourth Street will assemble at Brevoort Hall, Lexington Avenue and Fifty-fourth Street, and those working below Thirty-fourth Street will assemble at 85 East Fourth Street.

Simultaneously with this strike, the Costume and Dressmakers' Union, Local No. 90, plans to lead a strike of other needle workers to the number of several thousands throughout the city. This strike will affect all private dressmakers who employ more than five girls. This strike will be conducted by the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America.

CITY HALL CLOCK STRIKES.

Hands on Three of the Four Dials in Place and Telling the Time.

The new clock in the cupola atop the City Hall began yesterday to strike the hours. The clock is completed on three of the four faces of the tower. The hands of the dial on the north side will be started later in the week. It is sixteen months since fire destroyed the old cupola, and eight months since the work of restoration began under Borough President Frank L. Dowling. For the work of restoring the cupola $85,000 was appropriated, and it is expected that only $60,000 of the amount will be used.

The central section of the City Hall roof, as well as the new cupola, is of steel and concrete, and the cupola is sheathed with copper. The steel and concrete work cost approximately $50,000, and the remainder is to be spent on the clock and in improved lighting devices. The bell, which strikes every hour, is operated by electricity. It is of bronze, weighs 1,500 pounds, and is thirty-seven inches in height and forty-[illegible] inches in diameter. In addition there is a hand striking device to be used in tolling the bell when occasion demands. There will be an indirect lighting system by which it will be possible to flood the cupola with light at any time.

JERSEY WILL NAME CANDIDATES TODAY

FOUR DEMOCRATS RUN

Ex-Commissioner of Banking and Insurance La Monte Has State Organization Backing.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 23.—New Jersey's voters will go to the polls tomorrow, between 12:30 and 9 o'clock P. M., to select Republican and Democratic candidates for United States Senator, Congress, state senators, assemblymen and many county and municipal officers.

The greatest interest centers in the United States Senatorial situation. The campaign has been a most unusual one, both Governor Edge and George M. La Monte, former Banking and Insurance Commissioner, who has the support of the Democratic State organization, having had active opponents, while neither took the stump in his own behalf. Edge has given out two statements, explaining his reasons for seeking promotion, and authorized two by his secretary. Mr. La Mont has not lifted his finger toward getting the nomination and has not spent a penny.

Running against the Governor for the Republican nomination are George L. Record and Congressman Edward W. Gray. Record has made a spectacular tour of the State, taking a tent with him in which to hold his meetings. His campaign has cost him more than $14,000, while the Governor expended a little more than $4,000 for advertising and personal workers. Gray has made bitter attacks on the Edge administration, and the Governor's supporters have charged, in turn, that the Congressman is the White House pawn, having been put into the race to so split the vote that Record would be nominated, and the Democrats' chance of electing a Senator in November thereby strengthened.

In the Democratic camp Mr. La Monte is opposed by ex-State Senator Charles O'Conor Hennessy, Assemblyman Alexander Simpson, and Frank M. McDermitt. Each party has one candidate for the short term to fill the unexpired portion of the late Senator Hughes's term. David Baird, who was named by Governor Edge to serve until the November election, is the Republican aspirant, while Senator Hennessy seeks the Democratic nomination.

Francis E. Croasdale, private secretary to Governor Edge, issued a statement today which said:

Reports have reached Edge headquarters during the past week that certain big brewers have raised a considerable sum to support the candidacy of Congressman Gray. For instance, we have reliable and first-hand information that certain brewers in Essex County last week completed a fund of $20,000 to fight Governor Edge through the Gray candidacy, and would have had $30,000 but for the refusal of one man who was approached to enter into the combination. In view of Congressman Gray's platform against any restriction whatsoever concerning the liquor business—a policy which was the means of certain big newspapers securing the backing of Newark and other brewers to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars—there would seem to be little necessity for absolute confirmation, which is naturally very difficult to obtain. We have confirmed this information to our own satisfaction, but cannot furnish names and amounts at this time because of the unwillingness of informers to have their identity disclosed.

I do not state, nor do I wish to be understood as inferring, that Congressman Gray has knowledge of this German brewers' support, but it would seem to be incumbent upon a candidate who wages his campaign principally upon the issue of 100 per cent. loyalty to the nation's war program very promptly to disavow and repudiate any support, direct or indirect, from such a source.

Because of the fact that the polls will not close until 9 o'clock, the result of the balloting will not be definitely known until early Wednesday morning.

BETTING 6 TO 5 ON WHITMAN

Odds Quoted on Curb, but Wagers Await End of Loan Drive.

Betting commissioners on the Curb market began yesterday to mention likely odds for the pending election. In the Gubernatorial contest, odds of 6 on Whitman for re-election to 5 on Smith were quoted without any money being put up. Those who take bets expect that wagers will be held in abeyance until after the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign.

TROOPS' PAY FACILITATED.

Men in America Do Not Wait More Than Five Days.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Troops in the United States now were being paid within five days after the first of each month, and voluntary allotments were being sent to relatives with only slight delay, Brigadier General Wood, acting Quartermaster General, said today.

A year ago payments were delayed in many cases as late as the 25th of the following month, he said, but the efforts of Brigadier General H. M. Lord, head of the Financial Division of the Quartermaster Corps, have month by month cut down the time until reports from twenty-eight out of thirty-two camps and cantonments for September show all men had received their August pay by Sept. 5. In some instances the men were paid Aug. 31, the General said.

Paying of the men in France is conducted entirely under the direction of officers there and no reports are available. The huge payroll abroad, estimated by General Lord at $40,000,000 a month for every million officers and men, is transferred to General Pershing's Chief Quartermaster in a lump sum.

The greatest source of delay, General Wood said, had been among casuals. These include men traveling from one place to another, and particularly those returning from France, wounded, sick, or on special service detached from their commands. The adoption of the individual pay card system devised by General Lord, under which each soldier carries his own record with him, making it unnecessary to await his military record, has greatly relieved the situation. In France individual pay books have been provided for the same purpose.

WON'T DISCUSS NUORTEVA.

Thompson Denies Personal Knowledge of Sissons Documents.

GLOBE, Ariz., Sept. 23.—Raymond Robins and William B. Thompson, who came here tonight from Superior, Ariz., refused to discuss the statement given out in New York on Saturday by S. Nuorteva of the Finnish Information Bureau, stating that Mr. Robins and Mr. Thompson investigated the Bolshevist documents obtained by Edgar A. Sisson of the Committee on Public Information and pronounced them forgeries.

Mr. Robins said he was under instructions from the State Department and could not make any statement.

Mr. Thompson gave to The Associated Press this statement:

UP STATE CORDIAL TO CANDIDATE SMITH

Democratic Nominee on Handshaking Trip Finds Factions United in Central New York.

Special to The New York Times.

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for Governor, accompanied by Dock Commissioner Murray Hulbert and many up-State leaders, made a hurried trip through Central New York today, greeting large numbers of Democrats in Cortland, Ithaca, and Auburn. He received a particularly cordial greeting in Cayuga, which for years has been a hotbed of opposition to Tammany Hall. He was greeted by leading representatives of all factions, and assured of united support.

In Tompkins County Mr. Smith was introduced to the local leaders by Charles E. Treman, one of his rivals in the recent preliminary campaign. In Cortland he found factional differences all smoothed out.

"I did not find the slightest sign of factionel differences anywhere," he said. "I have just been shaking hands and meeting party leaders informally. I have no speeches to make, because I wish to reserve my remarks for the speech of acceptance which I am to deliver in Syracuse Thursday night."

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 23.—The outlook up State is particularly bright, said Alfred E. Smith at a reception held in his honor at the Ithaca Hotel this noon

"There is a great deal of dissatisfaction in the Republican ranks," Mr. Smith declared. "This is shown by the fact that only 21 per cent. of the enrolled Republican vote went to the primaries this Fall. The farmers especially are dissatisfied at their treatment at Albany. I attended a number of county fairs and spent four days at the State Fair, and I had an opportunity to learn the farmers' attitude."

SAYS SUFFRAGE VOTE WILL NOT BE DELAYED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Senator Jones of New Mexico, Chairman of the Woman Suffrage Committee, announced today on the Senate floor that he wanted to correct a false impression that had gone out that the committee did not intend to carry out its arranged plan to call the Susan B. Anthony constitutional amendment up for a vote next Thursday. It had been intimated that because of lack of support the woman suffrage leaders would endeavor to postpone action.

"So far as I know, there is no plan to postpone action," said the Senator. "I know of no reason why the vote will not be taken on Thursday."

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, said today that opponents of the amendment were trying to defer a vote.

"They are endeavoring to muster enough votes to beat the amendment," she said. "But they cannot. If the vote is not taken on Thursday, it will be because certain Senators do not want it before election. The friends of the measure wish a vote. Its enemies do not. It is easy to determine what forces are behind persistent reports that the vote will be postponed."

Mrs. John Winters Brannan, Acting Chairman of the New York State Branch of the National Woman's Party, after a conference yesterday with the members of the New York Executive Committee, sent telegrams to President Wilson, Senator Martin, Democratic floor leader, and Senator Jones of the Womans Suffrage Committee protesting against any further postponement of the vote on the suffrage amendment, scheduled for Thursday.

Efficient Cleaning

"I don't find nearly as much dust on the furniture as I did before we bought the vacuum cleaner," said a housekeeper recently

The explanation is simple. The Electric Vacuum Cleaner collects the dirt and the resulting dust in a dust-proof bag. The old broom method gathered some of the dirt into little piles to be picked upon the dust pan—the rest was scattered, in the form of dust, to be wiped away with a cloth

The old way means two processes, with great personal effort and the consumption of much time, and even then much dirt is left behind. The new electric method means one process, no difficult or exhausting human labor, and sanitary cleanliness
